DEPEW'S GOOD DEED.

Gotham's Gifted Orator Unwittingly Does Chicago a Favor.

HE SNEERS AT ITS FINANCES.

Local Pride Aroused and Subscriptions Being Doubled.

THE LAKE-FRONT LOSING GROUND.

Jackson Park in the Lead in the Race Between Sites.

VARIOUS EXPRESSIONS OF OPINION.

Chauncey M. Depew of New York, who is soon to make an address at the Auditorium on the "World's Fair," and who will be the first Eastern man to speak publicly in favor of it since Chicago secured the plum, did Chicago a favor a while ago greater than he wot.

He said something about the difficulty of Chicago's raising another $5,000,000. A small matter, but it stirred up all the local patriotism in William J. English, and Feb. 26 he subscribed for $100 more of stock, just doubling his original subscription.

"My reason for doing it," he said, "was a sneering reflection on Chicago's ability to raise another $5,000,000 attributed to Chauncey Depew. I made up my mind to do my share toward raising it."

So Mr. Depew antedated the service he will do Chicago at the Auditorium by one inadvertently rendered some time ago.

This also gives to Mr. English the palm of first suggesting the doubling of subscriptions of small stockholders, which John C. Long was supposed to have inaugurated when he doubled his a week or so ago. Mr. English also accompanies his claim with cash. He writes:

CHICAGO, May 16.—A. F. Seeberger, Treasurer World's Fair—Dear Sir: Inclosed find $36, being 18 per cent of my two subscriptions. Feb. 26, 1890, I doubled my original subscription, and urged the necessity of all increasing their subscriptions. So you will see that my suggestion antedates that of Mr. Long by a long sight. Very truly, WILLIAM J. ENGLISH.

Several others have doubled their subscriptions also, and some outsiders have sent in money on the second $5,000,000, although no call has as yet been issued. The Keystone Bridge company, representing Andrew Carnegie's interests, subscribed yesterday for $20,000 worth of stock.

MONEY COMING IN.

"We have received several subscriptions on the extra $5,000,000," said Treasurer Seeberger, "although we had no right to expect any until a call was issued, and that of course would not emanate from this department. We are looking principally after the collection of the 18 per cent of the first $5,000,000, and that is coming in more rapidly than we expected. I should think we were averaging about $10,000 a day. Some days we run below it, and some days we run far above. A day or two ago we received a single check for $9,000. Of course the money we are receiving now comes from those who are in the habit of paying promptly. I presume many will wait until the last day or two before sending in the 18 per cent. It is most encouraging, however."

The methods for getting the next $5,000,000 of course are left to the Committee on Ways and Means, the subscriptions sent in now merely lightening its load. The committee meets every day at noon and must have an elaborate plan under consideration, as it spends an hour or so each day over it. But what the plan is it has never yet given out. It made a report to the directors at the last meeting, but the newspapers were given no intimation as to what the report was. All that is given out is the list of committees to solicit subscriptions. The additions to that list made yesterday were:

Elevators—James Burrell, Chairman; Murry Nelson, Charles Counselman, E. Buckingham, P. B. Weare, George D. Boyden, W. T. Baker, and Andrew McNally.

The committee will probably make a report to the next meeting of the Board of Directors setting forth what is expected of the various sub-committees they have appointed. There are a dozen or more already, but no one seems to know just what he is to do.

The members present at the meeting were E. B. Butler, W. H. Colvin, H. N. Higinbotham, R. A. Keyes, Otto Young, R. A. Waller, C. H. Wacker, A. Nathan, Andrew McNally, C. H. McCormick, and E. F. Lawrence. Mr. Young presided.

JACKSON PARK?

The Committees on Finance and Legislation had a joint session at 3:30 o'clock that lasted nearly two hours. It had under discussion the resolution in regard to the city putting up $5,000,000 by increasing its bonded indebtedness, and a plan was decided on—at least a report was. Ferd W. Peck, the Chairman, carefully folded it up and put it in his inside coat pocket when the meeting was over, remarking the while that the Board of Directors would know what it was before any one else did.

It probably recommends that Gov. Fifer be requested to call a special session of the Legislature to take action permitting the city to advance the $5,000,000, and also to take such action as may be necessary to give the South Park Commissioners power to devote whatever of Jackson Park is necessary to the World's Fair.

This does not mean that Jackson Park has been decided on as a site, but it means that it is desired to get the requisite legislation so that there would be no delay in case Jackson Park should be selected.

It also has a bearing on the Lake-Front. To one keeping watch of the changes it would seem to indicate that the Lake-Front was losing ground rapidly and that other sites were coming into more serious consideration than at any time since the Lake-Front first got its boom.

The legislation is wanted in case the site should be fixed at Jackson Park.

It is a precautionary measure merely, of course, but it sounds the knell of the Lake-Front.

AFRAID OF THE CROWD.

"And rightly, too," said a man at the Leland yesterday. "Do you suppose I would bring my wife and daughter to this or any other down-town hotel if the Fair were on the Lake-Front? Suppose we came here for a couple of weeks—we would hardly come for less to a World's Fair. They would be prisoners every moment that I or some other gentleman was not with them. They would not dare go out on the street to get a piece of ribbon even. No, sir. I'd take them to a hotel farther away from the crowd. I think it would result in an enormous crush in the heart of the city. Held further out, temporary hotels would relieve the crush because many people would want to be near the entrance. Held in the center of the city, there could be no temporary hotels, and no one would care to chase away from both the city and the grounds to get accommodations unless forced to. That would bring such a crowd to the center of the city that it would force all gentlemen with ladies to get away from both the city and the grounds. Why not divide the crowd? Philadelphia was better off because she did it, and this is to be a bigger Fair."

George A. Emery of the Sons of California thinks the Lake-Front would do nicely for the exhibit California is to make, but he doesn't think it would much more than do for it, as California intends to make a magnificent showing.

"When we invited the world to come here with its exhibits," he says, "we promised to give the best we had. Now is the Lake-Front the best location we have? Can we give the States and the foreign countries all the space they will need there? Won't we have to cramp every one? But I think the whole matter hinges on the original question: Is it the best we can give them? If it is, and if the statement had been made to Congress that the best Chicago could do was to give the Fair the Lake-Front, it's dollars to doughnuts it never would have come here. Give the best we have, and that is—Jackson Park."

ITS MANY ADVANTAGES.

Jackson Park is now in the lead without question as a site. Its advocates claim many advantages for it. It has plenty of unimproved ground on which the Fair can be located without interfering to too great an extent with the improved portion, and it has a frontage on the lake that will be of great value both in the way of transportation and of aquatic displays. It can be reached easily by all the railroads entering Chicago. True, many of them will have to cross various tracks, but even that, it is claimed, will be easier than to run all the freight in over the tracks of one company, as would have to be done on the Lake-Front.

The Lake-Front is not absolutely defeated—no site will be absolutely defeated until the directors and the National commission have taken action—but it has lost ground and is steadily losing it.

WORLD'S FAIR COMMISSIONERS.

Appointments Made by the Governors of Wisconsin, Virginia, and Wyoming.

MADISON, Wis., May 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Hoard today announced the following appointments of World's Fair Commissioners and alternates: Commissioners—Philip Allen Jr., Republican, of Mineral Point; John L. Mitchell, Democrat, of Milwaukee. Alternates—George E. Gordon, Republican, of Koshkonong; Myron Reed, Democrat, of Superior.

RICHMOND, Va., May 20.—Gov. McKinney today nominated ex-Congressman John T. Harris of Rockingham County Democratic Commissioner and Gen. V. D. Groner of Norfolk City as the Republican Commissioner to the World's Fair from Virginia.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Warren nominated as World's Fair Commissioners from Wyoming Asabel C. Beckwith of Evanston and Henry G. Hay of Cheyenne. As alternates, John McCormick of Sheridan and Asa S. Mercer of Cheyenne are named.

The Burnham and Gookins Idea.

CHICAGO, May 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Is it not about time for our people to examine carefully and disinterestedly into the merits and demerits of the Lake-Front plan for the Fair? After many months' experience, under fire of criticism, we desire to state with all possible courtesy, but also all emphasis, that not one of the objectors to our plan seems to have any real understanding of it, or of the facts on which it is based.

All we ask for it is a fair and full examination, and all we desire is that the very best plan for holding a greater World's Fair than the world ever saw shall be the plan finally adopted, whether it is ours or any other.

In splendid and gratifying contrast to the hasty conclusions of many, the action of the Board of Directors in calling for proposals for a site indicates that they are business-men of a grade of discretion beyond cavil and capable of handling the Fair.

If they give our plans and suggestions, including those we have yet to submit, a complete and fair hearing, as we do not doubt they will, we will be satisfied with the result, whatever it may be.

To the persons who have thought it well to call idiotic and visionary, or scheming and mercenary, the ideas we have presented in the hope to benefit the Fair, the city, and the Nation, we would say, that if we have read history aright, Christopher Columbus himself was heralded throughout his world as a visionary, and a knave, and a fool, but we believe that time has shown that impression to have been erroneous. Also only about three years ago M. Eiffel was ridiculed in almost every newspaper in the world, and his project for a tower pronounced visionary, impracticable, unscientifically planned, and dangerous; yet no one will now deny that he has fairly won the admiration of the world as well as fortune by his success, while the success of the Paris Exposition was largely due to his triumph.

We believe our general plan is one that, if carried out, would enable Chicago also to command the admiration of the world in a manner fully befitting, and even in advance of, her already splendid reputation. If it is not, then we do not want it adopted.

Nor do we want this site taken for the Fair unless it be so used as not to lose the opportunity now afforded of securing to our people the great permanent benefits we have proposed—namely: the moving of the railroad tracks and the creation of a beautiful park in the heart of the city adorned with two or three noble structures of artistic design devoted to public instruction and advancement, thus laying the foundations of a civilization and culture commensurate with Chicago's prosperity, and showing to the world her earnest appreciation of things higher than any mere commercial success can attain.

We believe that when our plan is fully comprehended and its possibilities and certainties fully canvassed it will be well understood that the directory, whatever other novelties they may secure, will in carrying out this plan achieve something greater for this Nation and this city than has ever been accomplished by any World's Fair directory, and that it will not only surpass the Paris Exposition, as some of the most eminent architects and engineers have thought, but that the whole world will admire Chicago for having risen by its accomplishment to the true grandeur of her task and of her victory.

We quote back at the opponents of the Lake Front plan: "This is to be a World's Fair, not merely a Chicago Fair," and we add that, therefore, whatever general plan of operations will furnish the most money for grand buildings and all the purposes of the Fair, and at the same time show the greatest prospect of money returns and substantial benefits to Chicago and the world at large, that is the plan which the present Board of Directors should recommend to the National commission.

By our plan the Lake-Front site, fully prepared, need not cost the World's Fair Commission or Directory nor the City of Chicago one dollar. And, by our plan, the available resources for buildings and other necessary outlays of the Fair can be increased four to six millions of dollars, while we are prepared to show that the receipts will, in all probability, be from three to five millions more, and far better results obtained by expenditure of three or four millions less, than if the Fair is held elsewhere than on the Lake-Front.

Fair Notes.

The Executive Committee will meet at 3 this afternoon.

The Finance Committee has decided in what banks the deposits shall be made and will present its report on that subject to the directors Friday afternoon.

The Directors' room has been given over to the Committee on Ways and Means and the Directors are talking of having rooms fitted up in another building for their accommodation.

Edwin Walker will not resign his Chairmanship of the Committee on Legislation for the present at least. He intended to because of the duties it required of him, but he was prevailed upon not to do so.

The Committee on Catalogues and Printing is the first, with the exception of the Ways and Means Committee, to get a room. They will meet in Room 7, and their Secretary, Mr. Murphy, was installed there yesterday.

Mr. J. L. Ford, President of the Sons of Delaware, was at World's Fair headquarters yesterday bemoaning the fact that there seemed to be only three sons of Delaware in Chicago—Messrs. Glenn, Lloyd, and himself. He said he had not been able to run down another.

BRILLIANT WEDDING AT BLOOMINGTON.

The Rev. Frederick Clampett of Springfield and Miss Cornelia Ewing Married.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—What was in many respects the most brilliant and notable matrimonial event that has ever taken place in Central Illinois was the marriage this evening of the Rev. Frederick William Clampett, rector of Christ's Church, Springfield, Ill., and Miss Cornelia Ewing of this city. Fifteen hundred invitations were issued, and fully 200 guests from other cities were among the throng that assembled to witness the ceremony at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and attended the reception which followed it at the home of the bride's father, the Hon. James S. Ewing. The little church could not contain half of those who desired to witness the ceremony. It was lavishly adorned with flowers. To the strain of Lohengrin's "Wedding March" the young bride and her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Clara Ewing, entered the chancel, and at the altar met the groom and his attendant, Mr. Porteous of Cairo, Ill. The ceremony was performed by the Rt.-Rev. Bishop Seymour of the diocese of Springfield, assisted by the Rev. Daniel Lewis, rector of St. Matthew's. The white-robed choir boys chanted softly during its performance. The dress of the bride was white crêpe de chien, with bridal veil of mousseline de soie. She wore no flowers or jewels and carried in her hand an ivory white prayer-book. The maid of honor wore sea-green silk and white lace with lilies of the valley. The bridemaids were Miss Annie Ewing, the bride's sister, and Misses Mary Lloyd and Alice Leffingwell of Knoxville, Miss Mary Scovel of Chicago, Miss Lottie McLean of Bloomington, and Miss Laura McCurdy of Bloomington. The reception continued from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. The house was decorated with wild crab-apple blossoms, white iris, and smilax. At midnight Mr. and Mrs. Clampett departed for New York, and Saturday will sail on the Etruria for Liverpool, thence will visit the groom's native home in Ireland and friends in England. They will return Sept. 1 and will reside in Springfield. A special train from Springfield brought 1,500 guests from Elkhart and Lincoln. The guests were Gov. and Mrs. Fifer, the Hon. Bluford Wilson and family, the Hon. D. T. Littler, Springfield; the Hon. W. G. Ewing and Adlai T. Ewing, George Scovel and their families, Chicago; George Twose, Eugene Cox, Chicago; ex-Gov. Oglesby and wife and the Misses Gillette, Elkhart; R. D. Clampett, Dodge City, Kas.; Senator Johns, Jason Rogers and family, and Charles Powers of Decatur.

ANTI-MONOPOLY REPUBLICANS MEET.

Nebraska Politicians Issue Resolutions Arraigning the Action of Railroads.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 20.—[Special.]—The Anti-Monopoly Republicans, numbering upward of 200, from a large portion of the State, met in this city at 8:30 tonight pursuant to call. Ex-Speaker Harlan was Temporary Chairman and the Hon. D. M. Nettleton Permanent Chairman. Among the prominent Republicans in attendance were E. Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee; Senators Keckley, Sutherland, Manning, Polk, Lindsay, Raymond of the last Legislature, and a large number of members of the last House, besides prominent Republicans in Anti-Monopoly ranks. An immense railroad lobby was in attendance, and at midnight the convention was yet in session discussing the question of calling a Republican State Convention in case the State Committee should refuse to call one prior to July 8.

The resolutions were prepared by E. Rosewater and they arraign the corporations for their political actions in the past, asking that they cease their dictation in politics by which they now control largely all departments of the State government. They ask that the wholesale issue of passes be prohibited by law with stringent penalties, and that the people demand of the Legislature the repeal of the appointive Railroad Commission that refuses to give relief in rates, and that the Legislature enact a maximum freight bill as required by the Constitution. Upon the tariff question the resolution recites the pledges of the party and declares for a revision of the tariff laws to lower and not to raise the revenue exacted at present. Further the tariff resolution calls upon the Congressional delegation to refuse to vote for the McKinley bill in its present form.

GENEROUS OFFER MADE TO IOWA INDIANS

To Give Every One Eighty Acres—$24,000 to Be Divided Per Capita.

IOWA VILLAGE, Oklahoma, May 20.—[Special.]—The commission today offered the Iowa Indians eighty acres in allotment to every head—man, woman, and child; $24,000 to be divided up per capita; then in addition to this absolute bonus $30,000 per year for five years. This amount is three times the amount paid them for the cattle leases now. Then $30,000 for the next five years, $24,000 for the next five years, $18,000 for next (fourth) five years, and $12,000 for next (fifth) five. They are promised that their property cannot be taken from them for twenty-five years. Neither is it liable for debt in twenty-five years. At the end of twenty-five years, if the Indian chooses to sell, the parties buying must pay him, the Indian, cash. Old debts on accounts cannot be deducted from price of sale. Any Indian can select any eighty he or she may choose, and if they now be living on any eighty they are given the first right to select that particular eighty. Judge Sayre made this proposition about 4 o'clock p. m. today at the meeting of the second session. After the Indians had partaken of the peace feast, at high noon a whole ox was cut up and boiled and the Indians ate it all. The Indians seemed in favor of this proposition, and the council adjourned at 7:20 to meet in the morning at 9. Col. John T. Hill is here working hard, it is supposed to defeat the plans of the commission.

GUTHRIE, I. T., May 20.—[Special.]—It is rumored here tonight that the Iowa Indians have rejected the proposition made by the Commissioners.

A CITY TREASURER SAID TO BE SHORT.

Mr. Peake of Kansas City Suspended Pending an Investigation.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 20.—City Treasurer Peake was suspended from office at 6 o'clock this evening, a shortage of between $17,000 and $20,000 having been discovered in his accounts.

Mr. Peake was elected to office as a Democrat two years ago, and was reëlected this spring. When a committee was appointed last week to examine Mr. Peake's books no surprise was occasioned until it was noticed that the City Treasurer was devoting an extraordinary amount of time to his books and was calling in many of his personal loans. Mayor Holmes and Controller Hobbs today made a hasty investigation into the Treasurer's accounts. At 5:30 o'clock Mr. Peake was summoned to appear before them. The interview between the three lasted an hour. When it was over the Mayor told the reporters that the investigation of Mr. Peake's accounts showed a shortage of between $17,000 and $20,000, and that he had suspended Mr. Peake from office pending the official investigation to be begun tomorrow by the Council committee appointed a week ago. At the regular meeting of the Council tonight Mayor Holmes, in a special message, explained the condition of affairs and announced Mr. Peake's suspension.

Stanley Hobbs, Controller, was put in possession of the office. No legal steps will be taken against Mr. Peake until the investigation committee makes its report. His defalcation is now placed at $22,200.

GOOD-BY TO BOSTON BARS.

SALOONS AT THE HUB TURNED INTO RESTAURANTS.

Hereafter No Drinks Will Be Served Unaccompanied by Food—Changes Made by the Liquor-Dealers to Meet the Requirements of the Law—Some Peculiar Bills of Fare—A Complaint from the Bartenders—A Big Fight to Be Made by the Saloonists.

BOSTON, Mass., May 20.—[Special.]—Boston saloonkeepers are a weary company tonight. The order doing away with public bars went into effect this morning, and their ingenuity and physical energy have been taxed to the utmost to meet the various emergencies that have arisen under the new régime. The 700 possessors of the precious licenses have nearly all given evidence of their desire to comply with the law. The police also have viewed any shortcomings today with a kindly eye, and the result has been that no arrests or flagrant violations of orders have been thus far reported.

The law briefly is to the effect that no intoxicating drinks shall be served over public bars or unaccompanied by food. The law itself is an old one, but never has any attempt been made hitherto to literally enforce it. The design of the provision was to convert the saloons into restaurants. The saloonkeepers have been working like beavers the last twenty-four hours making needed changes. Where the bars were wooden and inexpensive they have been removed altogether and tables and chairs substituted. The larger hotels, however, have simply inclosed their bars in a wire screening. Many are the devices resorted to. One store, the exterior of which was adorned with the sign in large letters: "Family Wine Store," appears now with still larger letters above the original sign, "Lunch Room." Every "Liquor Store" pure and simple now bears the word "Café." One dealer took out his bar and erected in place of it a fence, against which he placed several tables. He intended to draw the beer behind the fence, pass it over it, and place it on the tables without coming from behind the bar or going to the expense of hiring one or two waiters. He was chagrined when he was told that he could not do business in that way and that he would be obliged to remove the tables or else cease passing the liquor over the fence.

What constitutes "food" puzzles some of them, but the majority of dealers have decided that crackers and cheese cover the law. One large barroom presents this "Bill of Fare":

Ham Sandwich with Lager, 10 cents.
Hard Crackers and Cheese and Ale, 10 cents.
Hard Crackers and Cheese with Old Bourbon, 10 cents.
Hard Crackers and Cheese with Holland Gin, 15 cents.
Hard Crackers and Cheese with Pint of Claret, 75 cents.

A North End barkeeper has erected tables with legs about five feet high and chairs which are like Charlestown's big monument compared with the ordinary chair. When asked the reason for these stilted structures he replied that a drunken man could not climb up, and that if he became drunk while sitting in one of them he would fall down, making the bartender aware of the fact.

One dealer, whose bar was the longest piece of mahogany ever finished in Boston, has been obliged to cut it in halves to make room for his tables. The handsome marble bar at Young's Hotel stands idle. The same is true at the Parker House, the Brunswick, and other of the large hotels. They have accepted the new order without protest. This comes most vigorously from those dealers who have not the extra rooms required for tables and chairs and who do not relish hiring the additional waiters necessary. The bartenders are indignant, because they say it places them on a level with a common table waiter.

Chairman Whiting of the Police Commission said that the law would be strictly enforced as far as they understood its provisions. The interpretation of the law will be called in when there is any doubt. Said Mr. Whiting:

"It is very clear to the commission that the law prohibits sales of liquor over the bar, and that provision we shall strictly enforce. As to what constitutes food and in what manner it must be served with liquor to comply with the law are questions which test cases alone will settle. Any deliberate violation of the known provisions of the law will work a forfeiture of the license at once, but I do not see why we should put into court every man who is honestly trying to comply with the law when one case will settle the matter. We have at least two dealers in mind whom we shall prosecute. Both of them know it and are willing that a test case shall be made. They have engaged eminent counsel too, and a big fight will be made. One of these men is C. H. W. Sanborn, and the question to be settled there is whether a lunch counter over which liquor is served constitutes a bar. The other case is of a man who simply serves a lunch at one side. The policy of the commission will be to enforce the law as far as they know it, but not arbitrarily."

DEALERS DEFIANT AT TOPEKA.

"Original Packages" Sold from Wagons in Front of the State-House.

TOPEKA, Kas., May 20.—The dealers in original packages are becoming more and more bold and defiant. Today six of them hired three carriages. In the rear seat of each two of the saloon-men placed themselves. On the opposite side they placed kegs of beer and grouped around them original packages of whisky, brandy, and wine. On the seat beside the driver was placed a keg of beer, and on top of it a foaming glass of the beverage. Thus equipped they drove through the principal streets of the city and finally halted at the entrance of the Capitol grounds and under the very shadow of the State house. There they offered for sale to the State officers passing in and out, their original packages. Secretary of State Allen became so enraged that he telephoned to the Chief of Police to arrest the saloon men for disturbing the peace. At the approach of the bluecoats the saloon men drove away.

Pittsburg Violators Fined.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 20.—[Special.]—About fifty persons were before Police Magistrate John Grip today on the charge of selling liquor without a license. They were arrested under a section of the Brooks High-License law, which imposes a fine ranging from $10 to $100 or imprisonment from thirty to sixty days, singly or both. None of the guilty escaped, and the sexes were equally represented. Some of the women brought children with them, evidently to excite the sympathy of the court. The little ones were turned over to the care of the Anti-Cruelty Society.

Creston, Ia., Liquor-Dealers Fined.

CRESTON, Ia., May 20.—[Special.]—Nine local liquor-dealers were arrested today on the charge of keeping disorderly houses because they refused to close their saloons on Sunday. Four of them pleaded guilty and paid fines amounting to $70. The other five will stand trial. In passing sentence Judge Davis of the Superior Court announced that he would impose the full penalty of $100 fine for each additional violation of the Sunday law by the same parties.

The Temperance Question Discussed.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 20.—The report of the Committee on Temperance was taken up in the General Assembly today. The purport of the report is the recommendation that the church declare neither for prohibition nor for license. It was proposed to print the report, which does not recommend total abstinence, and circulate it among the presbyteries. A Commissioner thereupon inquired, "Who will pay for the printing?" Another responded, "The whisky men will pay the bill."

Macon County (Ill.) Prohibitionists.

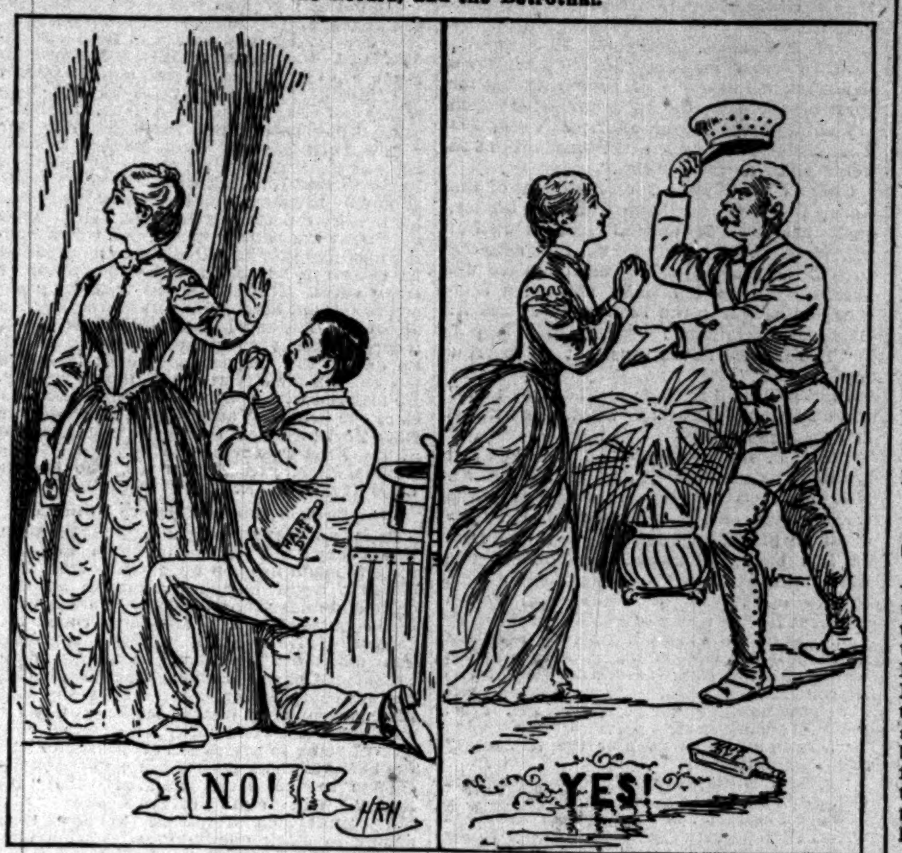
DECATUR, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The Macon County Prohibitionists met in convention today and elected delegates to the State convention. They resolved to memorialize Congress asking that the Inter-State Commerce law be so amended as to destroy the right to sell "original packages" in prohibition States.

License at Rockford, Ill.

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—An effort was made by temperance enthusiasts to compel the saloonkeepers here to seal up the rear and side doors and pull down the screens, but the Council last night knocked the idea out and passed the old ordinance keeping the license at $1,000.

NEW VERSION OF THE FAMOUS PICTURE, "YES OR NO?"

Story of the Courtship of Henry M. Stanley and Dorothy Tennant—The Rejection, the Return, and the Betrothal.



"She could not stand a man who dyed his hair."

No date is fixed for the wedding, but it will probably be in July.

CAME FLYING IN AND WENT FLYING OUT.

George Francis Train Passes Through Chicago on His Way Around the World.

George Francis Train came flying into town last night at 9:30 o'clock, and went flying out at 11:30. The Lake Shore train that brought him in was twenty minutes late, and the omnibus which jolted him across town to the Wells street station was delayed by a man who wanted to go to Kansas City and got into the bus by mistake. But the philosopher landed smiling over on Wells street at 9:45, and was welcomed by a crowd of Evanston people, all the baggage-smashers around the depot, a policeman, and a lot of reporters. He wore a two-story white hat of a kind that people this far west don't see out of picture books about India, and the front of this picturesque tile was inscribed: "George Francis Train. Around the World in 60 Days."

The 11 o'clock train on the Northwestern road was waiting for the philosopher and anybody else who might happen along. Mr. Train and his companions—two New York newspaper reporters and one from Tacoma—put their bags into one of the sleepers, and Mr. Train changed his two-story bonnet for a scarlet fez, and wound a scarlet sash around his waist so that the ends swung picturesquely alongside his thin legs. Then he led the crowd upstairs to the dining-room. The dining-room was closed.

"Demonology," Mr. Train roared. "It has sought to thwart me everywhere, but I will defeat it."

The man who runs the restaurant said it was rules. Mr. Train insisted that it was demonology and rushed down-stairs to the lunch-counter where Marvin Hughitt sells lemonade and hard-boiled eggs to the wayfaring man. Mr. Train ordered a plate of doughnuts, and reluctantly consented to talk while he ate. He said among other things:

"World-girdler! Great race against time. George Francis won; time distanced; not in it. Jules Verne and Nellie Bly nowhere. Tacoma and Train, great team. Stanley fraud! Fought Indians in hotel in Kansas City. Slew whole tribes in heart of Denver! Great fakir! Never been in Central Africa! War in Europe! No, sir! America first! Great crisis impending! No more Presidents. Dictator next! Civil war and bloodshed! Tacoma will be all right! She is great!"

The punctuation is the reporter's. Mr. Train doesn't punctuate. He is too robust to fill in his language with exclamation points and he refuses to do so. His secretary, Mr. Wall of the Tacoma Ledger, says they have been having a hot time since they left Tacoma two months ago.

"He had a bad habit of saying unpleasant things," Mr. Wall explained. "When he was among Germans he abused Germany and he swore at England when he was talking to Englishmen. He told the people aboard the Etruria that the American Government was a fraud and the Pilgrim Fathers tramps. Some of the passengers were going to toss him into the sea."

Mr. Train ate 80 cents' worth of doughnuts and other things at the lunch counter, and with a debonair bow left the grinning crowd at 10:15 o'clock, and went aboard his train. He will get to Tacoma next Saturday night if he has luck, and that will be sixty-five and three-quarters days from the start. The run is some days faster than Nellie Bly's trip, but Nellie did not have a psycho. Mr. Train is looking well. He has cut off his beard and left a stubby gray mustache. He wore a stunning big bouquet last night, and caleld to the policeman at the gate: "I siy, deah bye," with a London accent.

HAVE NO POWER TO ARREST CRIMINALS.

Peculiar State of Affairs in Oklahoma—Officials Without Authority.

KINGFISHER, I. T., May 20.—[Special.]—Since the passage of the Territorial act May 2 the United States authorities have no power to arrest criminals, as evidenced by the following: Yesterday Samuel Moore, residing in the Black Jack country, shot and killed Samuel Griffin. The trouble arose over a title to a claim. A few days ago Griffin went to Moore's house and drove his wife into the yard. Returning yesterday the quarrel was renewed and Griffin attempted to shoot Moore, but the latter emptied a shotgun into him, killing his assailant. Moore then came here and offered to surrender himself to the authorities. The United States Commissioner refused to issue a warrant on the ground that since the passage of the Territorial act he has no jurisdiction. The United States Marshal had no authority to hold him, and the Military Commander refused to have anything to do with it.

SOCIETY AFFAIRS AT WASHINGTON.

A Tea by Mrs. William E. Chandler—A Dinner in Honor of the Vice-President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. William E. Chandler welcomed her many friends this afternoon at a charming tea at her residence. The hostess wore a gown of white China silk, and was assisted in receiving by her cousin, Mrs. Lambert of New York, who has been her guests for a few days past. REMOVAL OF GARFIELD'S REMAINS.

The Body Taken from the Cemetery and Placed in the Crypt of the Memorial.

CLEVELAND, O., May 20.—[Special.]—The remains of the late President James Abram Garfield were quietly removed from the public vault in Lake View Cemetery early this morning and deposited in the crypt of the memorial which is to be dedicated to his memory on May 30.

When all was ready Mr. J. H. Brown, the undertaker, drove his hearse to the cemetery with four or five assistants. Mr. J. Harris, the Superintendent of the cemetery, awaited him, and all proceeded to the public vault.

Then came Col. William Edwards in his buggy, and was shortly thereafter followed by Mr. P. H. Babcock and ex-Congressman Townsend. Col. Edwards is Vice-President of the cemetery association and Mr. Babcock is on the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. Before these two gentlemen arrived, however, the casket was removed from its bier and placed upon the floor of the vault by Undertaker Brown and Mr. Harris. The screws were loosened and the massive cover of the casket was taken off. Another metallic casket was found to be inside. The cover of that was taken off, too, and all that is mortal of the martyred President was exposed to view. The body was found to be in a good state of preservation and could be easily recognized. The hair has somewhat fallen off from the forehead, but the beard has grown fully two inches. Garfield wore a full beard, well trimmed and somewhat close, and now it would be classed, in life, a long beard. The eyes and mouth were closed and the features somewhat shrunken, but perfectly white. They look as though a light frost had fallen upon them. It is the mold of age. The left hand was crossed upon the breast and it, too, was white with mold. This casket was first placed in the hearse and taken to the crypt. Then the casket containing "Grandma" Garfield's remains was taken from the vault and placed in the left wing of the crypt near those of her illustrious son.

TROUBLES OF A PITTSBURG COUPLE.

A Wealthy Foundryman's Suit for Divorce Abruptly Ended.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 20.—[Special.]—The attorney for James McNeil, the wealthy foundryman who sued his wife Margaret for a divorce, asked permission to take a non-suit and the jury was dismissed from the box and the non-suit entered.

They were married the Fourth of July, 1865. Then she was a successful dressmaker and he a laborer. He charged her with cruelty, with not providing him with sufficient bedclothing and with turning his children against him. She declared that he was unkind, untruthful, avaricious, and boasted of his infidelity. She gave him nearly $20,000 of her own money to invest in his business. McNeil slept in another room than hers for six months and kept his door bolted. She bribed the children to go to their father and say their prayers to him. A cross-suit in this case was entered by Mrs. McNeil, in which she seeks for a divorce on the grounds of desertion in November, 1885, since which time, she alleges, McNeil has been guilty of undue familiarity with one Louisa Simindinger. She asks for alimony and the return of half of the property she presented to her husband.

WEDDED TO A PRINCE

Miss Clara Ward, a Detroit Girl, Marries Prince de Chimay.

PITY FELT FOR THE BRIDE.

FORCED TO RENOUNCE HER FAITH.

Her Husband One of the Worst Debauchees in Europe.

[Copyright, 1890, by the Press Pub. Co., New York World.]

PARIS, May 20.—The Papal Nunciature was well filled today at noon, the attraction being the wedding of Miss Clara Ward of Detroit to Prince Joseph Caraman-Chimay, son of the Belgian Prince and Foreign Minister. Lord Lytton, the British Ambassador, and Mr. Whitelaw Reid, the American Minister to France, were the witnesses for the bride, and the Baron de Beyens, the Belgian Ambassador to France, and the Duc de Fezensac for the bridegroom. Lord Lytton stood at the left of the altar with Mr. Cameron and the Baron de Beyens. At the right with her stepmother stood the bride.

The latter is a very handsome young woman and young enough to be her husband's daughter. The bridegroom is a tall, fine-looking man, very dark, with a hooked nose. His full name is Joseph Marie Anatole Elie de Riquet, and he bears the title of Prince de Caraman. On his father's death, which seems pretty close, he will become a grandée of Spain of the first class. The bride looked quite childish. She was dressed in pink brocade, spangled with pink beads, and embroidered with silver. Among the people present were Consul-General Rathbone, the Countess Greffulhe, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Torrens, Mrs. Ward, the Duchess de Luynes, and the Duchess de Sagan.

The Papal Nuncio's part of the ceremony consisted in asking the bride, with great solemnity, whether she renounced the heretical Protestant religion. The bride assented with considerable vigor. After this the chaplain finished the ceremony. Considerable pity was felt among the assistants at seeing the young and beautiful girl entering a family of the worst debauchees of Europe. The sacrifice was accompanied with immense pomp and as much ceremonial as in the case of a royal wedding.

The Prince de Chimay looked thoroughly worn out with loose living. The scandal which was provoked a year ago by his marriage to a young girl is not forgotten. Miss Ward is a native of Detroit, and her father dying, his widow went to Canada, where she married a Mr. Cameron. There Miss Ward was introduced to the best society at the house of the Commissioner-General of Canada.

Among the almost innumerable wedding presents received from members of the two families and their friends were a diamond necklace and earrings from Prince de Chaman and another diamond necklace and magnificent corsage decoration in diamonds and pearls. Comtesse Greffulhe gave a pearl necklace and large diamond crescent. Mr. Eber Ward, the bride's brother, presented a brougham; her uncle, Mr. Lyon, a complete toilet service of silver; her grandmother, Mrs. Lyon, a superb crystal bottle mounted in silver; Prince Pierre de Caraman Chimay, a diamond brooch with pendant, watch, and diamonds; her two sisters, bracelets and watch set in diamonds; the stepmother of the groom, an exquisitely ornamented prayer-book, which the bride carried; the Duc de Fezenac, a card-receiver lined with gold. Lord Lytton sent an immense packet of white lilies tied with blue and pink ribbons, with a bunch of white gardenias on a gilded handle.

The newly-married couple, after congratulations in the reception-room at the Nunciatory, left Paris by the 4 o'clock train for Château de Chimay at Chimay, a town on the frontier of France and Germany. There they will remain for the present. Later on they will occupy a hotel in Paris, upon which they have not yet decided.

IN THE REICHSTAG.

Baron von Berlepsch Speaks in Favor of the Government Labor Bill.

BERLIN, May 20.—The discussion of the Labor bill was continued in the Reichstag today. Baron von Berlepsch, Prussian Minister of Commerce, denied that the bill failed to carry out the promises contained in the Imperial decrees or that the classes owning property had adversely influenced the measure. The Federal Governments, the Minister said, acted independently of political parties and had not allowed party feeling to shape the bill. The objects of the provisions dealing with the labor of women and children and with Sunday rest were intended to retain a strong and healthy working population and to strengthen family life. The fixing of a maximum working day for males was not practicable at present. Circumstances might precipitate a reaction which would injure industry. The proposal to increase the number of factory inspectors was not leveled against employers, who, Baron von Berlepsch said, need not fear that the bill would not conserve their just rights.

After a prolonged debate the Reichstag referred the labor bill to a committee of twenty-eight members.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

All but Irish Members Worn Out by the All-Night Session.

[Copyright, 1890, by James Gordon Bennett.]

LONDON, May 20.—The House of Commons has so long given up the worst of its bad habits that an all-night sitting leaves it limp and worn out, whereas only three years ago the members got quite used to having only four or five hours at home and came back again as fresh as larks, but this afternoon they sat winking and blinking in the sunlight which streamed through the windows like so many owls. The House had sat till nearly 4 in the morning, and at 2 in the afternoon it met again. Pale faces and haggard looks abounded on every side. Goschen, who has a bad cold, looked completely worn out. The Irish members were sprightly as ever. Redoubtable Tim Healy was quite ready for another fight of twelve hours, or any smaller or larger number.

Unfortunately, when the House sits up all night it generally gets into very bad temper, hot words fly about, and, as Dr. Watts would say, "angry passions rise." Now from 7 or 8 o'clock Monday evening until 4 this morning everything was at sixes and sevens and the House saw pretty clearly that there would be a protracted contest and that nothing would come of it. That is precisely what happened. The Government gained nothing by its vigil and the opposition went off claiming a victory.

LORD SALISBURY'S VIEWS.

He Thinks Too Much Importance Is Attached to Socialism.

LONDON, May 20.—In the House of Lords today the Earl of Wemyss and March (Liberal Conservative) denounced the tendency of the Government toward Socialist legislation.

Parliament, he declared, seemed ready to do anything in the shape of grandmotherly legislation and to meddle with affairs that ought to be left to private initiative.

Lord Salisbury, the Prime Minister, admitted the existence of a strong tendency to lean upon the state on every occasion. Against this he said statesmen must guard. Socialism might be defined as the state doing something that might be done by private persons for the sake of gain. Sometimes this was an unwise thing to do and at other times a wise thing. There was nothing so socialistic as the mint and the post-office, yet at the same time there was nothing more justifiable. Too much importance, Lord Salisbury declared, was attached to the specter of Socialism. The public could be trusted to find out what practical good lies behind the Socialistic doctrine.

MR. PARNELL'S SPEECH.

He Reproaches Irishmen in England for Being Apathetic.

LONDON, May 20.—Mr. Parnell made a speech today, which was mainly devoted to showing the urgent necessity of placing every possible Irishmen in Great Britain upon the voting register. He said that a general election might come at any moment. It was impossible to believe that the Tory managers would be so infatuated as to postpone an appeal to the country beyond the end of 1891. It appeared to him to be a crime for any Irishman entitled to the privilege to neglect securing a vote. It was proposed to form a central organization. He regretted that while Irishmen in Ireland, in America, and in Australia had acted nobly in providing funds for the cause, Irishmen in Great Britain had neglected to do their duty in this direction. He trusted they would now make up for lost time.

Resolutions were passed to form an election fund to be disposable at Mr. Parnell's direction, and to form an organization to secure proper registration.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

[Copyright, 1890, by James Gordon Bennett.]

Verdict Against Dr. Engel.

LONDON, May 20.—A verdict for the plaintiff was given today in the suit of Mrs. Knight, a widow, against Dr. Louis Engel, late musical critic of the London World, for the seduction of her daughter Bertha, who was formerly a pupil of Dr. Engel. Damages of £2,000 were awarded.

Cable Regulations Unchanged.

LONDON, May 20.—The cable regulations now in force provide that every word exceeding ten letters in length shall be charged for as two words when transmitted by cable. Rumor has been widely prevalent of late to the effect that the International Telegraph Conference, now in session in Paris, intended to reduce the word limit from ten letters to eight. No proposition of this sort, however, has been submitted to the conference.

Cable Notes.

Ex-Queen Isabella visited Queen Victoria at Windsor yesterday and afterward attended the State ball at Buckingham Palace.

Speaking at Spalding yesterday Mr. Gladstone said he would welcome a dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the country.

At the fortnightly meeting of the National League in Dublin yesterday it was announced that £2,500 had been received from America since the previous meeting.

SEVERE RAIN-STORMS IN NEW YORK.

Much Damage Done to Crops—Buildings Destroyed and the Country Flooded.

UTICA, N. Y., May 20.—Rain has fallen almost without interruption in the Mohawk Valley since Sunday evening. Much of the time it has poured down in torrents and all streams have full banks and are overflowing the level lands along their sides. In the Sauquoit Valley the water is over the railroad tracks in several places. Farmers in Central New York feel thoroughly discouraged at the outlook. The month has been an exceptionally wet one and instances are numerous where seed planted or sown has rotted in the ground. In other instances the farmers have been unable to plow, plant, or sow. Even on the hills the ground is saturated until it is like mortar and on the flats and low lands the meadows and cultivated fields are entirely under water.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 20.—A storm of great severity passed over this city today. The mercury fell from 72° to 50° between 11 o'clock and noon. In twenty minutes half an inch of rain fell. The total fall for two and a half hours was three-quarters of an inch.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., May 20.—This place and vicinity were today visited by a severe rainstorm. Rain fell in torrents from 7 o'clock Monday evening until 10 o'clock today. Richmond's shoe manufactory was torn to pieces and drifted down to the Susquehanna. Basements were flooded, roads cut up, and lawns and gardens destroyed. It was feared that Fox's Pond, five miles above here, would break and flood the center of the town, and mounted men were sent to investigate. Railroad tracks were submerged and suburban bridges carried away. The damage will be large.

WELLSVILLE, N. Y., May 20.—[Special.]—A steady rain for the last twenty-four hours has swollen the various streams emptying into the Genesee River until the latter is within a few inches of the big flood of last June. The lower part of the town and the village across the river, what is known as Brooklyn, are submerged, and people have been obliged to seek refuge in the upper stories of their houses. The gas mains under the river were broken, thus depriving the people of the Brooklyn side of means to keep themselves warm and dry their clothes. Broad street is under water, and in many cases the water is two feet in the lower floors.

At Dyke's Switch the New York, Lake Erie, and Western tracks are under water and the large iron oil-tanks of the Standard Oil company are surrounded by water. A boat containing Henry Opp, Charles Ball, Leonard Grover, Stephen Moore, and Surrogate Judge Farnum, who were cruising around endeavoring to assist people to escape from their flooded houses, was capsized today. All the men swam to a place of safety except Judge Farnum, who was obliged to occupy the top of a tree for several hours.

The Bradford, Eldred and Cuba railroad (narrow gauge) has a bad washout in Brimmer Brook, and all traffic is suspended. The New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad has a bad washout about a mile west of this place and another a half mile in length at Elm Valley, three miles east of here. No trains are running.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 20.—[Special.]—It began raining shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon, and there has been a steady downpour ever since. Signal-service reports indicate rain in all parts of Minnesota, in the Red River Valley, and the drought belt of South Dakota. The weather is much warmer and corn is coming up nicely.

ABERDEEN, S. D., May 20.—[Special.]—The whole section known as Central Dakota today received a fine fall of rain of five hours' duration. Nearly an inch of water fell in all. The crop prospects are improved 100 per cent.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 20.—All railroad tracks at the foot of the hills here were washed out and covered with dirt and sand. At Sugar Notch, Plymouth, Nanticoke, and other places along the line of railways there were several heavy washouts, causing delays. A dispatch from Plymouth this evening is to the effect that a bridge crossing Coal street had been washed away and that all the collieries at the town were obliged to shut down. At Edwardsville a boy was blown into Toby's Creek by the high wind and was drowned before aid could reach him. His body has since floated down the stream and been washed into the Susquehanna River.

Landslide in Pennsylvania.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 20.—A big landslide occurred near Confluence, Pa., last night. The track of the Baltimore and Ohio was carried away and the roadbed covered for a quarter of a mile. Trains are delayed.

NEW YORK BANK METHODS

THE TRIAL OF PELL BRINGS QUEER THINGS TO LIGHT.

How Mr. Wallack Was Made President—Career of the Murdered Lawyer Reynolds—Discontent in the American Squadron of Evolution—Remarkable Resignation of an Attorney—Gen. Alger Visiting Eastern Grand Army Posts—The Tammany Scandal.

NEW YORK, May 20.—[Special.]—At the trial of George H. Pell in the Court of General Sessions today for stealing from the Lenox Hill bank, ex-Cashier E. J. Cornell testified that a majority of the down-town banks make a practice of overcertifying for their broker patrons, and he even mentioned the Bank of the State of New York, the Fourth National, and other institutions as being given to this practice.

Charles E. Wallack, ex-President of the Lenox Hill bank, who is an insurance broker, said that Dec. 21 Cornell accused Pell of buying the bank on wind, and Pell, denying the charge, threw upon the table the 505 shares of Lenox Hill bank stock that Wiggins had bought in the interest of James A. Simmons, exclaiming:

"You see, we haven't used it to borrow money upon."

To this Cornell replied: "That won't do;" but what he meant by the words the witness could not say.

Then Mr. Wallack told of meeting Pell and Simmons on the night of Jan. 29 at the St. Nicholas Club and of receiving from the former two checks, one for $22,000 and the other for $7,500, both drawn upon the Lenox Hill bank, and signed by Simmons. Pell gave them to him and told him to give them to the cashier of the Lenox Hill bank in payment for the thirty-one bonds removed by him. As to his election, Wallack said that Pell told him Simmons intended to buy the bank and asked him whether he would be its President. He replied that he knew little about the banking business, but Pell said: "You'll soon pick that up."

"Do you mean the bank or the business?" asked the recorder.

"He means the bank, of course," replied Col. Fellows, and even the witness smiled.

While President, he said, he had arranged with Pell that such checks as he sent to the bank by messenger should be certified and returned, and he thus sent to the firm checks varying in amount from $50,000 or $60,000 to $100,000 and over. They were all signed by John Saterlee & Co., W. M. Kilduff, J. K. Watson, James A. Simmons, or Pell himself.

THE SUGAR TRUST IS ILLEGAL.

The Courts Will Refuse to Enforce Such an Agreement.

NEW YORK, May 20.—[Special.]—Judge Ingraham, in Supreme Court, special term, has sustained the demurrer interposed by the Oxnard Bros.' company (one of the members of the Sugar Trust) to the complaint of Henry Winthrop Gray, the receiver of the North River Sugar-Refining company. This suit was brought by Receiver Gray to have the trust deed declared illegal, to have the copartnership dissolved, and for an accounting of the assets and profits of the entire trust. It affected every member of the combine. His claim is that the trust is in violation of law and against public policy.

The demurrer to the complaint, among other things, declared that the receiver did not have legal capacity to bring such a suit, and, further, that the complaint did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

Judge Ingraham decides against the receiver, but gives him leave to amend his complaint. He says that the trust agreement is an illegal one, and the court has held that it was created for an unlawful object. Such an agreement the courts will not enforce. The wrong is a continuing one, and is now doing harm to the people who are interested in suppressing it. While the courts will not lend their aid to the enforcement of an illegal contract, he says, yet they will not allow the fact that all the parties before the courts are wrongdoers to be used as a weapon to secure the continuance of a public wrong. The receiver not being a party to the illegal agreement, and not continuing the business under it, has no interest in having it canceled. As receiver he cannot enforce the right to have an accounting because of the illegality of the agreement. He has no right that a court of equity can enforce to justify a decree that the contract should be canceled or declared illegal.

GEN. ALGER VISITING EASTERN POSTS.

He Gives His Views on the Michigan Political Situation.

NEW YORK, May 20.—[Special.]—Gen. Russell A. Alger, Commander of the G. A. R., arrived at the Fifth Avenue Hotel today from Detroit on his way to Providence, R. I., where he will be tendered a grand reception next Saturday afternoon and a banquet in the evening. The occasion is a meeting of the G. A. R. men of the State, and Gen. Alger has been specially invited as their guest. Campfires will be lighted, and many of the most prominent veterans of the war will be present to welcome the Commander.

Before he goes to Providence he will visit Newport by invitation and be present at the unveiling of the soldiers' monument next Friday. The General has just returned from a long trip on the Pacific coast, where he attended G. A. R. encampments. In conversation with a reporter he said:

"The tide of immigration that is pouring into the Far West is wonderfully large. People from the New England, Middle, and Southern States are settling up the country rapidly."

"Did you hear that Minister Palmer of your State was back from Spain?"

"Yes, and I hear that he is going to resign. I do not blame him. His health has not been good, and that makes a big difference to a man."

"Mr. Palmer says that he is not a candidate for Governor. Will that make any changes in the political outlook in Michigan?"

"It will reduce the number of Republican candidates for Governor by one. There are several in the field yet for nomination. Whoever is nominated by the Republicans will be elected. The Democrats of course talk bravely about carrying the State this fall, but they will not. They have indulged in that kind of talk so long that it has no weight. Michigan is still a Republican State, and will give a good majority for the Republican candidate for Governor."

GENERAL METROPOLITAN NEWS.

Remarkable Action of Joseph Meeks at the New York Bar.

NEW YORK, May 20.—[Special.]—Joseph Meeks is no longer a member of the legal profession. He resigned as an attorney and counselor of the Supreme Court today and his resignation was accepted.

This is the most extraordinary step that has ever been taken by a New York attorney, and it is probably the first of its kind on record. Meeks undoubtedly felt that it would be useless for him to attempt to oppose the proceedings to disbar him, and to relieve the court of any further trouble and obviate the necessity of going through the formality of defending the charge be took the best way of getting out of the trouble by resigning. He never practiced extensively in the courts of this State, but has acted as referee in many actions. In all of these cases, he states, including the now celebrated Flack case, he conscientiously endeavored to obey the law and the mandates of the State courts, and excepting in the Flack case no official act of his has ever been called in question.

Naval Officers Discontented.

A private letter received in this city from an officer on board the United States steamer Atlanta of the squadron of evolution, referring to the published reports of discontent on board the men-of-war, says: "Discontent undoubtedly prevails to a great extent in the squadron among both officers and men, but it is not due to the causes already published. Among the officers it is due to a rather arbitrary commander-in-chief, who overlooks no mistakes. Among the men it is due to the presence of a larger than usual number of landsmen and merchant sailors who are unused to naval discipline."

Wants Restitution of $3,000,000.

The old suit of John R. Duff against Hutchinson & Kennedy, brokers, the trial of which caused such a stir in financial circles, was brought to memory again today by an argument in the Supreme Court general term upon the appeal from a judgment at the special term dismissing the complaint in which decision was reserved. The suit is for an accounting and the restitution of $3,000,000 which Mr. Duff claims is owing to him by Hutchinson & Kennedy in stock transactions.

Reynolds Dies of His Wounds.

Clinton G. Reynolds, the lawyer of No. 55 Wall street who was shot in his office Thursday last by a young Spaniard named Alphonse Joseph Stephanie, died this morning at 3 o'clock at the Chambers Street Hospital. There were present when he died his wife and nephew and Dr. Stimpson of Orange, N. J., where Mr. Reynolds formerly lived, and House Surgeon Cole.

Stephanie was taken before Coroner Levy this morning and remanded to the Tombs to await the result of the inquest. He has broken down completely.

Clinton G. Reynolds was a descendant of one of the oldest families in Essex County, New Jersey. He was the son of Daniel Reynolds and was born in 1832. He entered Princeton College in 1852, and studied law in the office of Frederick Frelinghuysen, Secretary of State under Arthur, in Newark. After two years there he left for a New York office to complete his studies. He was admitted to the bar in 1860, and then went to Red Wing, Minn., where he made money by purchasing old soldiers' warrants for land and disposing of them. He became very active in politics there, and was a leading candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress, but failed of the nomination by a few votes. This soured him with the place and he sold out his connections there and soon afterward opened a law office in New York, where he has ever since practiced. He built up one of the largest and most lucrative practices in the city and made money rapidly. He leaves a widow and three sons—Edward G. of the firm of Vanderbilt & Reynolds in New York; the Rev. George Reynolds, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Arthur G., who has always lived at home.

The Broken Bucket-Shop to Resume.

It is not easy to squelch a bucket-shop. When they don't pay their debts and are forced to shut up shop under one name they speedily begin business again in another office and under another style. That is what the so-called Public Grain and Stock Exchange of New York, limited, popularly known as the "Big Four," is going to do. President Charles H. Platt, who still insists that his company is solvent, said today that the concern would resume business June 1 in a different office and under a new name. The Sheriff being in possession of the office and the books of the Public Grain and Stock Exchange in the Wells Building, the "Big Four" will start afresh and give the countrymen a chance to lose their money in stock gambling, with the odds largely in favor of the dealers. Mr. Platt today told an interesting story of the origin of the Owego trouble, which has closed up his concern. He makes a serious charge against C. A. Thompson, cashier of the Owego National Bank. Mr. Platt accuses Cashier Thompson of having used his position in the bank to conspire with John F. Dee, the bucket-shop manager at Owego and the "Big Four's" representative, to obtain money from the New York concern by fraudulent representations in claiming to have received deposits of margin on stocks when no such money had been put up.

The Inspector or the Milk-Man.

The Fassett Committee struck milk today. The fact was testified to that Dr. Levings and Dr. Osborne, two milk inspectors, had proposed to Henry H. Intemann, a clerk in the employ of the Lake Milk Company, that he should obtain from the company $300, give them $100 each and keep $100 himself, and in return for their share of the "divvy" they would guarantee the company protection for three months. This was Intemann's story, and it was sustained by corroborative evidence. Intemann said that he went into the scheme to catch the inspectors in a trap.

The inspectors' side of the story was to the effect that the proposition came from Intemann himself, and that they dallied with it to catch Intemann in a trap. Their version was sustained by Dr. Martin, the chemist to the Board of Health.

The members of the committee present were Senators Fassett, Stewart, McNaughton, and Burkett.

An Admiral's Grandson in Trouble.

John Popoff, who, it is alleged, shot pretty Mary Petnikovsky because she preferred the attentions of another man, sat at the bar in the Court of General Sessions all day listening to much evidence of a damaging nature against him. The shooting occurred last January at Mary's home, No. 163 Stanton street. Popoff at the time of the killing and ever since stoutly maintained that the shooting was accidental. He is said to be a grandson of Admiral Popoff of Russia. He served in the Russian army for a number of years and finally deserted and wandered about the globe. He went to Paris, Berlin, London, and other places before coming to this country, and is said to have led a gay, reckless career.

Crashed Into an Iceberg.

The English steamship Beacon Light, engaged in the oil-carrying trade, came staggering into port today with 1,500 tons of sea water in her hold and her prow torn and twisted from the force of a blind lunge at an iceberg at sea. At 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, when the fog seemed impenetrable, a horrified cry came from the forward lookout that there was a massive iceberg dead ahead. In a twinkling the ship's machinery was stopped; then worked astern to its full capacity. The helmsman threw the wheel hard a-port, and the ship's crew rushed on deck to await the certain collision.

While the headway of the steamer was still unchecked she rose from the sea and crashed through and partly over a submerged ledge of the mammoth berg. For a moment the vessel stopped, and the wall of ice swayed as it received the shock. The collision disturbed a mass of overhanging ice which projected from the top of the frozen mountain, ninety feet in the air. It came tumbling down with awful force upon the powerless steamer's deck and crashed through into the forward hold, tearing every timber in its path. Capt. Elliott set the pumps working, and, although the steamer took in water rapidly, he determined to stand by her and bring her into port.

Fighting for Control of the C., H. & D.

A highly interesting fight is going on between Russell Sage and Alfred Sully for the control of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad at the next election, which is to be held June 17. There are 40,000 shares in the company. Of these the Sage party hold about 17,000 and the Sully party an equal number. The other 6,000 are supposed to be in the hands of the general public, and there is a scurrying for the proxies on them. Mr. Sage says that Mr. Sully, who owns a very large interest in the Terre Haute and Peoria railroad, wants to sell that property to the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton for twice its value. Sully's partisans declare that they oppose the Sage party because the latter have a plan to sell the road to the "Big Four," and also because Sage is against certain other alliances and arrangements that would be good for the road.

President Ingalls of the "Big Four" says his line does not want the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton at any price, nor has Mr. Sage ever offered to sell the "Big Four" a controlling interest in the line.

The Third National Bank All Right.

A rumor reached Wall street by way of Chicago this afternoon that the Third National Bank of this city was "in trouble." President William Booth, when his attention was called to the Chicago story, promptly and emphatically denied it. There appears to be just this much foundation for the story—dissatisfaction on the part of certain stockholders with the present condition of the bank and a strong desire for a change of policy. The bank is not "in trouble," however; it is perfectly sound and solvent. It is said that it is no longer very profitable, and many of the stockholders are in favor of reducing the present capitalization of $300,000 to $200,000 and retiring President Booth in favor of a younger man.

To Restore East-Bound Rates.

There was a conference today between the Trunk Line Executive Committee and a number of lake representatives with a view to effecting the restoration of fifth and sixth class east-bound business from Chicago to the seaboard. It was agreed to restore the former lake and rail rate on fifth and sixth class freight, thus making it 25 and 20 cents from Chicago to New York. The Central Traffic Association has been asked to follow suit in the matter.

New York Notes.

Patrick McCann, a witness in the Tammany scandal, says he is prepared to go on the stand and give some testimony of an interesting nature to Mayor Grant and the others.

Mrs. Harry Hilliard, wife of the tenor, has eloped with Eugene Case, the well-known sporting man. They are now on the way to Europe. Hilliard does not seem to be worried over the matter.

Hinton B. Helper has brought suit against William G. Ford Jr., Louis P. Levy, and William Timeson to recover $30,322 as commission for procuring a purchaser for 303,226 acres of land in Mississippi.

William H. Terry is locked up here. He represented himself as an agent for the Chicago Loan company and swindled applicants for loans on furniture by taking small fees and then refusing loans on the goods he examined.

OHIO REPUBLICANS ARE CONFIDENT.

Time and Place for Holding the State Convention Fixed.

COLUMBUS, O., May 20.—[Special.]—The Republican State Central Committee, with every district represented, met at the rooms of the Lincoln League this evening and fixed the time and place for the coming State Convention. Three cities claimed the convention—Cincinnati, Cleveland, and Columbus. The choice fell upon Cleveland on the second ballot. The date was fixed for Wednesday, July 16. By a unanimous vote ex-Gov. Foraker was named as Temporary Chairman.

Reports from all over the State show Republicans to be in excellent fighting condition and eager for the opening of the campaign. Especially is this true of Cincinnati, Cleveland, Toledo, Springfield, and other cities where the Republicans lost heavily last fall by reason of the defection of the German vote. There was a feeling that there would be no opposition to the nomination of Dan J. Ryan for Secretary of State, and Judge T. A. Minshall for Supreme Judge.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The Prohibitionists of McLean County held a convention today. Delegates were selected to the State Convention. A resolution was offered condemning the Rev. Dr. J. L. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, for recent utterances, but was laid on the table.

GREENVILLE, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The Bond County Democratic Convention was held in this city today. Following are the delegates to the State convention: C. D. Hailes, Vallee Harold, and W. H. Taylor. W. H. Dawdy was indorsed for representative. The convention indorsed John M. Palmer for United States Senator.

ALTON, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The Madison County Democratic Convention yesterday instructed for John M. Palmer for United States Senator and for W. S. Forman, the incumbent, for Congress.

Sixth District Committee to Meet Today.

The Sixth Senatorial District Committee will meet today and will probably call a convention for the selection of delegates and the nomination of two Representatives about the 10th of June. The district embraces the part of the Twentieth Ward north of North avenue, the Twenty-first Ward, that part of the Twenty-second Ward east of Sedgwick street, that part of the Twenty-third Ward lying east of Franklin street, the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth Wards, and Evanston. George Baker of Evanston and Jacob Miller will be the nominees for Representatives.

R. H. Muir of Clyde and William Thiemann of Elk Grove are likely to be the nominees for Representatives in the Seventh District next week. Thiemann is a German Lutheran.

Ex-County-Attorney E. R. Bliss is being urged to become a candidate for Representative in the Second District. He would be an able and useful member.

The meeting of the County Committee will probably be postponed till Friday or Saturday in order to give the time required by the rule for the issue of notices. Some of the members of the County Committee are disposed to resent the action of the district committees in proposing to call a Senatorial convention.

Milwaukee Democrats Active.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 20.—[Special.]—The Democrats of Milwaukee are already actively at work preparing for the fall campaign. The old organization of a County Committee is to give place to a new one, the preliminary steps for the organization of which were taken at a secret meeting held in the Juneau Club rooms tonight. A committee of eighteen was appointed to report the names of five members from each ward and town, the entire membership of 120 to constitute the Central Committee.

Republican Pow-Wow at Rockford.

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The Republicans of this county will hold a big pow-wow in this city next Friday. The County Central Committee will then decide upon the date for the County Republican Convention. Republicans from all over the county have been invited to attend and hold a meeting on the order of the annual State meeting held in Chicago.

Want Postmaster Warner Removed.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 20.—[Special.]—The Republican General Committee adopted resolutions tonight urging the removal of Gen. James M. Warner as Postmaster, because he retains Democrats in the post-office. Gen. Warner is a stout advocate of civil-service reform.

THE TEXAN GOVERNOR WILL DO HIS DUTY

He Replies to Secretary Blaine Concerning the Frontier Courts.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 20.—[Special.]—M. Romero, Mexican Minister, under date of April 24 and under instructions from his Government, addressed a note to Secretary Blaine proposing that the local authorities on both sides of the frontier should abstain from interfering in the settlement of questions affecting the boundaries between the two countries and confine themselves to bringing the matter to the notice of the Federal Government. Secretary Blaine transmitted M. Romero's letter to the Governor of Texas. Acting-Governor Wheeler today replied to Secretary Blaine, in which he says that while he entirely acquiesces in the report of leaving all questions involving the settlement of the boundary with the National Government, yet if it is meant that steps shall be taken by the Executive looking to limiting the jurisdiction of the courts or attempt to impede their legitimate functions then he must decline to affirmatively accept such views or act in conformity therewith as being outside of his constitutional authority. Otherwise he should do what he could to encourage the friendly feelings on the part of the citizens of his State and the Mexican neighbors.

PETROLEUM MAKES A JUMP ON 'CHANGE.

A Ten-Cent Rise Makes Pittsburg Speculators Nervous.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 20.—[Special.]—Speculation in petroleum pipe-line certificates has been very lively for the last two days. Yesterday the market jumped from 88¾ cents a barrel to 94½, and today there was a further advance to 96½, the market closing at 94¾. The last memorable advance was in June, 1889, when the market jumped 20 cents in as many minutes. There was a nervous feeling before today's opening, and when the gong sounded there was the usual mad rush and bustle about the bull ring. The opening sales were at an advance of half a cent over yesterday's closing prices. N. W. Stevenson bought 60,000 barrels in half an hour. Street rumor has it that a well-known Pittsburg producer originated the boom, and that his crowd has money ready to absorb all the oil afloat. Some good-sized loans have recently been made on oil in local banks.

Failure of a Dry Dock Company.

CINCINNATI, O., May 20.—The Cincinnati Dry Dock company, at No. 371 Eastern avenue, assigned today to Paris C. Brown. Assets estimated at $20,000; liabilities the same. The assignment was hastened by the recent death of its President, Hercules Carrell.

SIMS HIS OWN ATTORNEY.

"DOC" DEFENDS HIMSELF IN JUSTICE HAMBURGHER'S COURT.

A Partial Hearing of the Election Fraud Charges Against Him—D. H. McDaneld Tells of a Proposition Made Him by the Prisoner-Counsel—Testimony of J. R. Devine and Adam Best—The Cross-Examination Conducted by the Accused—The Grand Jury.

"Doc" Sims was again before Justice Hamburgher yesterday to answer to the charge of committing election frauds in the Twenty-fourth Ward. Sims insisted on a hearing, and, the State's-Attorney not objecting, the case was gone into to some extent. Mr. Longenecker, however, did not care to expose his hand and only produced such witnesses as were necessary to establish a prima facie case. Sims conducted his own defense. It was apparent that he will try to make it appear during the hearing that he is the innocent victim of wicked election judges. He admitted that fraud was committed in the precinct at which he officiated, but added that it must have been one of the other fellows who committed it. The upshot of yesterday's hearing was that Justice Hamburgher took the case under advisement until Saturday.

In the meantime it is not unlikely that the grand jury will pay some attention to Sims and his associates. The most serious part of the charge as presented yesterday was that Sims took in the ballots at the window and left fifteen unnumbered. Thirteen of those were afterwards destroyed because thirteen more ballots were found in the box than the poll list indicated. The thirteen ballots destroyed were for the Republican candidates.

M'DANELD ON THE STAND.

The hearing came up at 3 o'clock. Sims and his bondsman, George Wilson, were both in court. Mr. Longenecker called D. H. McDaneld as his first witness. The latter said:

"I live at No. 204 Dearborn avenue and am in the hide and wool business. I was a candidate for Alderman on the Republican ticket in the Twenty-fourth Ward at the last election. Mr. Sims met me at the Superior Billiard-Hall a few nights before election. He said he wanted to talk to me about an important matter, but it wouldn't do there, as some of his party might see him. I said that if his business was so important he could come to my house. He did so half an hour later. He asked me if I wanted to be elected Alderman. I told him yes, and thought the people would elect me. He said not this spring; that there was a machine that would beat me unless it was fixed, and it would cost me $300 to do it. If I would give him the money he would see that I was elected. He had a document he wanted me to sign. I didn't read it, but it was to swear me to secrecy if I accepted his offer."

"You called it off, did you?" inquired the State's-Attorney.

"Yes; I didn't want to be elected that way."

"When did you next meet Mr. Sims?"

"It was the day of election. He was judge of election in my precinct, the Eighth; he took my vote."

Sims, who had been taking brief notes of Mr. McDaneld's testimony, went back to first principles when he cross-examined the witness.

"Where did you first meet me, Mr. McDaneld?" he asked.

Mr. McDaneld didn't remember, and Mr. Sims couldn't convince him that they met two years ago during Hempstead Washburne's candidacy for Congress.

"Didn't you copy some names I gave you?" asked Sims.

"No; I don't remember. I didn't see any you gave me, anyway."

"Now, see here, a square question. Didn't you copy twenty-one names I gave you of people who were to be colonized at the Hotel Superior and Mitchell's? Didn't I tell you that I didn't want my handwriting to come in?"

"No, I don't remember."

"Now see here," pleaded Mr. Sims, "didn't you copy those names? Don't you remember that I gave you those for friendship, and said that if you would pay me for my time I would find out all the rest of the scheme for you."

"Yes, I remember you were going to put me on to the scheme if I 'came down.'"

Sims gave up the tussle right away.

A JUDGE OF ELECTION.

J. R. Devine of No. 199 Dearborn avenue, a white-haired old man who was the Republican judge of election at the Eighth Precinct, was the next witness. It was a few minutes after 6 o'clock a. m. when he reached the polls, and Sims was already there, acting as clerk and judge both. After the other clerk came Sims acted as judge only. Witness didn't know how he was appointed. Most of the day he took in the tickets at the window, but he was away three times. At 4 o'clock his polls were closed and the ballots separated.

"What did you find out then?" asked the State's-Attorney.

"We found fifteen ballots that were not numbered—thirteen more than there were votes registered. Thirteen were Republican and two Democratic."

"What did you do then?"

"Well, we were two votes short when those not numbered were taken out, and we put in two of those to make up."

"What kind?"

"Republican."

"Then you threw out eleven Republican and two Democratic ballots?"

"Yes."

The witness testified that these ballots were burned up and that he had not notified the Election Commissioners of the matter. He did not know as any of the others had sent in any notification of the matter. The cross-examination was short and sweet.

"You are the Republican judge of election at the Eighth Precinct?" asked Sims.

"Yes, sir."

"I have no questions to ask you, Mr. Devine."

Sims' tone was so reproachful that the witness was dazed, and when the Justice asked him if he was posted on the law relating to the duties of the election judges he said he "didn't think he was very well."

Adam Best, who was the Republican Captain of challengers at the Eighth Precinct, but is now in the office of Sam Chase, Democratic North Town Assessor, was the next witness. He knew nothing of what went on inside the polls before 4 o'clock p. m. He was there while the ballots were counted. He corroborated Mr. Devine's testimony, and added that the ballots which were thrown out were not destroyed by Mr. Sims but by the Democratic challenger, Mr. Martin. There was no cross-examination. After Mr. Best left the stand there was a moment's delay while Mr. Longenecker consulted with Charles Harpel.

BOTH WERE THROUGH.

"Well, are you through?" asked Mr. Sims of the State's Attorney.

"Yes."

"So am I."

The State's Attorney then mildly admitted that there was no evidence that the defendant was the judge who had taken the tickets and not marked them, at which Mr. Sims looked virtuous.

"What do you say anything about it for then?" he cried. "There's no evidence."

"But one of you judges did it," continued Mr. Longenecker more sternly, "and whichever one of you it was ought to go to the penitentiary."

Justice Hamburger announced that as he was acquainted with the evidence there was no use in either side taking time to discuss it, and as he wanted to look up the Election law thoroughly he would reserve his decision. Mr. Longenecker admitted that there was nothing in the evidence of Mr. McDaneld on which a conviction could be secured. Sims was released on the reduced bail of $1,000.

James McKinney was less lucky in securing a hearing before Justice Going, who granted the State's-Attorney a continuance of nine days. He was still less lucky in the matter of getting bail, his former bondsman, John Carroll, failing to show up for a second trip, and McKinney had to go to jail.

Reed, another of the suspects, made terms with the State's-Attorney and was accordingly released yesterday on the surety of his sister and David C. Wilson, who were not required to schedule.

The May grand jury was impaneled yesterday morning by Judge Grinnell, who excused R. H. Vickers because he is a practicing lawyer; Mr. Vandercook, because he is over age; and Nic Morris, because he was until recently a member of the police force. Mr. Vickers protested against being excused. He thought he was a competent grand juror. Judge Grinnell did not notice the protest. Nic Morris, the ex-policeman, is now a saloonkeeper and was drawn by Commissioner Edmanson.

THE SUBSTITUTES.

Lemuel C. Canfield, George W. Todd, and John B. Wiggins were substituted for the three excused. As there was nothing of special importance to come before the jury at that time Judge Grinnell said he would make no observations. He merely directed the attention of the jurors to the terms of their oaths of service. If important special business was brought before them he would again have an opportunity of addressing them. No election fraud cases were presented during the day. It is probable that this class of cases will not be reached till tomorrow.

The following gentlemen were sworn in as jurors: R. D. Corlett, foreman; Henry Gips, Henry Loffel, J. J. Kennedy, Patrick O'Leary, John Butler, John Murphy, P. J. Hannon, F. Gebbard, Thomas W. Sanders, M. J. O'Leary, John B. Beiffeldt, William Edelstein, J. J. Higgins, John B. Murphy, August Moidenhoun, Joseph Kelly, John W. Brown, H. F. Gehrke, L. C. Canfield, George W. Todd, and J. B. Wiggins.

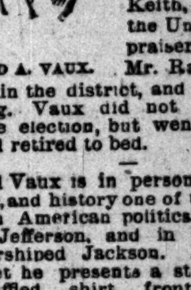
In the morning Mr. Longenecker had a long and satisfactory interview with F. J. Loesch of the Marquette Club committee. It appears that this committee has had unexpected success in its efforts to aid the State's-Attorney. It has been able to reach some persons who have rather interesting evidence to impart.

Ald. McAbee has retained Mills & Ingham to defend him. Mike Corcoran expects to secure W. J. Hynes.

CONGRESSMAN RANDALL'S SUCCESSOR.

Richard Vaux, a Free-Trade Democrat, Elected with No Opposition.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 20.—[Special.]—The election for Congressman in the Third District to succeed the late Samuel J. Randall was the quietest affair ever known here. The Republicans made no opposition to Richard Vaux, the Democratic candidate, and he had a go-as-you-please, polling 8,001 votes, against 285 for his highest opponent, Charles P. Keith, Chief Clerk in the United States Appraiser's office. In 1888 Mr. Randall had 17,642 votes in the district, and there were 112 scattering. Vaux did not bother himself about the election, but went home at sundown and retired to bed.



RICHARD A. VAUX.

Richard Vaux is in personal appearance, character, and history one of the most unique figures in American politics. In his youth he knew Jefferson, and in his early manhood worshiped Jackson. Passing along the street he presents a striking picture, with ruffled shirt front, immaculate broadcloth suit, low patent leather shoes tied with a broad black silk ribbon, and a wealth of half brown, half silver hair flowing in lional locks upon his shoulders from beneath a high silk hat. There are as many stories told of Vaux as of Lincoln, all of which are picturesque and characteristic, and most of them true.

Mr. Vaux was born Dec. 19, 1816, in Philadelphia. He was the first law student of William M. Meredith, and was admitted to the bar at the age of 20. Going to Europe shortly afterward, he took a package of papers from John Forsyth, Secretary of State under President Van Buren, to the United States Minister at the Court of St. James, Andrew Stevenson of Virginia. One of the dispatches directed that the Secretary of the Legation should be sent to another post, and to his surprise and despite his protest Minister Stevenson made young Vaux Secretary of the Legation. He filled the office until the following year, when Benjamin Rush was sent out from the United States.

In March, 1840, he was chosen a delegate to the convention which nominated Martin Van Buren for the Presidency. At the State Convention in Harrisburg there was a contest between the Van Buren and Johnson elements, and in the committee appointed on resolutions to bring about harmony there sat together Simon Cameron, Hendrick B. Wright, Morrow B. Lowry, John W. Forney, Mr. Van Amridge, and Richard Vaux.

He began the practice of his profession, but in 1841 was appointed Recorder of the city. Upon his appointment the Whig Councils removed all salaries and emoluments from the office. Mr. Vaux did not want the office, but this action against him as a pronounced Democrat induced him to take it, and he filled the position for seven years. His volume, "Recorders' Decisions," is a legal treasure. No decision rendered by him during his term of office was ever reversed.

In 1842 the Supreme Court appointed him Inspector of the Eastern Penitentiary. It was in 1842 also that he was first nominated for Mayor by the Democrats, but he led a forlorn hope. In 1845 he again ran against Swift (Whig) and Peter A. Brown (native American). Swift was elected. In 1854 the Democrats nominated him by the Crawford County system, but the native Americans brought about his defeat. In 1856 he defeated Henry D. Moore. The city was consolidated in 1854, and upon Mayor Vaux devolved much of the work for the organization of the new municipality. Mr. Vaux was renominated, but the Lecompton question arising, he was defeated by Alexander Henry.

In 1858 he was chosen one of the Directors of Girard College, and the following year succeeded Morton McMichael as President of the Board. Mr. Vaux differed with President Buchanan as to the latter's policy, and during that Presidential term he remained practically inactive.

Mr. Vaux will go to Congress on the antipode of a Randall platform, seeing that the resolutions adopted contained the following: Both parties have solemnly promised the people tariff revision and revenue reduction, and we demand that the pledge shall be kept by Congress by free raw materials for industries, the removal of all needless taxes on the necessaries of life, and the reduction of all tariff taxes which have bred and fostered monopoly combines.

BUFFALO TURF EXCHANGES ARE CLOSED.

Not Working on a Commission, So Their Business Is Illegal.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 20.—[Special.]—Of late this city has been infested with turf exchanges where betting was openly carried on on the running races at the leading tracks in the country. Stories of large losses became known to the Morning Express, which paper began a crusade against the turf commissioners, which resulted today in an order to close up. The business was carried on under guise of a commission business, but it was known that no commissions were charged, and therefore the business was illegal. There were three of these establishments, fitted up with every convenience, in the center of the city, where bookmaking was openly carried on. Today one place was closed entirely, and the others were running only on the Brooklyn races and on a strictly commission basis. Thousands of dollars have been lost by speculators in these rooms this spring.

DOCTORS IN SESSION AT NASHVILLE.

Annual Meeting of the American Medical Association—The Papers Read.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 20.—[Special.]—The American Medical Association met in this city today. It is estimated that more than 1,500 doctors were present. At the section meetings papers by Dr. W. R. McKenzie of Chester, Ill., and Dr. G. F. Lydston, Chicago, were read. The visitors were entertained at private residences and also given a reception at the State-House this evening. Excursions to the Hermitage and Belle Meade will be given during the session.

Mrs. Robert Brown was instantly killed at Silver City, N. M., yesterday by falling into a twenty-five foot well.

The St. Louis Police Board yesterday elected Maj. Lawrence Harrigan Chief of Police, vice Huebeler, reduced to the rank of Captain. Maj. Harrigan was Chief twice before.

Alfred Ryberg, an employé in the shops of the Shenandoah Valley railroad at Shenandoah, shot and instantly killed his wife in front of their residence in that place. The accused has been arrested.

An epidemic of hydrophobia exists among the dogs in Ritchie County, West Virginia. Several persons have been bitten and the excitement is intense. Thomas Dye shows signs of the malady. All dogs are being killed.

R. J. Cunningham, a citizen of Bedford County, Virginia, was shot and killed at Rocky Mountain yesterday by a woman named Octavia Hodges. She ordered him out of her house, and upon his refusing to leave she shot him dead.

By the falling of a platform on which was loaded the iron and fuel used in the cupola at the Shickle, Harrison & Howard Iron company, Twelfth and Papin streets, St. Louis, at noon yesterday, John Mulroy, the foreman, was instantly killed. Henry Higgins, a laborer, was perhaps fatally injured.

THEY PUMP OUR WATER.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN WATER-WORKS ASSOCIATION.

The Opening Session of the Tenth Convention Attended by Delegates from All Parts of the Country—Important Experiments with Scale in Boilers—Leadville Water-Pipes in Cold Weather—San Francisco and Oakland Water Supplies—New Members Elected.

The tenth annual meeting of the American Water-Works Association convened yesterday morning in the ladies' ordinary of the Grand Pacific Hotel, about 150 of the representatives of the municipal and private water-works companies from all over the Union and manufacturers of water-works machinery being present.

The city was represented by Controller Onahan, who welcomed the guests on behalf of Chicago. He promised them that by the time the World's Fair should be in operation in Chicago could be found the model municipality of the country. Mayor Cregier sent a letter in which he said that while they were here they would be furnished, free of charge, their favorite beverage—water. They were kind enough to laugh.

President Decker, in his address, reviewed the progress of the association during the decade of its existence, and said that the increase in water-works systems in that period had been little short of miraculous—fully 200 per cent. The capital now invested in water-works in this country amounted in round numbers to half a billion dollars, and the average returns in water rates were $50,000,000 annually.

Appropriate resolutions were adopted on the death of Past President J. G. Briggs.

IMPORTANT EXPERIMENTS.

William B. Bull of the Quincy Water-Works was last year made Chairman of a Committee on Electrical Devices for Boilers. Yesterday he delivered an interesting report of his experiments. His attention had been called to the apparatus for "aging" wine by an electro-magnetic current and he tried the same arrangement to see if he couldn't prevent scale from forming in boilers. After awhile he concluded to drop the electro-magnetic appliances and see what could be done with permanent magnets. So he rigged up an iron cylinder in which he made a series of "grids" of bar steel permanent magnets, through which the water fed to the boilers was made to pass. He found that instead of the mineral impurities of the water adhering to the boiler and the tubes it formed a soft sludge in the bottom and left the heating surface clean. He tried it on a boiler attached to a lime-burning establishment. The water came from a well sunk near by. It was pure, but it was excessively hard. The scale in that boiler was as hard as Portland cement. The application of the magnetic cylinder caused that hard scale to become as pliable as fresh mortar. It could be scraped out just as easily as a man could scrape off fresh mortar from a wall. It seemed to destroy the bond of the scale as ice is permeated by spiculæ when it has stood in the sun. The sludge under the microscope showed that it was a mass of irregularly crystallized particles. He had only three months' experimenting with the permanent magnates, but in six months' longer time in which to try its effect on other waters than those containing the carbonate of lime he believed that another use could be added to the lengthening list of magnetism.

Dr. Leeds called attention to the fact that about twenty-five years ago the Franklin Institute had experimented in this direction and had obtained promising results, but for some reason the promises had not been fulfilled and the matter had been dropped. The plan then in use was to fix permanent magnets in the crown sheet of the boiler, connecting them by wires to the forward sheet.

Mr. Bull in reply said that such a method could not be of permanent value because of the heat to which the magnets had been subjected. "Put the best permanent magnets in a temperature of a high pressure boiler," he said, "and in twenty-four hours they would be so much scrap iron. I have found that the best way, in fact the only way, to preserve the life of the magnet is to present the water to them, if not cold, at least before it has been heated to near the temperature of that in the boiler."

Mr. Bull was continued by unanimous vote on this committee for the next year.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

After luncheon S. P. Russell of St. Louis, Chairman of a committee appointed last year to fix a standard of sizes of water pipe, reported a schedule which would assist classification of the various styles of pipe. But instead of discussing the question the meeting got to arguing whether or not there was such a thing as a water-hammer. Mr. Lineen of Chicago thought it was a kind of myth and might be ignored. Mr. Benzenburg of Milwaukee had known of a water-hammer (caused by the sudden stoppage of a large flow of water) sending the pressure up from 20 pounds to 480 pounds to the square inch and breaking the pressure gauge. This a quarter of a mile away, too. Interjectedly between the speeches of various members J. Nelson Tubbs of Rochester, N. Y., informed the association that the only way to test a pipe was to take a steel pick weighing about four pounds and try to drive holes in the pipe. If the iron were not homogeneous the pick would go through.

It was finally decided to refer back the whole question to the committee, but Mr. Russell declined to undertake it, and the Chair will appoint another committee.

C. N. Priddy of Leadville, Colo., read a paper, commendable for its brevity and succinctness, on "Laying and maintaining mains, hydrants, and service-pipes in climates where the frost penetrates the ground deeper than the pipes."

PACIFIC COAST WATER SUPPLY.

L. J. Le Conte of Oakland, Cal., being absent Secretary Diven read an exhaustive and interesting paper prepared by Mr. Le Conte on: "The Contamination of Storage Water on the Pacific Coast and the Palliatives Resorted To." The water systems of Oakland and of San Francisco were the illustrations. Owing to the climate there the water used must be collected in large reservoirs during the wet season and to guard against famines the capacity must be such as will secure 900 days' supply. The bottoms of these large reservoirs become covered as deep as ten feet with a slime of decomposing animal and vegetable substances with strata of loam washed down by the rains. During the rainy season the drinking water is turbid, but in about two weeks it clarifies and is then quite good. As summer draws on it begins to ferment and teems with vegetable life, notably the green and slimy algæ. After that a putrefaction sets in and the odor is intolerable. The fish can hardly live in it, so deficient in free oxygen has the water become. Sand filters are impracticable, because they would so soon clog up. Cheese cloth filters are used in six thicknesses and a regular force of men is kept going night and day changing the filters. Mr. Le Conte recently discovered that it was possible to pump out the foul mud in the bottom of the reservoirs without roiling the upper water or necessitating the emptying of one-half of the reservoir, as was formerly done, the tank being divided by a partition wall for that purpose. The sludge is now drawn up through a hose, but the problem is now what to do with it. This decided the essayist thought it possible to use sand filters and thus have clean drinking water.

At the evening session Prof. Leeds of Hoboken discussed at length the paper of Mr. Le Conte. He opposed the system of storing water in stagnant pools, but recommended that the water be kept more on the move. Just how, Prof. Leeds did not fully explain. "The sooner the water gets into the goblet of the consumer the better," said the speaker in the course of his address. "If tanks there must be, they should be covered."

Mayor Haines of Newark made the concluding address of the evening and described the sources of the proposed water supply of Newark.

For the benefit of the visitors copies of Fire and Water, containing an illustrated article on Chicago's water system, were given out.

The following new members were elected at the two sessions yesterday: J. F. Alstulund, Moline, Ill.; D. A. B. Bailey, Findlay, O.; Millard F. Wright, Lowell, Mass.; H. S. Did Not Defraud Colorado.

VICTORIOUS WAITERS.

THE AUDITORIUM MANAGEMENT SURRENDERS TO THE ALLIANCE.

Some Other Hotels Also Fall Into Line—Large Real-Estate Transaction and Plans for a Fourteen-Story Building on Dearborn Street—A Great Crowd at the Auditorium Enthusiastically Cheers the Old Flag—Other Interesting Local News.

The colored waiters scored another victory yesterday. The Auditorium Hotel signed the union scale. This was a surprise, as the most strenuous opposition had been expected from that hotel above all others. Manager Southgate had been East for some time and the waiters thought he was putting in his time hiring men to take their places in case of a strike. It was to provide for a successful strike at the Auditorium that President Pomeroy of the Culinary Alliance went to New York, where he tried to organize the waiters at the Gilsey and Hoffman Houses, which are owned by the same interests as the Auditorium. Yesterday he telegraphed that the men at the Gilsey House would strike to back up the men at the Auditorium.

This action was made superfluous by Mr. Southgate's prompt compliance with the demands of the waiters. He did not sign the union scale, however, in exactly the form in which it was presented, but reached an understanding similar to that made at the Grand Pacific Hotel. He agreed to the advance in wages to $30 a month, limiting a day's work to twelve hours, and breakage charge to cost price. He recognized the union to the extent that he agreed to take union men if he could get the kind of men he wanted, but did not bind himself absolutely to employ none but union men.

The Brunswick Hotel, which employs about fifteen waiters, signed the roll without any opposition. At the Genesee House on North Clark street the demands of the men were refused, the manager saying he could hire girls cheaper. The waiters, numbering eight, walked out. The Genesee has been supplying the refreshments to the entertainments at Uhlich's Hall, which is used largely by labor organizations. The waiters will request all such organizations not to patronize the hotel any longer. At the Palmer House about fifteen or twenty new men have been engaged. The strikers' statement differs from that of the management. They claim that but seven out of the entire force remained in the first place. The strike at the Tremont House is complete. All the waiters have gone out and the bell-boys who were put in their places have refused to do the work. A temporary force has been recruited from the other branches of the service. None of the strikers have returned to the Commercial Hotel. A call was made at the Briggs House, and the union scale was signed.

An important meeting of the hotel and restaurant proprietors of Chicago is called at the Palmer House club-rooms at 3 o'clock today. Matters of interest to everybody in the business will be brought before the meeting. Every restaurant and hotel man is requested to be present.

The question of prison contract labor, which has often agitated labor organizations and political parties, is about to be taken into the courts. While only the legality of a certain contract, said to have been faulty, is questioned, it will involve a discussion of the entire question of convict contract labor.

The Harnessmakers' Union intends to bring suit against A. F. Risser & Co., manufacturers of harness and saddlery, to enjoin them from continuing under their contract in employing a large number of convicts at Joliet. The harnessmakers have been on strike for several weeks for an advance in wages. Risser & Co. are their most stubborn and successful opponents. The contract at the penitentiary enables the firm to resist the demands of the men with better success, as well as to compete on favorable terms with other firms. The price paid for the labor of a convict is 60 to 65 cents a day. Free laborers have been getting about $8.73 a week, or $1.45 a day, which their late demands have raised to $10 and $12 a week.

The recent investigation of the contracts at Joliet by a committee of the Trade and Labor Assembly has given the Harnessmakers' Union a point to base a suit on. It is claimed that the contract of A. F. Risser & Co. at Joliet would have expired last year. But in 1888, they claim, it was renewed for six years without awaiting its expiration. This, the harnessmakers will claim, was done by connivance with the authorities without advertising for bids for the contract in accordance with the statute, thus excluding competition and violating the law. Upon this ground the claim is made that the contract is not valid.

The reason for the haste in renewing this contract the suit will claim was that the constitutional amendment prohibiting convict contract labor was pending in the campaign of 1888, and the prospect was that it would be in force when the contract should expire.

It was stated by a member of the Carpenters' Council yesterday that John Ramke, a large contractor belonging to the old association of master builders, had called at the union headquarters and sought to come to terms; that he stated that the old association was in poor condition and was not getting enough men, and that most of those they got were bad workmen; and that he wanted to sign the union agreement for thirty days, which the union refused to allow unless he would sign for the year ending March 31, 1891, as the contract read. The council expected Ramke to come in today and sign the agreement.

At the headquarters of the old association this was denied and in proof it was added that Ramke's foreman and gang of workmen, all of whom were union men, had returned to work on the terms of the old association; also that Ramke attended the meeting of this body last night.

The plumbers decided to impose a fine of $15 on any member doing gasfitters' work, the reason being assigned that some plumbers in the employ of E. Baggot & Co., where gasfitters are on strike, had been put on gasfitters' work.

ENTHUSIASM AT THE AUDITORIUM.

A Vast Audience Cheers the Stars and Stripes—A Successful Entertainment.

Gov. Seymour used to say that the sight of the flag would rouse to enthusiasm an apparently apathetic recruit whom the most stirring speakers had failed to move. At the Auditorium last night at the war concert given for the benefit of the Oakland Rifles a sweet-voiced soprana sang the "Star Spangled Banner," and when at the end of the first verse the 300 members of the chorus rose, each waving a miniature copy of the flag immortalized in the song, the vast audience jumped to its feet and joined in a great cheering that drowned the melody and left place for nothing but the outburst of patriotism engendered by the bits of bunting. The Oakland Rifles are I and C companies of the Fourth Regiment, and the proceeds of the entertainment given last night are to be devoted to the wiping out of the debt of $2,000 which forms a disagreeable impediment to a command that prefers light marching order in all its duties. The Auditorium contained but few empty seats, and the chances are the indebtedness will be paid off and a surplus left for the purchase of full dress suits for the two companies. The program was simply a list of all the well-known war and patriotic songs of America, with an addendum of names of singers and musicians that promised a treat in the interpretation. The artists taking part were G. Katzenberger, conductor; Mrs. Anna Katzenberger, soprana; Schumann Ladies' Quartet, Lotus Male Quartet, Clarence Eddy, organist; the Fourth Regiment Band and Bugle Corps, and the Chicago Oratorio Society.

The Bugle Corps gave all the calls from reveillé to taps and one or two new quicksteps. The singing was alternately by the vocal artists mentioned. Capt. Tolman put Company C through a drill, involving movements unknown to tactics, that was given with admirable precision. At the close of the entertainment the entire audience joined in the singing of "America."

Col. Bennitt of the Fourth and Col. Koch of the First were present with many of the field and line officers of the same and other regiments.

THE CANAL CAPACITY MATTER.

Peculiar Features of the Action of the Commissioners—What Will Be Done?

Commissioner Purdy accepts as conclusive the verbal report of Engineer Northway to the effect that the Canal Commissioners will receive no more water from Chicago than is now being sent down. He said yesterday: "Our idea was to create a capacity of 14,000 cubic feet per minute for each 100,000 of population and we were ready to give a flow of 80,000 cubic feet of water through the canal. The reply of the board makes this impossible, but the board had nothing else to do. The canal is now in some places full and the water is running flush (!) with the banks. We have no right to raise the banks of the canal and we are in a peculiar position. The State Board of Health says the city must send more water down the valley, and the Canal Commissioners say we cannot send any more through the canal. There is nothing to do but to await the next session of the Legislature. That body may possibly be induced to take such action as may help us out."

The action of the Canal Commissioners in view of the past declarations of Superintendant Layton of the commission and the declarations of some of the members thereof is regarded as peculiar. Along last winter Mr. Layton said the canal could accommodate 80,000 cubic feet of water per minute. Mr. Northway says that only about 50,000 cubic feet per minute are being sent down now. Mr. Layton is now in Omaha and could not be reached yesterday to explain his change of front. Mr. Louis Hutt, the Chicago member of the Canal Board, is also out of town. Until they are heard from Mr. Northway's statement as to their verbal communication will not be accepted as conclusive.

IMPORTANT REAL-ESTATE DEALS.

A $150,000 Sale and Plans for a Fourteen-Story Building.

A $150,000 sale of Dearborn street property was made yesterday, and in connection with the transaction is the plan for the erection of another fourteen-story building. Seventy-five feet on the east side of Dearborn street, near Harrison street, and running through to Third avenue, was sold by James A. Murphy to James W. Ellsworth for $150,000. The sale was negotiated by Robert Bruce. This price of $2,000 per foot is the highest ever paid for Dearborn street property south of Van Buren street. The lot is only sixty-seven feet deep, so the purchase price puts a value of nearly $30 per square foot on the land. No business property in the city has developed more rapidly of late than Dearborn street south of Van Buren street. Three weeks ago over 300 feet of frontage changed hands in that vicinity at an average of not much over $1,000 per foot. Since the announcement of those sales and of the intention of the owners to put up high buildings values have taken a great jump. The property which Mr. Murphy has sold for $150,000 was purchased by him in 1886 for $70,000. Mr. Ellsworth contemplates the erection of a fourteen-story building on the property, but has not yet matured his plans for that.

The sale was recorded yesterday of twelve blocks at South Park avenue and Eighty-third street from D. B. Fisk to O. C. Wells for $160,000.

The Chicago Cricket Club was yesterday granted a permit to erect a two-story club-house on Seventy-first street, near Seipp avenue, to cost $5,000.

GLEANINGS IN LOCAL FIELDS.

Mr. Platt on Picture Production.

Mr. George W. Platt lectured yesterday at the Art Institute, his subject being "Some Laws of Picture Construction." He said that, although the changes which painters make in their pictures seem to be without method, each touch should be governed by law. The parts should be put together so that they will please the eye, and to gain that end form and line, light and shade must be properly subordinated each to the others. The unity of a picture is very important; it should never have two equally strong effects, and the sinking of some part is necessary to the relief of others. Tone was described to be the influence upon a picture of one quality of light and one effect of atmosphere. The lightening effect of distance upon color was emphasized, and the importance of maintaining the proper relation between foreground and distance.

Mr. Platt made several charcoal sketches illustrative of his theories, and of the laws of perspective, composition, and tone. He ended the lecture by giving stereopticon views from works of the great masters.

June 3 Miss Josephine C. Locke will lecture at the same place upon "Color and Symbolism."

A Hungry Democratic Town Board.

At the meeting of the Finance Committee of the County Board yesterday the request of the South Town Board that the County Clerk be directed to extend on the tax books an assessment of $40,000 for South Town purposes was considered and acted on favorably. There is no warrant of law, however, for this action. The South Town meeting regularly convened did not authorize a levy for any purpose whatever. A mob which met on the sidewalk went through the form of doing so, but that cuts no figure. The South Town has gone on without levying an assessment for about five years. Now that a Democratic board is in there is a new departure. The claim is made that there are some debts left over from the last board. These do not in the aggregate amount to a great deal. If the South Town office is economically administered this year the 2 per cent on collections will pay the entire expenses. There is no occasion for the illegal tax levy.

Illinois Industrial Training-School Affairs.

The officers and directors of the Illinois Industrial Training School for Boys met at the Grand Pacific yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Amos G. Sears and Frank H. Follansbee were elected to the Board of Directors to serve for three years.

The Building Committee reported that the seven new buildings at Glenwood, the future home of the school, would be ready for occupancy by June 15. There are now 384 boys in the school, and during the year just past homes have been secured for 135 others. The Rev. Frank Gunsaulus, the Rev. Dr. Thomas, John T. Dale, John T. Chumasero, Mrs. Abigail Blaine, Mrs. C. W. Wallace, and others made congratulatory remarks upon the work accomplished and the bright prospects for the future of the school.

Another Cronin Story.

The "man who drove the white horse" has again escaped the police. Chief Marsh has for some time been in correspondence with an American in Mexico, who claimed to have located the Cronin fugitive living there in fancied security. The clew was thought to be a good one and Detectives Ben Williams and John Broderick started for Mexico May 2 armed with the necessary papers to make the capture. They were accompanied by Mrs. Conklin, who was to identify the man. Reaching El Paso May 4 they learned that the bird had taken fright and flown to parts unknown. They went on to Chihuahua, however, where he was said to have been living, but no trace was found. It is said that a certain Chicago jury-fixer, who is now living there in retirement, saw and recognized the party and at once communicated the fact of their presence and probable mission to the Chicago anti-Croninites. A final effort was made at the City of Mexico to track the fugitive, but it was a fruitless attempt and the party returned to Chicago Monday empty-handed.

"Esther, the Beautiful Queen."

An excellent entertainment was given at Carleton Hall, No. 3800 Vincennes avenue, last evening under the auspices of the Young People's Association of the Forty-first Street Presbyterian Church. Bradbury's cantata, "Esther, the Beautiful Queen," was the attraction, with Mrs. Ida Kellogg-Lloyde, as Esther. The other characters were: King Ahasuerus, W. G. Pierce; Haman, J. H. Howenstein; Mordecai, F. B. Newton; Hegai, H. A. Poritz; Scribe, L. E. Herrick; Prophetess, Miss F. MacPhetridge; Zerish, Miss Alice Hayes; Maids of Honor, Miss Alice Wood and Miss May Shannon; Queen's Pages, Pearlie Ward and Addie Lloyd; King's Pages, Jamie Cooley, Harry Herrick. The chorus sang well, and consisted of the Misses Emily Springer, Georgie Scates, Gertie Springer, Della Springer, Ina Byers, Mary Coy, Carrie Merriman, Josie Peck, Lottie Peck, Daisy Byers, Della Taylor, Grace Pierce, Lizzie Cochran, and Lutie Mallory; Messrs. Robert Pryor, Henry Poritz, Lincoln Coy, Louis Herrick, George Flemming, David Rutherford, Fred Counties, and Howard Muir. The cantata was well staged and the principal parts well taken. The chorus is better than the average. The entertainment, which is for the benefit of the organ fund of the church, will be repeated Thursday night.

Twelfth Ward Committees.

The monthly meeting of the Twelfth Ward Republican Club was held at Owsley's Hall, Robey and West Madison streets, last night. There was a good attendance. A committee composed of C. H. Tarbell, H. W. Wells, Alexander White, W. P. Wing, M. A. Richardson, Thomas A. Parker, J. S. Varley, George W. Deal, and the President and Secretary ex officio, recommended the appointment of the following committees: Finance, Alex. White, Chairman; Ward Canvass, H. W. Wells, Chairman; Registration, Wilson Brooks, Chairman; Naturalization, C. H. Tarbell, Chairman; Hall, George W. Deal, Chairman; Printing, J. S. Varley, Chairman.

The committee also recommended the formation of auxiliary clubs in every primary precinct. The reports were adopted. The members of the various committees will be appointed by the President in a few days.

Christian Socialists Organize.

The Christian Socialists met last evening at the Grand Pacific and effected an organization with the following officers: President, the Rev. J. P. Brushingham; Secretary, Louis Saxby; Treasurer, Miles M. Dawson. Twenty-four members signed the roll. The Rev. W. D. R. Bliss of Boston addressed the meeting. A lengthy declaration of principles contained the following:

"Our objects are: (1) To show that the aim of socialism is embraced in the aim of Christianity. (2) To awaken members of Christian churches to the fact that the teachings of Jesus Christ lead directly to some special form or forms of socialism; that, therefore, the church has a definite duty upon this matter and must, in simple obedience to Christ, apply itself to the realization of the social principles of Christianity."

A Fight with Burglars.

Two months ago burglars broke into the living rooms of Thomas Collins over his grocery store at Center avenue and Vernon Park place and stole $500. Sunday morning Collins was awakened by two men in his room. They demanded that he tell them where his money was concealed. Collins jumped out of bed and knocked one of the rascals down. The other then struck him on the head with a revolver. The servant girl, hearing the struggle, ran out of the house and yelled "police." This frightened the burglars, who made their escape. Yesterday Officer Hanley captured Julius Spahn, alias "Spinney," and James Blake. Both are about 22 years old.

NEWSBOYS AND BOOTBLACKS DISCUSSED.

Proceedings of the Conference of Charities and Corrections at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 20.—[Special.]—The newsboys, bootblacks, and other street gamins came in for a share of the discussions of the Conference of Charities and Corrections today. Their past, present, and future condition was considered, and Col. Alexander Hogeland of Lincoln, Neb., President of the Boys' and Girls' National Home and Employment Association of Washington, reviewed his work of the last eight years in organizing societies for the boys in over one hundred cities.

The care of the insane was again discussed by the conference today, the principal paper being read by Dr. Richard Gundry of the Maryland State asylum, who declared that the cardinal principle in the treatment of the insane was that the person should not be restricted in his liberty of action further than was absolutely required for his own protection and the protection of society.

BUFFALO'S STREET RAILWAYS BOUGHT UP.

A Syndicate Now Controls All the Lines in the City.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 20.—[Special.]—All the existing street railroads in Buffalo have been sold to a syndicate consisting of M. A. Verner of Pittsburg, N. ATCHISON, Kas., May 20.—[Special.]—The City Assessor has filed his return of taxable property in the city, and the aggregate is only $2,111,840, as against $3,274,310 last year, a falling off of over $1,100,000. In the country the farmers also return lighter valuations, and the county will make a poor showing this year. The valuation will undoubtedly be raised by the State Board of Equalization for State purposes. The real value of the property in the county is estimated to be $25,000,000.

BE CAREFUL OF GARBAGE.

THE POLICE WILL BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR LAW-BREAKERS.

All the Provisions of the Ordinance for Keeping Alleys Clean Are to Be Strictly Enforced—A Fat Contract for the Street Sweeping Contractor—Special Assessment Cases in Preparation—Municipal Electric Lighting—Safety at the Insane Asylum and Poor-House.

Ald. Summerfield's resolutions continue to agitate the officials of the Health and the Street Departments. Yesterday nearly all the householders of the city received a circular calling their attention to the provision of the ordinances requiring a garbage box to be kept for each dwelling. This circular also threatens prosecution if the garbage receptacle is not in place within three days. The action of the Health Commissioner has been followed up by the Superintendent of Police, who, in an order issued yesterday, directed patrolmen to strictly enforce the ordinance in reference to the disposal of garbage. This order is seriously intended. The whole matter is thus taken out of the hands of the worthless Health Inspectors, and there is no longer any excuse for retaining those functionaries.

Ald. Summerfield visited the City-Hall yesterday and expressed satisfaction that the authorities had been aroused. "I will not call the special committee together for some days," he said. "I want to see what the city officers can do when they are aroused to activity. The contractors, too, I understand, are beginning to appreciate the situation, and they are hustling. Let them hustle. Perhaps hustling is the remedy."

The City-Hall functionaries have ceased to prate about the "inadequacy of the appropriation." Inasmuch as it is $40,000 more than the Democratic Controller recommended and $200,000 more than was appropriated last year it was deemed prudent to drop the discussion. Word was accordingly passed along the line from the Mayor's and Controller's offices.

A discussion of the relations between the street-sweeping contractor and the city authorities is also a forbidden topic at the City-Hall.

A PROFITABLE CONTRACT.

Last year this contractor was paid only $21 per mile for street-cleaning. This year he is paid $25.45. Why the increase? The contractor this year was the contractor last year. It is true that he was the lowest bidder. This was because he crushed out all competition. He now owns the only street-cleaning plant. He is a street-sweeping monopolist. A few years ago a competitor appeared. He was ruthlessly squeezed out. But the price paid this year, notwithstanding the lack of competition, could have been kept at last year's figure if the Mayor and his Commissioner of Public Works were economically disposed.

A former employé of the Street Department said yesterday: "I have made calculations and have come to the conclusion that a street-sweeping contractor could make money at the rate of $18.50 per mile. He can make a clean profit of $7 per mile at the price he is now getting, even though he does the work in the most approved fashion." The person quoted above gave the following as his calculation:

The contractor uses seven sweeping-machines—five four-horse ones and two two-horse ones—at an expense, say, per day of	$ 70.00
Also two sprinkling wagons per day	10.00
He may employ per day one superintendent at	5.00
One bookkeeper	5.00
One barn foreman	2.00
One assistant	1.50
Four hostlers	7.50
Two blacksmiths	6.00
Two wagonmakers	6.00
One harnessmaker	2.50
One barn watchman	1.50
Four street foremen	10.00
Four assistant foremen	6.00
Sixty-eight laborers with hoe, shovel, and broom	102.00
Two dump foremen	5.00
Four laborers	6.00
Thirty-six carts and drivers	108.00
Total	$354.00
Add interest on plant valued at $42,000 at 10 per cent, per day	10.50
Loss by wear and tear per day	20.00
Total cost	$384.50

"I have calculated," continued the ex-employé, "that the contractor gets in return for this outlay a profit of $215.50—or $384.50—a pretty smart figure. From the total profit I would deduct about $4,000 for feeding horses while idle in the winter. It would be much cheaper for the city to go into the street-cleaning business on its own account rather than leave it to contractors."

NEEDLESS EXPENSE TO THE CITY.

The same man, speaking about the scavenger work under the control of the Health Department, said: "There is no system about it. The thirty-four Health Inspectors are utterly worthless. The Assistant Health Commissioner is not even ornamental. He sits in his office all day to hear complaints from citizens. There should be no complaints. The alleys should be scheduled and arrangements made for cleaning certain alleys on certain days. The Health Inspector would then be useful in the matter of reporting what was done and how it was done. The contractor should also be compelled to report each morning the work done the day before. Then there could be a comparison. This would afford a desirable check. Inspectors should be changed around from ward to ward to prevent collusion with contractors. Payments should not be made unless the contract work was satisfactorily carried out. The Assistant Health Commissioner could with advantage put in his time looking after the contractors. He ought to have no business in his office after 11 o'clock each day."

Inquiries made in other quarters prove that those criticisms are to the point and cover the ground. The police officers, however, can do the work of inspection better than the Health Inspectors, and the latter ought to be dismissed, thus saving $34,000 per annum.

Dr. Wickersham yesterday discovered a new work for the health officers. That is to inspect dairies and see that they are kept in a proper and cleanly condition. The Health Commissioner is of opinion that tuberculosis and kindred diseases are rapidly spread through the use of impure milk from unclean dairies.

OTHER MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Special Assessment Cases—Electric Lighting—Public Service Committee.

The special assessment and sewer departments are working hard to prepare and submit to the County Court at the June term the plans for sewers that are to be constructed under the special assessment ordinance. The ordinance has delayed the usual spring work about two months. Mr. Cheney denied yesterday that he said the ordinance was an obstruction. "I do not look upon the ordinance as a failure," he added, "although it has retarded work. Usually we begin our spring work May 1." Superintendent Jones does not anticipate much opposition to the special assessment. "What we do have," he says, "I think will come from property owners along the large sewers. The small 12 and 15 inch sewers will be built without any opposition."

The question of whether the Park Commissioners of the city are to pay for the lighting of the boulevards is yet pending, but Controller Onahan says it will be settled amicably. Some of the Commissioners who are anxious that portions of the park systems shall be lighted all night are negotiating with Prof. Barrett with a view to getting electric lights on the boulevards and in some of the parks. The idea is that the poles and wires shall be erected at the expense of the Commissioners and the question of their maintenance determined when a settlement of the original question is reached. Lights are proposed for Michigan boulevard between Jackson and Twenty-second streets, for Washington boulevard between Halsted street and Hoyne avenue, for Union Park, for the Lake-Shore Drive between the Water-Works and North avenue, and on North avenue between Clark street and the lake. If the city has to pay for the lighting of these Electrician Barrett thinks it will be cheaper than at present. In the other portions of the city, he says, electric lights displace on an average four and a half lamp lights, but in the boulevards owing to the proximity of the lamps the displacement will be about six and a half.

At the meeting of the Public Service Committee of the County Board yesterday Commissioner Edmanson introduced a resolution directing the architect to prepare plans and specifications for two fire-walls to be built in the insane asylum, dividing it in three parts. "The building is a fire-trap," said the Commissioner, "the attics being open and unprotected, and on account of the insufficiency of the water supply, should a fire at any time start, it would spread with great rapidity, and result in great loss of life." The resolution was adopted.

A number of undertakers waited on the committee to urge that body to give a site for a morgue near or on the County Hospital grounds, the city having appropriated $10,000 for its erection. The committee made bitter complaint against the Coroner, who had designated three establishments where persons accidentally killed or who drop off suddenly on the public steets are to be taken. Two of the places are mere barns. All three are badly regulated. The Commissioners will take action on the request Friday.

SAYS THAT HE IS NO MARTYR.

Dr. De Wolf Will Defer to the Chicago Medical Society.

Dr. Oscar C. De Wolf sat in an easy chair in a handsomely furnished suite of offices in the Owings Building yesterday afternoon puffing a cigar and plunged in philosophical cogitation. Upon the door appeared these words:

MUTUAL MEDICAL AID ASSOCIATION.
CARTER H. HARRISON,
PRESIDENT.
MAX POLACHEK,
SECRETARY.
DR. O. C. DE WOLF.
DR. S. K. CRAWFORD.

"I was not intended by nature for a John the Baptist," soliloquized the ex-Health Commissioner. "I have no desire to become a martyr for my opinions, though fame and a monument bid me on."

The doctor was ruminating upon the ragged remnants of a cherished plan which the Chicago Medical Society had torn to pieces the night before with the sharp, cruel teeth of a buzz-saw called "professional ethics." A reporter entered softly and proceeded to jot down the doctor's thoughts.

"We won't assume that there was any animus to this attack," he continued, gently blowing a cloud of fragrant Havana toward the ceiling. "O, no. There was simply a feeling that this association's methods of work violate the traditions of the profession. In my humble opinion—and I know something about the methods of this association—they do not. What are the facts?"

He took two or three strong puffs and then resumed:

"It has long been the custom of the owners of manufacturing establishments, railroads, mines, and large corporations to employ physicians to look after their operators in a professional way, provide them with medical attendance, care, and medicine whenever needed. This was paid for by a regular allowance monthly or quarterly taken from their pay and charged as such on the payroll. A late President of the Chicago Medical Society draws now $600 per month—$1 per head for the $600 workmen employed by a rolling-mill company.

"Some time ago a large manufacturer of this city consulted Dr. Crawford touching this question. 'Cannot this same care which we give the operatives be extended to their families?' he asked. Dr. Crawford believed it could. He set about the following project. He would ask the Secretary of State for a charter for the formation of a corporation and then submit the plan to citizens of prominence and ask them to unite with him in the enterprise. He consulted me after his charter was procured.

"For nearly fifteen years I have been conversant of the needs of the poorer class, the operative class, in matters of professional attendance. The practice of obstetrics, for instance, in this class has fallen into the hands of midwives, and the cruel results of this practice to mother and child have often been brought to my attention. I saw in the plan also an opportunity for the supervision of the homes of the poor by sanitarians, and I believe that proper supervision of the homes of the poorer classes would reduce their sickness rate at least 25 per cent. I felt great pleasure in connecting myself with such an enterprise, and I believed it—as I do today—to be a high expression of professional work.

"There was no idea on the part of Dr. Crawford and myself of advertising ourselves. We did not feel we would be advertising ourselves in advertising a method of work. The code of ethics, if I may presume to know anything about it, objects to the advertising of the individual. We recognize the propriety of that. In everything that has been issued from our office we have only called the attention of the public to the method of work and not to ourselves. Now, if we had been advertising a medical college and giving in startling headlines the array of medical talent in the faculty, the greatest collectively and individually on earth——

"But, not to digress, what was our plan of work? We would ask membership from the laboring class of men and only this class who were carried on the pay-rolls, and we would require such members to pay a stipulated sum per month for the professional care of their families in illness. The plan, therefore, required that those who were not sick should assist in paying the expenses of those who were sick. For example: If forty out of every 100 are ill during the year the sixty remaining would assist in paying the expenses of those who were ill. We designed to select 100 medical men in this city who are capable and accredited from every standpoint to care for the members of the association. The city was to be divided into fifty districts for convenience, with two physicians for each district. Each member of the association would be given a card indicating the physicians of his district to whom he might apply in case of illness. These medical men were to be required to study the sanitary features of every member's home and to seek by such supervision to remove, as far as possible, any menace to health.

"Neither Dr. Crawford nor myself believed the plan violated the professional ethics of our calling. We believed it to be the highest expression of professional work, for it sought to prevent disease quite as much as to satisfactorily care for it. Our professional brethren, however, as represented by the Chicago Medical Society, do not incline to our view. They believe we have violated professional ethics and professional honor, and we shall defer to their views.

"When this plan was explained to Mr. Harrison, the President of the association, and to Gen. Stiles, its attorney, they both regarded it as a philanthropic work to which they would be glad to give their names and sympathy. They have had no pecuniary interest whatever in the organization and expect none.

"While Dr. Crawford and myself retire from all connection with this association in deference to the opinion of our professional brethren, we both of us avow our belief that it is from every standpoint worthy the careful consideration and attention of not only the professional mind but of all men who are interested in the welfare of the laboring and poorer classes of our citizens.

"Does that express your sentiments?" he concluded, casting away the stub of the Havana and turning to Dr. Crawford, who had entered the office a moment before.

"Exactly," responded Dr. Crawford.

Physio-Medical Association Annual Session.

The eighth annual session of the American Association of Physio-Medical Physicians and Surgeons began at the Sherman House yesterday afternoon and will continue until Thursday. There were about 100 physicians and surgeons at the session yesterday, and more are expected today. The session was devoted to a discussion of hygiene, led by Dr. W. W. Harter of Alliance, O. During the meeting the following will be discussed: "Theory and Practice," Dr. George Hasty, Indianapolis; "Surgery," Dr. E. Anthony, Indianapolis; "Materia Medica," Dr. A. J. Marks, Toledo; "Physiology," Dr. S. F. Heskett, Chicago; "Obstetrics," Dr. L. L. Morey, Vandalia, Ill.; "Gynecology," Dr. E. S. Harroun, Lyons, O. "Microscopy and Histology," Dr. J. Redding, Anderson, Ind.; "Pathology," Dr. J. A. Walls, Richmond, Ind.; "Diseases of Children," Dr. E. M. Dunham, Grand Rapids. The officers are: Drs. J. E. Roop, President; L. L. Loomis and A. J. Marks, Vice-Presidents; A. W. Fisher, Secretary; A. F. Elliot, Treasurer. The reports of the officers will be read today and the new officers elected.

Did Not Steal from Colorado.

DENVER, Colo., May 20.—[Special.]—For six weeks James Rice, Secretary of State, and Collier & Cleveland, a printing firm, have been on trial, charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud the State. Today the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, but at the same time said that gross carelessness had been shown not only by Rice but by Auditor Schwanbeck and Treasurer Stephenson. The evidence showed that the State had paid exorbitant prices for its printing and lithographing.

Baltimore Overall-Makers Assign.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 20.—Julius Stiefel and Benjamin M. Cohen, trading as Stiefel & Cohen, overall manufacturers, as partners and individually, have made an assignment for the benefit of creditors to Henry Sinneborn and Samuel Frank of A. Frank & Sons, trustees. Assets, $50,000; liabilities between $80,000 and $90,000.

A NEW RATE WAR COMMENCED.

Slashing the Tariff from the Seaboard to Chicago—General Marine News.

The war in west-bound traffic from the seaboard to Chicago is on. The Vermont Central lake and rail line, which has been clearing its decks for action for a fortnight past, sent a solid shot yesterday in the direction of the people whom it accuses of cutting rates on New England business by way of New York.

The shot was a reduction in the rail and lake rates to Chicago from New York of from 40 to 30 cents first class. The tariff issued yesterday to go into effect Saturday in cents per 100 pounds is:

Classes.	1	2	3	4	5	6
	30	25	20	18	15	14

The old rate of 40 cents was originally 10 cents lower than the Buffalo rail and lake lines, that differential being allowed the Vermont Central on account of its long lake route from Ogdensburg to Chicago.

For some time the Vermont Central has been tired of the interminable "meetings" in New York to patch up lake and rail rates to the West, but its protests were not heeded. When it saw the trunk lines not only helpless to adjust rates to the Northwest, but some of the members secretly aiding "Jim" Hill in shutting out the Chicago lines from Northwest traffic, it dropped under Hill's rate and has been securing a good share of Northwest business from Boston. But 45 cents from Boston to St. Paul compared with 44 cents from Boston to Chicago was such a serious and unjustifiable discrimination against the Chicago patrons of the line that the Vermont Central has urged most strenuously that the trunk lines act in time to prevent a general war in west-bound business.

Another "meeting" was held in New York yesterday. Again nothing was done, and the Vermont Central took matters into its own hands.

New England rates were not reduced because the New England Committee meets tomorrow. If it accomplishes nothing the tariff from New England to Chicago is expected to follow that from New York.

The war is certain to spread to all rail and lake lines from the seaboard, and, like the recent slashing of east-bound rates, will doubtless result in heavy reductions by the all-rail-routes.

The lake and rail lines have been awaiting the action of the trunk line meeting before making further moves in the war on freight from Chicago to the seaboard. The action of the all-rail lines in the Central Traffic Association in reducing their rates yesterday without waiting for the trunk lines to move may result in the lake and rail people following the same tactics today. Rumors were plentiful of a 17½-cent rate on provisions to New York, but they could not be definitely traced. "I am certain it has been made," said one line agent.

Reported Drop in Grain Rates.

It was reported on 'Change that some boats had been chartered to Buffalo at 1¼ cents on corn. Certain it is that a boat loaded grain this morning, but her agent professed to know nothing yesterday of her being chartered, all of which is a pretty sure indication that less than the market rate has been accepted. The John Rugee's 60,000 bushels of corn for Ogdensburg is for Montreal at 5¾ cents as the through rate. The business to Georgian Bay is done at 1⅜ cents on oats. That wild steamers accept the low grain rates from here is a fair test of the light demand for boats to take ore from Escanaba.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 20.—There was a good demand for tonnage to load coal for Chicago and Milwaukee, and, with exceedingly light offerings, freights were strong. Shippers, however, offered no advanced rates. Little coal was offering for Lake Superior.

CLEVELAND, O., May 20.—There is little or no demand for Escanaba tonnage, and shippers were talking 85 cents, but no charters are reported at that figure. The Ashland and Marquette rates are steady at $1.25 and $1.15 respectively. There is a good demand for Chicago and Milwaukee tonnage, and in some cases advanced rates are offered.

Will Result in a Big Collision Case.

The sinking of the steamer Ohio by the Siberia in the "Soo" River Monday will go into the courts in an effort to hold the Siberia liable for the mishap. Unlike most collision cases there will be plenty of disinterested witnesses who were on other boats in the vicinity. The captains of both steamers made the usual mistake of giving full statements in their protest filed yesterday at Sault Ste. Marie. These protests are frequently awkward things in collision cases.

The Ohio was insured for $51,175 in companies represented in Crosby & Macdonald's general agency. Capt. J. J. Rardon left for the "Soo" River last night. The Ohio has not been abandoned to the underwriters, but will be, as she is insured to the limit. Crosby & Macdonald also had $5,000 on the Siberia. The balance is believed to have been placed in Buffalo.

Advices from Sault Ste. Marie said the Ohio had settled in the mud until she is in thirty-two feet of water. Capt. Morse of the Siberia said his boat was not so badly damaged as reported. Repairs are being made on her, and it is expected the leaks will be closed so that she will be able to start for Cleveland today.

May Seriously Retard Ore Shipments.

A dispatch was received by the Illinois Steel company stating that the Colby iron ore mine in the Gogebic Range had caved in. The mine's output is shipped from Ashland, and if the cave-in is serious it may reduce ore shipments materially from that point for some time to come, as the Colby is one of the most important mines in the range.

Around the Lakes.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., May 20.—[Special.]—The Graham & Morton line has contracted with the Vandalia railroad to handle all the latter's freight between Benton Harbor and Chicago. The purpose of the Vandalia to put on a steamer of its own to Chicago has been abandoned, owing to the unwillingness of the railroad people to invest the large amount of money required for passenger service. The project of a line to Milwaukee is still in abeyance.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 20.—Capt. Dennis Driscoll of the H. E. Packer has been appointed master of the Cayuga, and Mate Dan McKenzie of the Cayuga has been given the Packer. Capt. P. McFarlane, who has been on the Cayuga since Capt. Ed Condon's dismissal, goes to Cleveland to look after the Tuscarora.

MACKINAW CITY, Mich., May 20.—The schooner Charles Marshall passed up at 7:30 tonight, but soon returned and came to anchor, as there is a dense fog at the upper end of the straits and every indication of a heavy northwester. The wind is now blowing quite fresh from that quarter.

Nautical Notes.

The crew of the schooner Tempest were trying to have her tied up on bills for wages.

Capt. Williams of the Western Liner Harlem is proud at having made five round trips to Buffalo by May 20.

B. B. Inman of Duluth was in town on his way to Port Huron to take back the steam yacht Pickett, which has been purchased by Duluth people.

FUNERAL OF MR. DEXTER.

SIMPLE SERVICES HELD AT THE LATE RESIDENCE ON PRAIRIE AVENUE.

The Exercises Conducted by Prof. Swing and the Rev. Dr. Collyer—The Ministers' Tributes to the Memory of Their Lost Friend—Those Who Were Present—Death of Homer Judd at Alton, Ill.—The Obituary Record.

The funeral services over the late Wirt Dexter were simple and brief. A number of friends gathered in the parlors of the house on Prairie avenue and heard the Rev. Robert Collyer, D. D. and Prof. David Swing, who were both his friends, read a few familiar verses from the Bible and pay their tributes to his character.

The body lay in a plain black casket, across which a wreath of laurel had been placed. Around the casket gathered, among others:

Messrs. W. C. Goudy, James L. High, Corydon Beckwith, B. F. Ayer, Henry W. King, J. Sterling Morton, C. E. Perkins, E. P. Ripley, C. M. Dawes, J. C. Peasley, J. W. Blythe, Owen F. Aldis, H. W. Bishop, George M. Pullman, N. K. Fairbank, Lyman Trumbull, Philip D. Armour, C. H. Remy, C. C. H. Fyffe, Sidney Smith, J. J. Herrick, J. Irving Pearce, Potter Palmer, Cyrus H. McCormick, Jesse Spalding, Franklin MacVeagh, John N. Jewett, Cyrus D. Roys, Henry Booth, Judge O. H. Horton, Messrs. T. W. Harvey, S. W. Allerton, Arthur Caton, Franklin H. Head, D. Harry Hammer, Norman Williams.

The services began with the reading of Scriptures by the Rev. Mr. Collyer, the passages selected being Psalms xix. and xxx., I. Corinthians xv., and Revelation ii. Mr. Collyer also read a poem beginning "He died at sunset." Prof. Swing followed in prayer, after which he delivered a short address. He said the sudden death of Mr. Dexter, his passing from this earth to another world as one might go from the office to the home, was a reminder that the blessed land was near at hand—not far away. He spoke gently of Mr. Dexter's life, his great gifts, his extreme liberality of thought. "He was full of reverence," said Prof. Swing, "and of that higher form of reverence we call worship."

Mr. Collyer's voice trembled and tears flowed down his cheeks as he told of his friendship for Mr. Dexter. He knew him as a young man and as one well advanced on the journey, and he was always the same glad friend. "His presence was the sunshine of a cloudy day. When I was depressed I often went to see him to be what people call cheered up. I was never disappointed."

Mr. Collyer said many other tender and eloquent things about his friend, and concluded with a short prayer. All but the most intimate friends then left the house and the casket was closed and borne out. Obedient to the request of Mrs. Dexter only a few carriages, and those containing the closest friends, followed the body to Graceland.

Homer Judd.

ALTON, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—Homer Judd, M. D., D. D. S., an honored citizen of Upper Alton, died this morning after a lingering illness. He was born in 1820 in Berkshire County, Massachusetts. He graduated at the Pittsfield, Mass., Medical School in 1847, and in 1853 came West and practiced at Pittsfield and Warsaw, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo. In 1868 Dr. Judd moved to St. Louis and founded the Missouri Dental College, of which he was Dean for several years. He had been President of the National Dental Association and was at his death a member of the Illinois State Board of Dental Examiners.

THE BEHRING SEAL FISHERY QUESTION.

American and British Views Not So Far Apart as Supposed.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 20.—[Special.]—Mr. Tupper has so far recovered from his recent indisposition as to resume active work. He met his colleagues in council this afternoon and doubtless communicated to them the history of the Behring Sea negotiations up to date. It is understood that the principles of the settlement of the controversy have already been adopted. The details, however, have not proved and are not likely to prove easy of settlement. The negotiations had not been carried on long before it was found that the American and British negotiators were not so far apart in their positions as would have been at first supposed. Secretary Blaine could not, and did not, urge the view that the United States exercised sovereignty over half of Behring Sea. On the other hand, he had no difficulty in making it clear that unless some authority was exercised over those waters the seal-fishing would soon be a thing of the past. That this would be a calamity was clearly recognized by the British Minister and his Canadian adviser. The cardinal principle was thus readily reached—that whatever arrangements should be arrived at between the two nations should be considered with the object which the United States had in view in exercising a quasi-authority over the sea named, the preservation of the seals. This having been settled one would think that the rest would be plain sailing, but such has not been the case. There is a dispute as to the facts connected with the fisheries. The British side, too, are somewhat inclined to regard with suspicion a series of restrictions on deep sea seal hunting, for the purpose of postponing indefinitely the day of extermination, while the company which is licensed by the American Government is allowed to practice exterminating methods on the islands. The argument that it would be to the interest of the company to perpetuate seal life in the islands was not received by the British side with any degree of acceptance, as it would be but natural that a company should be mercenary enough to regard their privilege as one to be made the most of while they had it. One of the restrictions which it is proposed to make would be the total prevention of hunting in the passes between the islands in the Aleutian Archipelago, the sea doors by which the seals return from the south to the Pribyloff Islands in the breeding season; and vessels stationed there could kill thousands of seals before they had the time to deposit their young on the islands. There were wide differences of opinion on this and other points, the information in possession of the Treasury Department at Washington and that possessed by the Minister of Marine being at variance in some important particulars. The negotiators are of the opinion that the sea questions of fact should be settled first before any further attempt is made to definitely and satisfactorily terminate the controversy. To this end it is deemed that the appointment of a commission of experts to make a report on the facts will be necessary. The approval of this course by the various governments is now awaited.

Indigestion

IS not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

SOCIETY MEETINGS.

ST. BERNARD COMMANDERY NO. 35, K. T.—You are hereby ordered to report at the asylum, No. 187 Kinzie-st., Wednesday, May 21, at 8:30 a. m., for the purpose of attending the funeral of Sir John H. Matlack. By order L. L. WADSWORTH, E. C.
GEO. L. WARD, Acting Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1890.

IT is needless to say that the Aldermen adjourned in time to get to the glove prize-fight. No amount of public business which these men were elected to transact can compare for importance in their estimation with the spectacle of two professional plug-uglies pommeling and disfiguring each other. Probably an ordinary dog-fight would be more attractive to the majority of them than the duties they are expected to perform. Public business and public interests can wait, however pressing they may be, when prize-fighting is on the tapis. On such occasions a motion to adjourn is always in order.

IT is calculated by naval experts, from the results of the preliminary trial trip of the Philadelphia, that she will beat the Baltimore's high-speed record. The throwing of the log indicated a maximum of 20¾ knots, and as between now and the time of her final trial trip both her speed and horse-power may be increased. It is believed that she will beat her competitor, to do which she has to make an average run of only 20 1-5 knots, or about 24 miles an hour. If she accomplishes this she can not only beat the Baltimore but overhaul anything in the English fleet with ease. The new torpedo boat Cushing and the steel cruiser Philadelphia promise to be two terrors of the sea.

THE morning one of the numerous Newses, with the coöperation of a Justice of the Peace, has demonstrated to Mayor Cregier and Superintendent Marsh how gambling can be effectually suppressed. It did not tackle any small fry. It "went for" the biggest of the gamblers, "Mike" McDonald, whom it refers to as "the leader of Mayor "Cregier's party, the keeper of the Mayor's "political conscience, the champion of all the "vicious elements in Chicago." Now will the Mayor and the Superintendent of Police follow the example set by its quondam organ, raid the gambling houses, and consign the gambling tools to the flames? That is the effective way to suppress gambling.

THE junior Democratic organ coincides with the views of THE TRIBUNE as to the scandalous impropriety of Judge Altgeld's recent interview about political matters. It goes further, even, accusing Altgeld of sinister purposes and devious methods. It says:

> The thing to which we desire to call the attention of Judge Altgeld and of the public is the manifest impropriety of his allowing himself, not to say causing himself, to be interviewed on political subjects. We may add that we should think prudence would dictate to Judge Altgeld that he should not seek to make himself very conspicuous in any way whatever.

Why? Does the junior organ refer to the Altgeld methods in that damage suit against the city?

THERE are two passages—and only two—in the four-months-old report of City-Attorney Sugg worthy of any attention. One is that in which he says the decisions in the Circuit and Appellate Courts make it "reasonably certain that the railroads will eventually be compelled to pay back to the city all judgments recovered against it by reason of the construction of the viaduct." Then why does not Attorney Sugg or his Law Department press those suits? They have lagged since he came into office. The city, in the meantime, has to pay interest on those damages. The other commendable passage referred to is that in which he says:

> Ordinances are now in force requiring police officers to report defective walks and all street obstructions not properly guarded, but these ordinances have, for some reason or other, become a dead letter.

This is an emphatic condemnation of the existing condition of the police administration of the city. What have Cregier and Marsh to say about it? What are the policemen good for anyway in these days of Cregier and shiftlessness in municipal affairs?

HAS the junior Democratic organ soured on its special pet, D. Coparcener Cregier? It looks like it. Monday it had an article asserting of a notorious saloonkeeper recently tried in the Criminal Court on an infamous charge that "the authorities seldom if ever molest him, and his word used [before his last appearance in the Criminal Court] to be as much law around the Harrison Street Police Station as that of the Mayor or Chief of Police." The Harrison Street Station is a typical Cregier Democratic institution. Then again the junior organ says of the Wah-nah-ton, or Wine-and-Whiskies, the pet political organization of the Cregierites, of which Cregier is a member and master of ceremonies, that it is "glaringly undemocratic" and that its avowed object is to "control the masses by conspiracy and deception," and further that it is wholly un-American and that it will not be long before a Wah-nah-ton, such as Cregier, for instance, "is in worse odor than a Ku-Klux, a White Cap, or an Anarchist." One could now expect to see such things in one of the numerous Newses, but it was not to be expected such harsh remarks should be made by the whilom special organ.

THE something like 600 bucket-shops which have given up the ghost within the last seven weeks are claimed to have paid an aggregate of nearly $1,000,000 per year for telegraphic service rendered by the Western Union. The retiring of the rest will probably make as much more difference to the receipts of that company, and it would seem to be only a question of a little more time when they will all go. The revenue from these concerns in the past has formed a powerful inducement to the managers of the Western Union to cater to their wishes, and it is no wonder that they have been thought to favor the parasites as far as they could do so consistently with showing a decent front to the Board of Trade of this city and the Stock Exchange of New York, which have been drained dry by the bucket-shop interests. The victory is all the greater for our home institution, which heroically resolved upon the reform and carried it through in the face of misguided opposition from reputable merchants in other places who ought to have known better and done better. The closing up of the bucket-shops of the country will be a reform comparing in importance with what the extinction of the lottery nuisance would be were that effected. Both are of the same piece and pattern as the faro dens which continue to flourish in spite of protests from decent people and repeated exposures by their victims. They have all managed to exist by means of corruption in high places, parting with a liberal proportion of their ill-gotten gains for the purchase of the "protection which is essential to their nefarious success.

BUSINESS is still quiet at the Chicago Stock Exchange, but prices are holding firm. The New York market continues remarkably active and the prices of some securities made further advances yesterday. New York exchange was 40 to 25 cents premium. Sterling was a shade lower. The local money market continues to present a firm front at 6 per cent. Borrowers profess to see certain signs of cheaper money, but bankers all agree that they can see nothing to make rates lower at present.—The Chicago produce markets were less active, and grain weakened early because of fine weather in the West, but reacted in sympathy with wheat strength in New York and St. Louis. There was a good outside demand for that cereal. As compared with Monday pork closed 12½ cents higher, lard and ribs easy, wheat 1¼ cents higher, corn ¼ cent higher, oats ⅜ cent higher, rye dull, barley steady, and cash flax 2 cents higher.

AT the time of the adoption of the so-called anti-trust bill in Missouri THE TRIBUNE expressed the opinion that the act would prove worthless as a protection to the people, and this prediction has been fulfilled by the action of the courts in practically invalidating the law. The language of the act was so extreme that it would make an ordinary business partnership an illegal combination. Without the slightest regard to fundamental legal considerations the act sought to compel persons to give testimony which would criminate themselves. The bill also provided that if any companies should fail to file within a certain time affidavits purging themselves of trustism the Secretary of State should proceed to revoke their charters. The revocation of a charter is a judicial act to be performed by a court after listening to testimony and hearing argument, and the Legislature could not confer such authority on the Secretary of State. While there is urgent need for legislation against trusts and trustism, the experience of Missouri proves how easily reckless legislators may overshoot the mark altogether. Legislation against trusts to be constitutional and effective must be kept within certain lines, and when these are overstepped nobody can be better pleased than the trust conspirators themselves. Laws like the Missouri act are worse than useless. They discourage the attempt to get effective and needed legislation to restrain monopoly.

THE M'KINLEY BILL AND THE CONSUMER.

What effect will the increased duties of the McKinley bill have on the consumers of the country? How much more in the aggregate will it force them to pay for the leading necessaries of life? When that has been ascertained, and not till then, will it be possible to see the extent of the harm it will do.

The census report of 1880 gives the total value of all articles made that year into which wool entered, including hats, carpets, knit goods, etc., as $340,000,000. Adding to this 10 per cent profit of wholesalers and 25 of retailers, and the cost to the consumers was $468,000,000. As the population has increased fully 30 per cent, and consumption has kept pace with it, the total cost of the woolen home-made goods consumed this year would be $609,000,000. The value of the woolen goods imported during the last fiscal year was $49,000,000, the duties on which were $34,000,000. The cost to the consumer, plus 35 per cent wholesalers' and retailers' profits, was therefore $113,000,000. Hence the total cost to consumers of woolen goods, foreign and domestic, was $722,000,000. The duties on the woolen schedule are raised 20 per cent by the McKinley bill in order to give "protection," the McKinleyites say, to individuals who have not present "protection" enough to enable them to amass speedy fortunes. But if the cost of woolens to consumers is increased only 15 per cent the bill will take from them $108,354,000, or twice their net gain on cheaper sugar. On what grounds do Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin members vote for this enormous tax on their constituents? How will they justify on the stump such a record?

The increased tariff duties on various articles and the administrative bill, which reimposes the duties on packages and inland freights, will increase the cost to consumers from 10 up to 50 per cent.

The total cost of cotton goods to be consumed this year is $380,888,000—$343,350,000 made at home and $37,538,000 imported. An addition of 10 per cent to the price paid would gouge the consumers out of $38,880,000.

The total cost of silk goods to be consumed was $145,315,000, $72,039,000 having been imported, and $73,346,000 made in this country. The McKinley bill would make consumers pay on 10 per cent advance $14,531,000 more for what has ceased to be a luxury and has become a necessity of the whole female population of the United States.

Cutlery and hardware to the value of $77,900,000 will be purchased in 1890. The heavy duties of the McKinley bill on the six millions imported will establish combines and trusts and force up the price of the home-made articles at least 20 per cent, and take $15,580,000 from the pockets of American consumers.

With a present duty of a cent a pound on tin-plate the consumption of tinware in the United States this year will be $85,970,000. The McKinley bill proposes to raise the duty to 2.15 cents a pound. That will add over $12,895,000 to the burdens of the American consumer.

The value of American made glass consumed this year will be $42,345,000, and of imported glass $16,889,000, the total being $59,235,000. The extra McKinley tax on that will be $8,900,000.

The total cost of linen goods to consumers, almost entirely manufactured abroad, will be $54,865,000. The 30 per cent rise on that will amount to $16,458,000. This rascally increase has been inserted in the bill to enable two or three Eastern manufacturers to make a short cut to big fortunes, while their discontented workmen go over to the Democratic party to punish their bosses for not dividing fairly the plunder of consumers.

The total paper bill of the country this year will be fully $110,000,000. If the McKinley duties on wood pulp, which needs no protection, are allowed to stand, there will be an extra paper bill of ten millions, of which the newspapers and their readers will have to stand a good part.

On other items the consumers will have to pay increased bills as follows: Earthenware and china, which will be made more costly by both the tariff and administrative bills to the extent of $4,184,000; furniture will be raised in price by the higher tariff on certain woods, etc., about $4,000,000; and millinery, photographers' supplies, spectacles, grocers' supplies, sugar of milk for sick children, Sumatra tobacco coverings for cigars, increased duties on fertilizing materials, on lime and cement, etc.; total, $10,000,000. This makes a grand total of $241,000,000, and any one can see that dozens of articles the cost of which will be increased are omitted. In the bright light of these facts can it be said the McKinley bill is a good thing for the consumer? The people of the West will be mulcted in a large part of this enormous fine on consumers. How will Western Congressmen justify their votes for the imposition of those additional taxes on their constituents when they ask for reëlection?

CAUSE OF THE ADVANCING PRICE OF SILVER.

The New York metal market reports show that within the last month silver has sold higher than the average rate for any year since 1885. There have been also some large arrivals of silver bars from England. It is claimed that the advance in price and the importations of silver bullion are to be attributed solely to the prospect of the adoption by Congress of a free coinage bill or something that will approach it closely, thereby making this a silver money country like China, India, and Mexico. Within the last three or four weeks every day has added to the proofs that this Congress will not adjourn without changing the law so as to greatly enlarge the coinage of silver, but the bullion market has not advanced accordingly, but has shown a reaction right in the face of the most favorable reports from Washington. For the week from April 26 to May 2 the price of silver per troy ounce was as follows in the London and New York markets, the latter being quoted at rates equivalent to the London commercial prices:

	Sterling exchange.	London, pence.	New York, cents.
April 26..........	4.86	48	1.05½
April 28..........	4.86	48	1.05
April 29..........	4.86	48	1.05
April 30..........	4.86	46 9-16	1.01⅝
May 1..........	4.86	46 9-16	1.01½
May 2..........	4.86	46¾	1.01⅞

There was certainly nothing in the reports from Washington during the above week in regard to the Silver bill to account for a drop in London from 48 pence to 46¾. A recovery followed, however, and the quotations for last week show the price in London is now nearly as good as it was in the latter part of April and in New York a trifle better, the quotations being as follows:

	Sterling exchange.	London, pence.	New York, cents.
May 10..........	4.86	47¼	1.03
May 13..........	4.86	47¼	1.03
May 14..........	4.86	47¼	1.03
May 15..........	4.86	47⅜	1.03¼
May 16..........	4.86	47½	1.03½

With the assurance of liberal coinage legislation growing stronger day by day it would seem that there must have been other influences at work to account for the sensitive state of the silver market. The explanation may be found perhaps in part not in anything relating to the Silver Coinage bill but in the proposition of the McKinley committee to put duties of 1½ cents a pound on the silver-lead ores imported into the United States from Mexico and extensively used for fluxing purposes. The duty proposed is prohibitory and will exclude the ores altogether. This in turn would cause the suspension of work in many American mines which now have a small margin of profit and could not be operated if smelting charges were advanced, as would certainly be the case if Mexican ores were excluded. Exclusion of fluxing ores would probably stop work altogether in a number of smelteries and shut down enough mines to lessen greatly the production of silver and of course enhance the price. After the agreement of the Republican caucus on a silver bill and the report of the McKinley committee the bullion market advanced strongly, but a reaction followed when marked hostility was manifested to the silver-lead provision of the tariff bill. More votes were had in support of a motion to strike this provision from the tariff bill than in any other attack yet made on the scheme of the Ways and Means Committee. In the debate in the House Monday Congressman Hopkins of Illinois said there was a man in the gallery who would leave $1,000,000 richer if it was decided to retain the provision putting a duty on silver-lead ores. The proposition, although denounced as one "for the millionaires and the combines," was sustained by the House, and the probability of its final adoption will help strengthen the silver market by reducing the output of the metal. With a certainty that the coinage is to be greatly increased and a probability that tariff legislation will reduce the supply by compelling many mines to shut down the Colorado mine-owners and others not dependent on Mexican ores for fluxing purposes will be in a situation to command greatly advanced prices for their product.

A SQUARE ISSUE ON PROHIBITION OF DRINKING.

After describing the prohibition movement in Iowa, which was directed originally against the saloons and had the abolition of the dramshop as its avowed purpose, the Des Moines Register says:

> Then some of the more radical Prohibitionists came to the front, displacing the reasonable and conservative men, and they put a new burden upon the law. They declared that it must not only shut up the dramshops, but it must allow no one to drink a glass of beer under any circumstances. In other words, it must not only abolish the saloon system, but it must make and keep men sober by force. They proposed to have the law take the place of the Gospel. They interfered when a man wanted to buy a case of beer to be kept in his own cellar. They are now demanding that Congress shall help the State make it impossible to sell liquor legally, even by the case, for use in a man's own home. Some of them may protest that they don't intend to prevent a man from putting a bottle of beer on his table with his dinner. But if they are willing to give him that permission, where is he to get his bottle?

Until two years ago the Iowa Prohibitory law recognized the exclusive authority of Congress over foreign commerce and also the right of citizens of that State to import liquors for their own use. This statement may excite surprise in some quarters, and may be disputed, but the following from the recent "original package" decision of the Federal Supreme Court will show there is no room for controversy about the matter:

> Prior to 1888 the statutes of Iowa permitted the sale of foreign liquors imported under the laws of the United States, provided the sale was by the importer in the original casks or packages and in quantities not less than those in which they were required to be imported.

In other words, the Iowa law up to two years ago did not conflict with the Federal Constitution, and the Supreme Court now says nothing more than that certain additions to the act made since 1887 are invalid. The principal change made in the Iowa law was the repeal of the provision authorizing the importation and sale of liquor in the original package. Up to two years ago such a provision was part and parcel of the prohibitory system in Iowa, and the law seemed to be directed against public dramshops and not against the right of individuals to import liquor and use it in their homes. Thousands of persons who used beer, wine, or other liquor themselves had nevertheless been induced to coöperate with the Prohibitionists in attempting to have the dramshops legislated out of existence. The original Prohibitory law, which bore so heavily on the saloon, and which recognized the right of individuals to import liquors for their own use, was in reality nothing more than an anti-dramshop act, and the Prohibitionists seemed for a time to be content with it as such. Now, however, they declare "disastrous" a decision of the Supreme Court which merely requires them to put the law back into the condition in which they themselves had kept it up to two years ago. They are required also to put liquors imported into Iowa from other States on the same footing as though brought from foreign countries.

The repeal of the provision as to importation of liquors was not only a departure from the original anti-dramshop policy sanctioned by the people, but, as the Federal Supreme Court has since determined, it involved a violation of the National Constitution. Equally indirect was the manner in which the act pretended not to interfere with an individual's right to use liquor while endeavoring to make it impossible for him to obtain it. This sort of evasion will not serve any longer. Under the recent decision Iowa has precisely the same control over dramshops as she had until two years ago, and which up to that time seemed entirely satisfactory to the Prohibitionists. The Supreme Court now requires them to recognize the right of importation just as they did voluntarily prior to 1888, and before the attempt to wrest the law from its original purpose. Defeated in the indirect and evasive attempt to reach the drinker over the shoulders of common carriers and liquor dealers the Iowa Prohibitionists have appealed for legislation by Congress to make a square issue, and attempt to prevent the use of liquor as a beverage by the citizen for his own use at any time or place. This will simplify the issue and settle the question of personal liberty.

A GLANCE AT CANAL HISTORY.

Forty years ago the water routes were nearly the sole means of commercial communication in the interior of the United States. The steamboat was then in its glory as a means for passenger travel on lakes and rivers, and the more slow-going sailer or the snail-like barge were depended on for the carrying of merchandise where it was not done by wagon. Since then the development of the railroad business has not only opened up vast areas not to be reached by the water routes, but has proceeded so far that it is crowding them out of their usefulness. The boatmen on the Erie Canal find it hard work to compete with the railroad carrier, though they are now able to work free of toll. The charges on the Illinois and Michigan Canal have been reduced one-half since the days before the war, when its annual traffic included 8,640,000 bushels of corn, 1,145,000 bushels of oats, 77,800,000 feet of lumber, and yielded a revenue of some $200,000. At present nineteen-tenths of its tonnage is contributed by the stone boats which bring building materials from the quarries to this city, and half the remainder is contributed by the Norton mills at Lockport. All else is cut out by close competition on the part of the railroads, and especially the one that runs most nearly parallel with the canal, the boats on which are nearly worthless property in consequence.

How much the latter will concede to draw away business from its old-time superior and now rival is shown by a glance at the rates recently charged on lumber going over the Rock Island railroad. Three cents per 100 pounds from Chicago to points along the canal and five cents to Peoria are low. But the rate to Geneseo was 16 cents, though that point is equidistant with Peoria from this city. But it is nearly a score of miles away from the canal, and that fact makes a big difference. Rates in the other direction are correspondingly depressed, so that corn can now be brought to Chicago from points on the Illinois River at two and one-half and from canal points at two cents per bushel.

Even the lake route between Chicago and the East is often pressed hard by the competition of the iron horse. How much of a decline has been forced in that direction may be inferred by a glance at the figures of thirty-two years ago. In December, 1857, the railroads charged on the barrel of flour $1.75 from Chicago to New York and $1.90 to Boston. They then quoted 45 cents per 100 pounds on grain to New York as an inside rate, claiming they could not pay charges and interest at anything less than that. They have recently been content to carry grain at 15 cents and flour at proportionate figures. And it is probable that rate pays them as well as three times as much did a third of a century ago. It certainly would if they had to pay interest only on the actual cash value of the road and equipment.

If anything else were needed to show the important influence exerted by the interior water routes in shaping the policy of the railroads it might be supplied by citing the demoralization in the latter in the Northwest by the increasing competition of the Lake Superior route to the seaboard, and in a smaller degree by the movement of corn down the Mississippi. And the bearish power of the canals is not to be despised. But the latter no longer pay sufficiently to warrant the expenditure of large sums in widening and deepening them for commercial purposes, still less for the digging of new ones. The deepening of the Illinois and Michigan Canal is necessary as a sanitary measure, and may bring some increase of transportation advantage, but the latter will only be incidental and probably would not prove to be worth a tithe of the money expended on the work.

AN OFFER TO WESTERN TARIFF PROHIBITION PAPERS.

Horace Greeley was once moved to ask, "more in sorrow than in anger," the "reason "for that inscrutable dispensation of Divine "Providence" which allowed a large number of the papers of his own political faith to be edited by a pack of fools. The question, which was never answered, is as pertinent today as when first sadly asked by Greeley.

There are a number of tariff prohibition newspapers scattered throughout the West, some of them in Illinois, whose editors are not merely supporting the McKinley bill—increasing the war tariff on the common needs of life—as if it were the only tariff gospel, but who are asserting that those who do not follow their example are "traitors" who must be editorially excommunicated from the party.

There is not, however, one of these individuals whom a high tariff working on a weak brain has brought to this state of imbecility who has explained what good the increased duties of the McKinley bill will do him, his readers, few or many, his town, his county, Congressional district, or State.

Though often asked by THE TRIBUNE to tell who in their neighborhood would be benefited by increasing the duties on the goods he purchased and how it would help the town generally, they have refused to answer. Their only reply has been to drool out something more about "treason" and "traitors." Yet THE TRIBUNE makes another appeal to the whole pack of these Littlewits and Scantbrains. It throws open its columns to their muddled intellects. It will print from each of them a brief letter—written as intelligently as he knows how—telling what persons in his "neck of woods" will be helped more than he will be harmed by the heightened taxes on the necessaries of life as provided in the McKinley bill. Is not that a fair proposition?

They are for a bill which will take millions from the people of the Western States and turn it over to Eastern manufacturers who are already rolling in riches, but whom no amount of wealth can deprive of the greed for more. These Western editors are doing their best to fill to overflowing, at the expense of their own readers, the pockets of men who are so swollen by prosperity that, modifying the words of Vanderbilt, they have taken as their motto, "The consumer be damned." Instead of working for the Western farmer and town or village workman, these false editors work for and fawn on these insolent money barons because they love "the thrift that follows fawning." Farmers with mortgaged farms, villagers with shrinking incomes, cannot pay for editorials defending their interests. Eastern multi-millionaires can.

ARE THEY TWO OF A KIND?

All the Democratic papers in New York and the Democratic press in general throughout the country have joined in a concentrated attack upon Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the Republican National Committee. They charge that he abstracted over $200,000 of the public money from the Treasury of that State some years ago, gambled in stocks and lost it, and that he was only saved from the consequences of his act by Don Cameron, Magee, and Wayne MacVeagh, who came to his financial rescue; that he gambled again and won and replaced the money. It is admitted every cent of it was restored, but that he refuses to resign his offices. This is one side of the picture.

Here is the other. Republicans say, based on the charges of Democrats, that Col. Brice, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and Senator from Ohio, and originally a citizen of that State and now of Wall street, a professional stock-gambler, bought Coal-Oil Payne's seat in the Senate of the Democratic Legislature, for which he paid big money. It is also charged that he evaded the payment of his taxes in Allen County, Ohio, for half a dozen years, thus defrauding the State Treasury of over $160,000, not one cent of which has yet been paid back. The money which Quay is alleged to have taken from the Treasury has been returned; the money which Brice is alleged to have taken has not been refunded.

The cases, it will be observed, are very similar. Both Quay and Brice are Colonels, both are National Chairmen, both are United States Senators, both are charged with the abstraction of about the same amount of public money, and the stories remain uncontradicted in each case. Quay maintains a persistent silence and will not explain anything, neither will he deny nor admit. Brice maintains a similar silence and will not tell whether he bought his seat nor how much he paid for it, or whether he cheated the State out of his taxes. Now, if both sides are correct as to the other fellow, if both these professional machine politicians and stock gamblers are guilty, should there not be four resignations sent in promptly? Should not Quay resign a committee Chairmanship and a Senatorship and Brice keep up the parallel by a couple of resignations of the same kind? If it is a case of pot calling the kettle black certainly the country does not want either the pot or the kettle any longer. If any one of the utensils is black we should know whether it is the pot or the kettle. If neither of them is black then certainly they ought to establish their real color, as otherwise huge injustice is being done to a very worthy pot and a very exemplary kettle.

HOW WEST-SIDERS COULD REACH JACKSON PARK.

It has been stated that if Jackson Park were chosen as the site for the Fair one or two shore railroads would have a monopoly of the business of carrying persons to and from the grounds, and that whatever they might do they would be unable to meet the demand on them. Such reasoning as this leaves out of the reckoning entirely the Fort Wayne road. That line, with its depot on the west bank of the South Branch at Monroe street, and running in the West Division a mile before it crosses to the South Side, and which is now laying two additional tracks on Stewart avenue to accommodate its suburban business, can easily get permission to make a loop track which shall carry it to Jackson Park. When it has secured that privilege it will be in a position to furnish quick and cheap transportation to the Fair to a multitude of West-Siders. With few exceptions all the West Side cable and horse car lines coming from the northwest, west, or southwest pass within a block or so of a spot where a Fort Wayne train can be taken. It will not be necessary for the West-Siders to cross the South Branch to take a steam-car; they can be accommodated in their own division. The same Fort Wayne road will also meet the requirements of the immense population lying south of Twenty-second street and west of Clark who do not want to go east to the cable-cars. Nor must it be forgotten that the Fort Wayne operates the Pan Handle road, which runs on Kinzie street to Rockwell street, just west of Western avenue, and then south on Rockwell through the Seventeenth, Eleventh, and Thirteenth Wards, and then south through the Twelfth and Tenth Wards into the Sixth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth, where it can loop into Jackson Park by a switch around to the east, near Sixty-third street, and reach the Fair-grounds, thus accommodating 100,000 West-Siders whom the Fort Wayne could not care for. Nor must it be forgotten that the Rock Island is in a position to care for a vast number of residents of the South Side, especially in the densely populated district below Twenty-second street. A little reflection will show that there are several roads that can reach Jackson Park if necessary, and that the two named are peculiarly West Side lines, running southward.

COMMANDER M'CALLA'S SENTENCE.

The sentence passed by court-martial upon Commander McCalla of the Enterprise was deserved and not severe enough. He was found guilty on all of the charges brought against him, and these charges included:

> Striking another person in the navy; inflicting improper punishments; maltreatment of persons subject to his orders; conduct unbecoming an officer of the navy, and violation of the article requiring him to read to the ship's crew at proper intervals the articles for the government of the navy.

The sentence, which the Secretary of the Navy has approved, is suspension from rank and duty for three years, during which time he loses half his pay and all opportunities for promotion.

The charges brought against Commander McCalla were much more severe than those upon which Lieut. Steele of the army was recently tried in this city. This is nearly always the case, for naval officers are more inclined to be harsh in their discipline and despotic in their treatment of men, not necessarily because sailors are harder to govern than soldiers, but because the opportunities are more favorable for it in the navy than in the army. The latter is always in the public view and the country hears from it every day and knows what is transpiring, while a naval vessel usually makes long cruises and may be absent from port for many long months with very long intervals of communication. If a commander is cruelly inclined the chances are that he will give way to his inclinations, as it may be many months before his victims can make complaint even if they are so disposed. For this reason there has always been more cruelty in the navy than in the army, and there is greater temptation to a commander to be autocratic. But discipline is one thing and brutality is another. An officer who is not capable of governing himself is not fit to govern others, and the sooner he is removed from his position the better. The policy pursued by Commander McCalla shows that he is entirely lacking in executive capacity, whatever may be his theories or his knowledge as a bureau officer. A place may be found for him eventually upon shore, where he can give the department the benefit of his services, for it is understood he is excently fitted for bureau work. That he does not meet the requirements of a disciplinarian and is not qualified to manage a crew, especially a crew at all inclined to be insubordinate, is clear enough. His punishment may seem light, but will serve as a useful lesson to other commanders in the service.

ONE WAY TO SETTLE THE RACE ISSUE.

A prominent firm of contractors in Pittsburg, Pa., has decided to substitute negro laborers for Italians. A force of 100 has already been put to work with such excellent results that the contractors have decided to gradually do away with Italian laborers altogether. Other contractors who have been watching the experiment are preparing to do the same, and thousands of Southern negroes may yet be provided with the opportunity to earn their living in Western Pennsylvania, thus helping to solve the race problem. The inducements for them to come North will be very strong, of course, as they will not only have plenty of work at good wages, but they will be better treated than they are now and will not be deprived of the rights which are guaranteed them by law. Both in the interests of labor and of humanity it is to be hoped the experiment will prove successful and that large numbers of them will come North, where they will be entitled to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and where they can also support themselves and their families.

CALIFORNIA is moving vigorously in the matter of having a distinctively State exhibit at the World's Fair. The people there are of the impression that they may never again have a Fair so near them, and hence it is for their interest to improve the opportunity to the utmost. They want plenty of space to erect a California building, as well as ample and handsome representation in the general exhibit, and they propose to send 100,000 of their own people to see it. Numerous special features have been suggested, among them a relief map of the State, a model of the Yosemite Valley with fall of real water, one of the big trees 300 feet high set up on the grounds in sections, a miniature forest, a display of historical relics, horticultural products, wines, and raisins, mining products with stamp mills in operation, agricultural products, an aquarium and floral display, and the complete processes of silk culture and mining machinery in active operation. In a speech made before the State Board of Trade recently ex-Gov. Perkins held out assurances that the Legislature would appropriate at least $250,000 to help on the work, and that all the boards of trade, manufacturers' associations, and produce exchanges will also contribute liberally. It is evident that California is going to make a monster display, and if possible take the lead among all the States. She is coming with a rush and ample preparation should be made to receive and accommodate her.

AFTER the disastrous Ohio election of last November Mr. Murat Halstead arose hurriedly and betook himself to a "cave of gloom" in the distant City of Brooklyn. As he had turned over his State to the free-trade Democracy, which at once proceeded to gerrymander it most villainously, it was wise that he should remain secluded from the public gaze till he had "brought forth fruits meet for repentance." This he has not yet done. His State is still unredeemed. It is, therefore, a little brash for him to attack at this early hour either Congressman Butterworth or the editor of THE TRIBUNE because they are not warm in the support of the tariff-prohibition bill prepared by McKinley. Nor will McKinley accept it as an apology for the gerrymander which may deprive him of his seat, and for which Mr. Halstead will have to shoulder much of the responsibility. Nor can it be said to be altogether in good taste for a recent convert to tariff prohibition to lecture those who were protectionists while he was still a Cobden-Club free-trader. The member of the Cobden Club, the orator on whose free-trade lips delighted Englishmen once hung, the erratic follower of the erratic Greeley, is hardly the man to set himself up as a dictator at the present moment. The backmost of back seats befits him best until after he has spent a proper time in sackcloth and ashes for his shocking political blunders.

THE St. Paul Chamber of Commerce has issued a bulletin stating that the crisis in spring wheat is over for the present. This means that the fall of moisture has been sufficiently copious over the greater part of the Northwest within the last few days to remove apprehension of crop failure from drought in that region. The pluvial visitation is all the more welcome for the severe discouragements experienced by the farmers there for two years. A good crop the coming autumn would be a real blessing, especially if it can be sold at the better prices which have recently prevailed for the cereal in this and other markets. The only thing that now remains to be feared as preventing an abundant harvest is the possibility that early frosts will catch part of the grain before it has matured after starting to grow in a late season. But the next three months may go far towards placing the crop out of the way of harm from this cause and also give to the people of that region reason for rejoicing over a much better yield of other cereals than has hitherto fallen to their lot. One of the best facts in the improved prospects of the Northwest is the greater diversification of crop culture which has been inspired by the idea that it was not well to depend altogether on wheat.

THIS Mr. Bynum of Indiana appears to be a singularly grotesque and unpleasant person. Do the Democrats intend to make a hero of him?

A PHILADELPHIA street railway company has promulgated the order in sharp and positive terms that tobacco-chewers must not use the floor of any of its cars for a cuspidor, and conductors have been instructed to see that the order is enforced. Mrs. Billus (to peddler)—"Only $7.50 for that piece of cloth? Enough of it to make a suit of clothes for my husband? If you can sell it for that price you stole it. Clear out!"

Peddler (unrolling same piece of cloth at office of Mr. Billus shortly afterward)—"Never mind how I got the goods. There's enough of it to make a splendid dress for your wife. I need just $15. Is it a go?"

Mr. Billus—"Yes, I'll take it."

Would Not Conflict.

"I am requested to announce," observed the good pastor, "that an ice-cream and strawberry festival, with charades, tableaux, and an instructive little drama written expressly for the occasion, will be given at Arcadia Hall next Wednesday evening for the benefit of the poor. It is true," he added, wiping his spectacles and looking mildly over the congregation, "that we always hold our prayer-meeting Wednesday evening, but an experience of some years in judging the size of audiences enables me to say that no outside entertainment or attraction can make the attendance at our prayer-meeting any smaller than its regular average. Hence I have no objection to making this announcement. The collection for the heathen—in other lands—will now be taken up."

Germany's Strength.

Berlin Cablegram: Caprivi touched lightly upon the war question, and with the art of a French diplomatist held out the olive branch in his speech on the colonial question, in which he paid a graceful compliment to Bismarck. He stated that the German trust lay in hard and fast alliances and in internal strength, and he intimated that in colonization, while Germany might go hand in hand with England, the subject was trifling as compared with home concerns. He made a most admirable impression and more strongly marked the divergence between himself and his predecessor, both in mode and manner. He is a better speaker than Bismarck, who, though always effective, was nervous and full of bluster, and could be easily led into using insulting remarks. The new Chancellor, on the contrary, is sweetness personified. He is calm, genial, and dignified. His voice is clear and resonant, and his whole bearing is that of an old school gentleman, so that even the naturally hostile benches look upon him with a kindly eye.

Say Something or Do Something.

It is currently reported that Senator Matthew S. Quay, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, has intimated his intention to prosecute the New York World for criminal libel. If this be true, and if Mr. Quay is prepared to vindicate his integrity in a court of justice, he will probably be able to explain why he has delayed taking decisive action until the eleventh hour, and remove, it is to be hoped, the grave suspicions which have been inspired by his reticence.

Democratic charges of corruption preferred against Republican officials are frequently best treated with the silent contempt which they deserve, but in this instance the circumstances imperatively demand explanation or refutation from the accused. The charges against Mr. Quay have been urged so emphatically, and by the use of dates, figures, and details the case against him has been made to appear so strong, that he has no alternative. In justice to himself, and, above all, in justice to the Republican party, he must prove that he has been foully slandered by the World and its associates, or he must resign his Chairmanship of the National Committee. There is no middle course. Valuable as Mr. Quay's services have been to the Republican party it cannot afford to carry a man in his position who is tainted with suspicion, and it is an undeniable fact that his innocence is yet to be demonstrated.

The logic of the situation is incontrovertible. Mr. Quay must either do something or say something, and that without delay.—Rochester Democrat (Rep.), May 16.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The ninth Cincinnati May Musical Festival opened last night with the largest and most elegant audience that has attended a similar event for ten years. It was a reminder of the days when the festival was a novelty and everybody interested in music attended. Nearly 6,000 people were present, and the management say it was the largest opening night they ever had. There was a brilliant display of elegant toilets, and representatives of the musical taste of many of the large cities graced the occasion.

Artistically, the performance last night of "The Messiah" has never been excelled. The same masterly oratorio has been heard in Music-Hall during Christmas week with much more brilliant and commendable effect. "The Messiah" has been annually sung in Cincinnati, and the presentation last night was critically and intelligently judged by a large majority of the audience. Lloyd, the great English tenor, who made his début in America at the Cincinnati Festival two years ago, confirmed and intensified the impression which he made then. He was accorded a most enthusiastic reception and his singing was almost above adverse criticism. Mr. Whitney, the eminent basso, who is a fixture of Cincinnati festivals, was at a disadvantage from a severe cold. Mlle. De Vere was somewhat of a disappointment, while the work of the chorus could hardly be accepted as the best it is capable of doing.

It was not a festival performance, if the term means a performance out of the ordinary. It was, on the whole, weighted down with a feeling of perfunctoriness which came near destroying the cheeriness with which the public gave the festival welcome. So great was the contrast between expectation and realization that one could not help feeling that on this occasion, at least, critical obligations were a most complacent burden. Possibly too much reliance was placed on the supposed familiarity of the choir with the work, but the judgment which is obliged to look at these festival concerts as the result of two years of study can hardly accept the explanation as sufficient. It is certainly not a justification here that all merit might have been found, in compensating measure, in the constitution of the choir. And thus it was looked for in vain.

Doubtless a dozen performances of "The Messiah" last winter in cities of no pretense to musical superiority were better in the choral department to that of the famous Cincinnati Festival Association last night. The quality of tone emitted by the choir was not beautiful, the attack was listless, the volume ineffective.

The instrumental forces, a band of 120 musicians, mostly tried and true men from New York, were superb, and the performance of the Pastoral Symphony was something to be remembered, but the accompaniments were not as finished as they ought to have been. There was something wrong with the magic of Thomas' beat.

The financial success of the festival is assured.

The Detroit Philharmonic Club, assisted by Mr. William H. Sherwood, the well-known pianist, will give a concert at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Auditorium Recital Hall, under the auspices of the Chicago Conservatory. The program includes the following numbers: Quintets by Beethoven and Von Dittersdorf; introduction to "Otho Visconti," Act III. (arranged for quartet) Frederic Grant Gleason; quintet for piano and strings, Robert Schumann.

The Bostonians showed such extreme partiality for the Strauss compositions at the first two concerts in the music-hall last week that Manager Blakely was obliged to rearrange the program to conform to the tastes of the audiences. The entrancing Strauss dances captured everybody and Wagner, Brahms, and their like were for the time forgotten. Maybe the same thing will happen in Chicago at the Auditorium concerts.

A good variety entertainment is furnished by the Vaidis Sisters' company at the People's. The best feature is the daring trapeze performance of the Vaidis Sisters themselves. The remainder of the program is fairly interesting.

Miss Alice King Livingston of Frohman's Lyceum Theater has surrounded herself with members of the Lyceum Theater for her production of "Jack Gordon, Knight Errant," next week in Buffalo.

Mrs. John Drew has arranged to extend her contracts with the company engaged for Buckstone's comedy, "Married Life," and will probably be one of the attractions of next month in this city.

Mr. James O'Neill is busy giving the finishing touches to "The Dead Heart" at Hooley's. The sale of seats will open tomorrow.

Ezra Kendall will revive his familiar farce "A Pair of Kids" next week at the Windsor.

The last four nights and matinée of "Faust Up to Date" are announced.

TRIGILLO SURRENDERS HIMSELF.

The Notorious Desperado Now on Trial at Las Vegas.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., May 20.—[Special.]—A large number of people are in town today to witness the White Cap cases which were set for trial in the District Court. There was a report that Porfirio Trigillo, the outlaw and the leader of a gang of desperadoes, would come into town and surrender himself. About 11 o'clock Don Eugerio Romero, former Sheriff, drove up to the court-house in a buggy, and with him was the outlaw, who had surrendered himself to the Sheriff upon his assurance that he should be protected. When they arrived at the temple of justice Trigillo, accompanied by the Sheriff, made his way through the crowd to the court-room. While waiting during the recess of the court his father and mother and fully fifty other relatives filed in, one at a time, to shake him by the hand and assure him that they would stand by him. The prosecutor arraigned the prisoner on four counts. The indictments were read and translated by Court Interpreter Lucero, being for carrying a deadly weapon, discharging firearms inside a settlement, and resisting an officer, to all of which Porfiro pleaded not guilty. The general feeling now seems to be that Trigillo's misdoings have been greatly exaggerated.

TO ENTERTAIN ROYAL TRAVELERS.

Preparations to Receive the Duke and Duchess of Connaught at Victoria.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 20.—[Special.]—The steamship Abyssinia, having on board their Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, is expected daily. The party will be met by Mayor Grant and the Reception Committee and transferred to the city by the tug Lorne. Arrangements have been made to give a demonstration in connection with the celebration of the Queen's birthday.

Another Use for Electricity.

The London Engineering reports an interesting trial of electricity for the conversion of hides into leather which took place in Bermondsey Wednesday. The tanning was accomplished in a revolving drum twelve feet in diameter and eight feet long, rotating at eight revolutions a minute. Turpentine and tannic acid were used to saturate the hides, and a strong current of electricity was caused to flow from a metal band which runs around the interior of one end of the drum to a corresponding band on the other end. The drum, after revolving five days, was opened and the leather appeared to be of excellent quality. This system shortens the process of tanning from months to days, and seems to be a successful revival of an experiment made at Buda-Pesth ten years ago.

California Enthusiastic Over the Fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 19.—The Chamber of Commerce met today to arrange for California's exhibit to the Chicago World's Fair. It was decided that the directors of each State organization should form local organizations and call a meeting for general State representation. The preliminary meeting will be held next week. Much enthusiasm was manifested tonight. Californians consider that the exhibition will be of incalculable advantage to this State. Gov. Waterman today appointed as California's Commissioners to the Fair M. H. De Young, proprietor of the Chronicle, and Col. William Forsyth, the millionaire raisin-grower of Fresno, with George Heazelton, proprietor of the Evening Post, and William M. Bunker of the Report as alternates.

THE LAST DAY OF DEBATE

THE M'KINLEY TARIFF BILL RECEIVES ITS FINISHING TOUCHES.

The Father of the Measure Battles in the Amendments—The California Members Take Up the Sugar Clause—Mr. Cannon of Illinois Makes Some Thrusts at the Pacific Coast Millionaire Sugar Importers—Members Drop Into Verse.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—[Special.]—This, the closing day of the tariff debate, was a bad day for amendments. All those not offered by the Ways and Means Committee were promptly defeated by the Republicans, and the bill will be passed tomorrow as it stands. The Republican members were present in full force.

After a conference had been ordered on the District of Columbia Appropriation bill, the House went into committee of the whole, with Mr. Grosvenor in the chair, on the tariff bill. Mr. Henderson's amendment abolishing the minimum punishment for violation of the internal revenue laws was rejected. So was that of Mr. Cowles repealing the tobacco tax.

Mr. Sayers of Texas offered an amendment providing that iron and steel cotton ties or hoops for baling or other purposes, not thinner than No. 20 wire gauge, shall be admitted free of duty.

Mr. Breckinridge of Arkansas argued in favor of the amendment, protesting against the proposed increase of duty on cotton ties.

Mr. Blanchard of Louisiana regarded the bill as a direct blow at the cotton-growing interests of the South. The burden on the cotton producers would be increased nearly $1,000,000 a year. The life of a cotton tie was one year, and thus the duty had to be paid yearly. The life of a steel rail was ten years, and thus the duty must be paid once in a decade.

Mr. Stewart of Georgia said that the effect of this provision of the bill would be to bear heavily upon the colored laborers of the South.

Mr. Hare of Texas argued that the high duty proposed practically amounted to an export tax.

Mr. Bayne of Pennsylvania contended that it was in the interest of the colored laborer of the South, as well as in the interest of every laborer in the land, that such duties should be imposed as would give employment to the people of the United States.

Mr. Clarke and Mr. Wheeler of Alabama spoke in favor of the amendment.

Mr. Burrows of Michigan said that if the bill passed the cotton tie industry would be established in this country.

Mr. McKinley of Ohio could see no reason why hoop-iron used for cotton ties should be dutiable at any lower rate than hoop-iron used for any other purpose.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. Breckinridge of Arkansas moved to fix the duty on cotton ties at 40 per cent ad valorem. Lost.

ATTACKING THE SUGAR SCHEDULE.

Mr. McKenna, Republican, of California, moved to amend the sugar schedule, reducing the existing schedule 33 per cent and establishing the dividing line at No. 13, Dutch standard, instead of at No. 16, as in the present bill. He then attacked this feature of the McKinley bill.

He said that his amendment made a reduction on the existing duty on sugar of about 33 per cent. It secured to the refiners of this country the refining of sugar between 13 and 16, which the pending bill unpatriotically sent to foreign refiners. As contrasted with the Mills bill the amendment was a reduction; as contrasted with the present bill it was not a case of lowering or increasing rates, but it was a case of a change of policy. The pending bill in all particulars except the sugar schedule was brave and strong. In the sugar schedule it was timid, time-serving, and weak. In the sugar schedule the bill refused to one industry the Republican principle.

The Chicago platform enumerated the ways and means of reducing the revenue, and declared that the internal revenue system should be destroyed rather than that any part of the protective system should be surrendered. The sugar industry was part of the protective system. It was surrendered by this bill. The sugar schedule pointed as directly as ever free-trader pointed to the benefit of buying in the cheapest market [Democratic applause.]

Wool was not produced to the extent of our wants, and no one could predict when it would be. [Democratic applause.]

It was today a declining industry [Democratic applause], and had been given an increased protection in this bill because it was a declining industry; and yet it was called the "keystone of the arch of protection." If the committee was right on the position taken by it in its report the duty on wool was a charge on the consumer. [Democratic applause.]

The Republican party could not make sugar the scapegoat of the surplus without involving the protective system itself. The bill made sugar a contraband in the protective system. It made the sugar industry a parasite on the Treasury by the granting of a bounty. It put the sugar business under police inspection and thrust into its affairs the spies of the Revenue Department. If the bounty principle were correct, why not apply it to other things? [Democratic applause.] Why not apply it to tin plate [laughter] and save at once, if the committee was right (he was only repeating its reasons, not indorsing them), $7,000,000 in revenue and taxation? Then we would have cheap tin to go with cheap sugar. Why not apply it to linen goods, which we did not produce, and give the people cheap linen to go with cheap tin and cheap sugar? [Laughter.] Why not apply it to wool until that article was produced in this country to the extent of the people's wants? [Democratic laughter.] Think of the splendid political effect upon the Republican party when it was enabled to point with pride, as all parties pointed, to the workingman and the farmer sitting down to a cheap breakfast in a cheap suit of clothes. [Laughter.]

MR. CANNON AFTER THE CALIFORNIA MILLIONAIRES.

Mr. Cannon of Illinois in opposing the amendment referred to what he termed the fallacious position taken by the gentleman from California. That position was specious and dangerous. If he (Cannon) could not give a reason in harmony with the Republican platform and with the principles of protection why sugar should be placed on the free list he would forsake his position. The position of the Republican party touching the protective system was to relieve from duty those articles of foreign production, except luxuries, the like of which could not be produced at home. Sugar was a foreign product which could not be produced in the United States in sufficient quantities to supply the home market. Last year the duty on sugar was $56,000,000. The production of the United States was one-eighth of the consumption.

The gentlemen on the other side were consistent when they stood by the duty on sugar, because it was a duty for revenue and in harmony with the policy of the Democratic party. The production of wool last year, under the present insufficient tariff, was 250,000,000 pounds, and the import was 120,000,000 pounds. Twice as much was produced at home as was imported, and the home production was sufficient to control the prices at home and regulate the world's price of wool. Because he was a Republican he was in favor of removing the revenue leech from the protective system and placing sugar on the free list. He denounced the reciprocity treaty with the Sandwich Islands and declared that a few men in California controlled the production of sugar in that country. Put sugar on the free list and good-by to $5,000,000 of the four men of California who owned the sugar plantations o the Sandwich Islands.

Mr. Price of Louisiana favored the amendment and opposed the bill as being injurious to the interests of the colored laborer of the South.

Mr. Morrow of California supported the amendment offered by his colleague, Mr. McKenna, on the ground that it was the only legitimate method of protection and for the further reason that the revenue of $55,000,000 derived from sugar was necessary to meet the obligations of the Government.

Mr. McKinley closed the discussion with an argument in support of the sugar schedule of the bill. Some gentleman on the other side had said that when the Democrats came into the majority they would refuse to make any appropriation to pay the bounty. Fearing this the committee had provided that the appropriation for the payment of the bounties should be a permanent one.

The McKenna amendment was rejected—115 to 134—Messrs. McKenna, Morrow, O'Neill of Pennsylvania, Harmer, Dehaven, Bartine, Vandever, Dorsey, Kerr of Iowa, Coleman, and Reyburn voting in the affirmative.

Mr. Stewart of Vermont offered an amendment extending the bounty to maple-sugar. Lost—51 to 95.

Mr. Breckinridge of Kentucky moved to reduce the duty on hewn, dressed, or polished free-stone granite, sandstone, or other building or monumental stone, except marble, not otherwise provided for, from 40 to 20 per cent ad valorem. Rejected. Messrs. Dolliver, Sweney, Kerr of Iowa, Henderson of Iowa, Caldwell, Burton, Dorsey, and Baker voted in the affirmative.

M'KINLEY'S AMENDMENTS ADOPTED.

On motion of Mr. McKinley amendments were adopted reducing from 14 to 11 cents per cubic foot the duty on unmanufactured or undressed freestone, granite, sandstone, or other building or monumental stone, except marble, not otherwise provided for; and from 50 to 40 per cent on hewn, dressed, or polished stone of the same character.

Also an amendment fixing the duty on sweetened chocolate at 3 cents a pound.

Also an amendment changing the duty on steel ingots, etc., valued above 16 cents per pound, from 45 per cent ad valorem to 7 cents a pound.

Also fixing a duty of 15 per cent ad valorem on white paper for photographers.

Also placing on the free list fish, the product of American fisheries, and fresh or frozen fish caught in fresh waters, except salmon.

MR. ALLEN DROPS INTO VERSE.

In speaking to one of these amendments Mr. Allen of Mississippi dropped into poetry, and in a verse dedicated to the infant industries recited:

> Rock-a-by, baby, you are on top;
>   When the fat fries the cradle will rock;
> When the fat stops the cradle will fall,
>   And down comes protection, cradle, and all.
> Rock-a-by, rock-a-by, never you fear;
>   Rock-a-by, rock-a-by, the G. O. P.'s here.

[Laughter.]

Mr. McKinley also offered an amendment fixing the duty on shotguns valued at no more than $12 at 33 per cent; valued at more than $12, 40 per cent; pistols and revolvers, 35 per cent.

The House was in a great deal of confusion, amidst which the Chair put the question on the amendment and declared it carried.

But Mr. Walker of Massachusetts was loud in his protests, claiming that he was entitled to the floor, having addressed the Chair for recognition in order to oppose the amendment.

Mr. McKinley asked consent that the gentleman from Massachusetts be allowed to proceed, but Mr. Walker declined to be heard on any man's permission.

The Chairman, saying that there was no occasion for any feeling, recognized Mr. Walker, who said that if the amendment were adopted within five years the business of manufacturing fire-arms in this country would be destroyed.

Mr. Mason of Illinois ridiculed Mr. Allen, but himself dropped into verse, saying:

> John Bull, he runs your White House,
>   The whole party runs the bar.
> Lord Sackville-West his letters wrote,
>   And, damn it, there you are.

[Laughter.]

The amendment was agreed to—111 to 21.

Mr. McKinley offered an amendment taking bristles from the free list and fixing the duty upon them at 10 cents per pound. Adopted.

Mr. Linde of Minnesota attacked the binding-twine trust. He asserted that the action of the committee in placing raw material on the free list, without making any reduction in the duty on the finished product, amounted to an increase of 700 per cent in the protection and would be a heavy burden to the farmer. Mr. Taylor of Illinois also objected to the increase of the duties on hemp and flax.

An amendment offered by Mr. McKinley was adopted, the substance of which was to impose a tax of 5 cents a gallon upon alcohol used in the manufacture of vinegar, and putting that manufacture under the superintendence of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

During the entire debate there was much confusion.

The House adjourned at 11:20.

MERCHANTS THAT WANT AMENDMENTS.

The Ways and Means Committee this morning gave hearings to representatives of several industries which seek to have amendments made to the Tariff bill.

The fine-cut tobacco manufacturers were represented by P. Lorillard of New York, Dr. Spence of Cincinnati, A. C. Marshall of Dayton, O., Oren Scotten, J. T. Lowery, C. D. Hull, and T. C. McGraw of Detroit. They wanted the committee to forbid the use of wooden pails and packages for packing fine-cut tobacco, as they were frequently refilled by retailers with inferior grades.

Representative Farquhar of New York introduced John B. Manning of Buffalo, H. C. Cullen and Mr. Irwin of Oswego, representing the maltsters of New York State, who entered a vigorous protest against the proposition to increase from 10 per cent to 30 per cent the duty on barley. One of the speakers said that the malting industry of Oswego represented a capital of $10,000,000, and that the increase of duty would damage that interest to the extent of $8,000,000.

Representative Mason of Illinois wanted all bristles made dutiable at 10 cents a pound. The raw bristles are placed on the free list in the bill, but the prepared stock is dutiable at 30 per cent ad valorem.

JOLIET'S STRIKING BARB-WIRE WORKERS

The Men Determined and No Prospect of a Settlement.

JOLIET, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The striking employés of the Joliet Enterprise Barbed-Wire company are still out, and settlement seems to be as far off as ever. The company made a proposition to the men today, but before the strikers had time to accept it was withdrawn. The men are unanimously in favor of staying out until the company comes to their terms.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 20.—The 3,500 employés of the National Tube-Works company at McKeesport, Pa., who struck ten days ago for a 10 per cent advance, this morning presented a modified demand calling for an advance of from 7½ to 10 per cent. The scale will only apply to certain departments and not all employés as in the first demand. An early settlement is probable.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 20.—The mill hands in all but two of the planing-mills of the city struck this morning. They want nine hours instead of ten and no reduction in wages. The strikers to the number of 465 held a very orderly meeting this morning. The Queen City and the Schneider planing-mills conceded the demands of the men, and those employed there did not strike.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE B'NAI B'RITH.

Yesterday's Work of the Convention in Session at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 20.—[Special.]—The morning session of the convention of B'nai B'rith was well attended, but no business of importance was transacted, most of the time being consumed in general discussion of the welfare of the order in general, and District No. 2 in particular. The question as to whether the Grand Lodge should after this year pay the mileage of the district delegates to the annual Grand Lodge Conventions was debated and finally tabled for future and final consideration.

The tenth delegate to the Constitutional Convention at Richmond next month was chosen this morning in Samuel Westheimer of St. Joseph. The four alternates are: S. Wallman of Louisville, A. Morris of St. Louis, S. Bauer of Cincinnati, and S. Lessner of Dayton, O.

THE LEAVENWORTH SOLDIERS' HOME.

The G. A. R. Committee Commends the Management of the Institution.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., May 20.—[Special.]—The committee appointed by the Grand Army of the Republic people to investigate the charges of mismanagement at the Soldiers' Home terminated their labors very abruptly today, and after being together for three or four hours came to the conclusion that there was nothing to be investigated. One of the committee said there was nothing to find fault with and much to be commended; that the complaints made were doubtless by members who were chronic grumblers or else their minds were in such a condition that they were not responsible for what they said. All the buildings were inspected by the committee, which passed a resolution commending Gov. Smith's management.

What They Think of It.

Peoria Transcript (Rep.): THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE emphatically denies that it is interfering in any way in the Congressional districts of Illinois by endeavoring to bulldoze present Republican Congressmen who are seeking renomination into opposition to the McKinley bill. There are very few people who will believe that THE TRIBUNE ever tried to do any such thing. THE TRIBUNE, as we believe, is sometimes wrong, but it always fights fair.

Well Spoken.

Spokane Spokesman: THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE asks its readers to tell it what part of a newspaper they read first. Not one of them will tell the truth and admit that he first of all runs over the paper with a fine-tooth comb in search of an eloquent and exhaustive article which he sent in the day previous on "The Need of Reform."

HOME MISSIONS REPORT.

FINANCIALLY BEHIND, BUT OTHERWISE PROSPEROUS.

Appeals Made to Raise the Indebtedness—Large Fields Opening in the West—No Action Taken on the Divorce Question—Discussion on Revision Set for Thursday—Synod of Washington Created—Routine Business of the Convention—Bouquets for Graduates.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 20.—[Special.]—In the Presbyterian General Assembly at the opening of this morning's business a special committee reported a minute for record in regard to the Rev. James Lamb, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Cadillac, Mich., who died at Utica while on his way as a commissioner to the General Assembly. A resolution was adopted against lotteries, games of chance, and all forms of gambling. The Committee on Bills and Overtures reported in favor of creating a synod of Washington, but this met with opposition from the presbytery of Oregon. Representatives of the other presbyteries in that section favored the new synod, and it was so ordered by an affirmative vote. The committee also submitted a budget of recommendations in response to overtures and they were separately considered and adopted.

REPORT OF HOME MISSIONS.

The standing Committee on Home Missions submitted its report through its Chairman, the Rev. Dr. Henry S. Little of the Presbytery of North Texas. The following is the general summary of the main features: Missionaries, 1,701; missionary teachers, 361; additions on profession of faith, 6,795; on certificates, 7,691; membership, 100,778; in congregations, 151,368; adult baptisms, 3,844; infant baptisms, 5,031; number of Sunday-schools organized, 578; number of Sunday-schools, 2,516; membership of Sunday-schools, 160,111; church edifices, 1,751; value, $4,657,037; built during the year, 151, valued at $397,681; repaired and enlarged 321 and valued at $65,178; church debts canceled, $161,838; churches self-sustaining this year, 30; churches organized, 230; parsonages, 264; valued at $446,684. Addresses were made by the Revs. Drs. Thompson, Irvin, Wallace, Hill, and Kendall, after which the report was adopted.

The Rev. Dr. William Irvin, one of the Corresponding Secretaries of the Seaboard of Missions, spoke to the report. He regretted that the contributions during the last year to the society were less than in some other years. The synodical aid fund is $28,000 behind. Constant appeals are making to the board for aid which can not be responded to because the churches do not come up with the desired liberality.

The Rev. Dr. C. L. Thompson of New York made a rousing appeal for the raising of the amount required to lift the load from the shoulders of the Home Mission Board. The Rev. Edwin S. Wallace of Aberdeen, S. D., spoke of the benefits which home missions had been to the people there and the rise of Presbyterianism, which, he said, if nourished a few years longer would be able to assist the board in its work. The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Hill of Indian Territory spoke of the great work which had fallen upon the board during the last year in Oklahoma, where 15,000 people had rushed in to possess the new territory. Numerous new communities will be developed during the present year to be cared for by the Home Mission Board. The Rev. Dr. Henry Kendall, the senior corresponding secretary, told of the benefit borne by contributions during three years in Los Angeles, where now are several self-sustaining churches. In Tacoma, Wash., the beginning in sustaining a single church at its inception has resulted in building up several churches. In Chicago the Presbyterians hoped during the present year to build six or seven churches. The recommendations of the committee regarding a special collection for home and foreign missions in June were adopted; also for a special collection by Sunday-schools; also reelecting members of boards.

NO ACTION ON DIVORCE.

The Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson of Chicago, Chairman of Committee of Polity of the Church, announced the receipt of an overture on divorce from Chicago. The recommendation of the committee was that "in view of the discussion now in progress as to revision, etc., that no action be taken by this assembly, and possibly in the future it can be referred to the Committee on Revisions." The report of the Committee on Church Unity has been made the special order for Thursday, but the revision debate will crowd it over. The Rev. Dr. Morrow of the Bloomington Presbytery offered a resolution to have the Presbyterian General Assembly represented at the World's Fair in 1893, but the opinion of this body as expressed was that a religious denomination has nothing to exhibit. The report of the Committee on Colleges being submitted, the Rev. Dr. Gause of Chicago explained at length the successful workings of this department.

This afternoon's meeting was devoted to the Publication Society, and not being concluded was made the special order for tomorrow. A popular meeting in the interest of home missions was held this evening. The graduates of Miami Univerity, Oxford, O., will meet at the Franklin House this evening. The Lane Seminary graduates will have a banquet at the Warden Hotel Thursday evening. The graduates of Hamilton College and Auburn Theological Seminary will banquet at the American Hotel Thursday evening. An invitation will be extended to the Presbyterian General Assembly to meet at Saratoga again next year, but it is thought the 1891 date will be at Detroit, Mich. The assembly may return to Saratoga in 1892. It is doubtful if the present annual session of the General Assembly is concluded until next week Wednesday, as the discussion of revision, which begins this week Thursday, will, it is believed, consume a large amount of time.

ILLINOIS CONGREGATIONALISTS.

The Association at Elgin Disposes of Routine Business.

ELGIN, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—At today's session of the Illinois Congregational Association the Rev. Hervey M. Hoyt of Oak Park was chosen Moderator, the Rev. Martin Post of Sterling Assistant, the Rev. Stephen Peet of Mendota Scribe, the Rev. S. E. Chandler of Central Park and W. E. Coquiette of Winnebago Assistants. In his address the Moderator urged the making of friends and strengthening of friendly ties. Each church stands alone and owes no authority save that of the One to whom we all must bow. But there are ties strong and precious between us all as Christians, which we can here strengthen. A telegram of greeting was sent to Dr. Flaville Bascomb of Princeton, who was prevented from being present by feeble health. He is looked upon by most of the members of the association as a father. The matter of appointing delegates to the International Conference in London was brought up, and Dr. Williams of the South Church, Chicago, was placed in nomination, as some thought Illinois was entitled to two delegates. The matter was referred. The Rev. T. N. Edwards of Amboy read an able paper on "The Divine Christ Leader." The Revs. G. H. Smith, James Tompkins, S. A. Harris, J. A. McCord, E. A. Adams, M. E. Evers, H. M. Scott, and H. A. Bushnell described the condition of branches of the work in the State. The Business Committee reports that six delegates be appointed to the International Council of Congregational Churches at London in 1891, the delegates to be selected later. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That there be appointed each year an associational secretary for ministerial relief, whose duty it shall be to bring this important subject to the more frequent notice of our churches, both in the interest of the general work undertaken by the National Council and that of our State society.

Mrs. Caswell, editor of the Home Missionary, was introduced and spoke on home missions.

BAPTIST HOME MISSIONARY WORK.

What the Society Has Accomplished During the Year—Committee Reports.

The second day's session of the Women's Baptist Home Mission Society's convention opened at Immanuel Church yesterday morning with devotional exercises conducted by the President, Mrs. J. N. Crouse. Reports of standing committees followed. The report of the Committee on Missionaries and Fields was made by Mrs. W. G. Wamsley of Brooklyn, who said that there were seventy-one missionaries in the field. The discussion of the report was led by Mrs. Avery of Jerseyville, Vice-President for Southern Illinois, who spoke briefly on the importance of mission work.

The treat of the morning was the address of Miss J. T. Moore of Louisiana, who was engaged in missionary work before the women's society was organized, and to whom the organization of the society is in no small measure due. She spoke of her extensive experience as a missionary and especially urged the necessity of teaching the mothers as the shortest and most effectual method of reaching the hearts of the children. She believed one lesson to mothers as beneficial as a hundred to children.

The report of the Finance Committee was presented by Mrs. Whitcomb and was adopted.

Mrs. Sunderland of Ohio presented the report of the Committee on Organization, which recommended that the Vice-Presidents of each State organize local societies for mission work, the expenses incurred by these organizers to be borne by the society. This latter recommendation elicited some discussion, many of the ladies believing that the organizers should bear their own expenses. It was decided that the work of organization should be prosecuted as recommended, but that the matter of paying the expenses of the organizers should be left to the discretion of the Executive Board.

The report of the Obituary Committee was read by Miss Mary G. Burdette, the Corresponding Secretary of the society. She referred touchingly to the members of the society who had died during the year.

The old officers of the society were reelected, with the exception of Mrs. R. R. Donnelley, who declined serving another term as Treasurer. In her place Mrs. E. A. Barber of Chicago was elected.

WORK AMONG THE INDIANS.

In the afternoon reports were heard from missionaries. Mrs. Elliott Murrow gave a sketch of mission work among the Indians. She found the Indians eager to learn the truths of Christianity. She read a letter from a Cherokee woman who regretted lack of education because she desired to go out and work among the people of her tribe. Mrs. Murrow deplored the lack of able and educated Baptist missionaries among the Indians. "We do not want the men who are unable to do your work here," she said; "we want your best and ablest men for the mission work."

After the devotional exercises in the evening the report of the Committee on Training-School was read by Mrs. Gates of Minneapolis. The school began with fourteen members and March 30, 1890, there was an enrollment of 175 pupils. The school is free from debt. Prof. E. B. Hurlbut, President of the Theological Institute at Morgan Park, spoke of the success of the training-school.

Mrs. L. E. Gurley of Troy, N. Y., in a pleasing and somewhat facetious address sought to justify women in the part they are taking in Christian work. She spoke of Paul's advice that women should keep silent in the church, and cited many instances from the Bible where women were God's chosen instruments for his work among men.

A telegram was read from a young woman of Brooklyn, N.Y., who said her father would contribute $3,000 for the endowment of the Georgiana Gilmore scholarship as a memorial to his wife, who died recently. Several other subscriptions to the training-school fund were announced, including $100 from Immanuel Baptist Church and $250 from Mr. B. F. Jacobs of Chicago.

Methodists at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 20.—In the Methodist Episcopal Church General Conference today the Committee on Temperance made a long report in which they defined the position of the church on the subject of temperance. The Committee on the Spiritual State of the Church made a long report condemning dancing, card playing, etc. Tobacco and opium were not included. A discussion followed on worldliness in general. The report was adopted.

Episcopal Convention at Warsaw.

WARSAW, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—The thirteenth annual convention of the Quincy Diocese of the Episcopal Church is in session in this city at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Alex. Burgess officiating. Over thirty delegates are present.

[We have never before seen such an assertion attributed to Mr. Blaine, and do not believe he uttered it. It is probable he may have referred to that period as the golden age of the American commercial marine, or American clipper-ship building, or ocean-carrying trade in American ships, as that was before the era of iron steamship building which transferred ocean commerce so largely to the flag of Great Britain.]

The Tariff on Necessaries Should Be Reduced Instead of Raised.

CHICAGO, May 17.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am not bright enough to discuss the merits of the McKinley bill or the question of protection to American industries, but I wish to lay down a proposition and state a fact. Unless some bill is passed by Congress materially reducing the tariff on such articles as the farmer must buy, the Republican party, at the next Presidential election, will hear something drop with a heavy thud. I say this as a Republican, and it is as sure as that the sun will rise tomorrow. It is not possible for flesh and blood to endure longer what those who till the soil have borne for the last ten years. Their condition is at present more deplorable than any other intelligent class of laborers in the United States. It is not a question with the ordinary farmer of laying up any money for a rainy day or of indulging in any of the ordinary luxuries of life, but a question of a bare existence from one year's end to another and of saving his farm from a mortgage. If the present low prices of all the products of his labor are caused by overproduction then let him be protected in the manner indicated, because the result of his labor is the life of the Nation.

ASA W. CLARKE.

Let the West Join in the Movement.

MENOMINEE, Mich., May 17.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I see by the papers that a petition is being circulated in the East to the Czar of Russia asking for the amelioration of the condition of the Siberian convicts. Why not start the ball rolling in the West? Why the civilized world has so long permitted this outrage on humanity to go on; why it has not risen in its wrath and wiped from the face of the earth that cursed power, is a mystery. Little use of trying to stop anarchy with such a nest to breed Anarchists and Nihilists. Who, living in such an atmosphere, would not be a Nihilist? What father, mother, sister, brother, or friend but would rise and wreak vengeance on a Czar who would sanction the outrages perpetrated on humanity had they the power to act. Russian subjects are today worse off than the people of poor Poland. That Russia was our ally during the war I admit, and the history of the purchase of Alaska by Seward explains it. That was business, but this should not deter our Government from protesting in strong terms against this monstrous evil. To do it agitation is necessary. THE TRIBUNE is a power in this direction. Make your sanctum the rallying point from which the whole West shall be heard in a monster petition that shall show that Government that Americans will not stand such outrages. There is no nation on the earth whose pulse quickens as does America's to the cry of distress, and if ever a time was when such a movement was more necessary I know it not. CHAS. F. ORTON.

The Beet Sugar Industry.

CHICAGO, May 16.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Please give me some information as to the extent of the beet sugar industry. SUBSCRIBER.

[The beet sugar industry in this country is largely in its experimental stage, but the experiments so far made promise very favorably and the industry is a growing one. California and Nebraska have so far taken the lead. The California product has been the more extensive, and the beet sugar on the coast has had an encouraging local consumption. In Nebraska extensive refining works are soon to be put up in the Platte Valley by New York capitalists. In North Dakota a good many of the German immigrant farmers have made the experiment on a small scale, and it has been so successful that growing sugar-beet promises to become profitable. The time of planting ranges from April to the middle of June, and the harvesting is in October. Moisture is the most important factor in the growth of the sugar-beet. The University of Nebraska at Lincoln publishes bulletins giving the conditions and the results in that State, where an agricultural experiment station is kept up. The Department of Agriculture at Washington also has publications bearing on the subject. There has been a heavy demand within the last year for sugar-beet seed, and upwards of two and one-half tons have been sent out by the department. The opinion prevails at the Department of Agriculture that the area of land upon which the sugar-beet can be grown with comparative ease and sure profit is large enough to furnish the sugar supply of the country if the sugar from the cane which is now cultivated be added to it. The sugar-beet requires careful culture and close personal attention. It needs what is called hand culture—that is, the frequent application of the hoe. The sugar-beet has to be bred as carefully and as judiciously as high-grade live stock, but when this is done it is the most profitable of crops. The culture of the sugar-beet has been backward in this country on account of the indisposition of our farmers to take up the so-called "petty business."]

FRANKFORT, Ind., May 20.—[Special.]—Last night a gang of thieves planned the robbery of Uncle Tommy Durbin, an aged farmer who lives near this city. At 10 o'clock there was a rap at the door. It was opened, and a revolver was thrust in his face and he was ordered to give up his cash. He gave them a few dollars. At this point the officers closed in upon them and captured three of the four robbers. They were found to be the Hill boys, Jasper, Bert, and Charley, a notorious family that have given the authorities here a great deal of trouble.

Ringing Words from Grateful Hearts

Cuticura Remedies

Covered with Sores

I have used your CUTICURA REMEDIES in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being completely covered with sores. I took him to the Massena Sulphur Springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is today. I used the CUTICURA on his sores and the CUTICURA SOAP in washing him. He is now 5 years of age, and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the CUTICURA SOAP and rubbing in the CUTICURA, one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT being used. They have proved successful in every case. It is surprising how rapidly a child will improve under their treatment.

JOHN R. BERO, Hogansburgh, N. Y.

Awful Blood Humor

I contracted a terrible blood-poisoning a year ago. I doctored with two good physicians, neither of whom did me any good. I suffered all a man can suffer and live. Hearing of your CUTICURA REMEDIES I concluded to try them, knowing if they did me no good they could make me no worse. I have been using them about ten weeks, and am most happy to say that I am almost rid of the awful sores that covered my face and body. My face was as bad, if not worse, than that of Miss Boynton, spoken of in your book, and I would say to any one in the same condition to use CUTICURA, and they will surely be cured. You may use this letter in the interests of suffering humanity.

E. W. REYNOLDS, Ashland, Ohio.

A Grateful Mother

I thank you for your CUTICURA REMEDIES and feel that in doing so I might be able to save some person from a heavy doctor's bill, which I know it has done for me. My baby was seven weeks old when I began to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES for a disease which had spread itself all over its head and face. I was nearly distracted; had been to the doctor's, but got no satisfaction. Before two days' use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES the scabs began to loosen and in three weeks I could hardly believe that it was the baby I used to dread people seeing. He is perfectly cured and has a beautiful growth of hair coming. I am very grateful to you. MRS. GEO. MOREMAN, Verdun, Lower Lachine, Montreal, P. Q.

Scrofula 7 Years

I have been troubled with scrofula seven years, which first started on the top of my head, giving me infinite trouble, with constant itching, casting off of dry scales, and a watery liquid exuded from under the scales. I treated it for seven years unsuccessfully, and was unable to check it until I found your CUTICURA REMEDIES, which completely cured me, my skin becoming perfectly clear and smooth.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by Cuticura Soap. Absolutely pure.

An Awful Sore Limb

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and today, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

S. G. AHERN, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

Head a Running Sore

I have been troubled with a skin and scalp disease for seventeen years. My head at times was one running sore, and my body was covered with them as large as a half dollar. I tried a great many remedies without effect until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. L. R. McDOWELL, Janesburg, N. J.

Not a Pimple on Baby

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scall-head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing. MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

Cuticura Remedies

Ringing words from grateful hearts tell the story of great physical suffering, of mental anguish, by reason of humiliating disfigurations, and of threatened dangers happily and speedily ended by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, the greatest Skin Cures, Blood Purifiers, and Humor Remedies the world has ever known.

CUTICURA, the great skin cure, instantly allays the most agonizing itching and inflammation, clears the skin and scalp of every trace of disease, heals ulcers and sores, removes crusts and scales, and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, the greatest of skin purifiers and beautifiers, is indispensable in treating skin diseases and baby humors. It produces the whitest, clearest skin and softest hands, free from pimple, spot, or blemish.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, chapped, and oily skins prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

A Fearful Psoriasis

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scabs fell constantly from my head, shoulders, and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I thought the disease would leave a very deep scar, but the CUTICURA REMEDIES cured it without any scars. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the CUTICURA REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight. I know of others who have received great benefit from their use.

MRS. ROSA KELLY, Rockwell City, Iowa.

Almost a Solid Scab

I used two bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, three boxes of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and am cured of a terrible skin and scalp disease known as psoriasis. I had it for eight years. It would get better and worse at times. Sometimes my head would be a solid scab, and was at the time I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My arms were covered with scabs from my elbows to shoulders, my breast was almost one solid scab, and by back covered with sores varying in size from a penny to a dollar. I had doctored with all the best doctors with no relief, and used many different medicines without effect. My case was hereditary, and, I began to think, incurable, but it began to heal from the first application.

ARCHER RUSSELL, Deshler, Ohio.

Raw with Eczema

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body, from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything, I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $6. I would not be without the CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house.

ISAAC H. GERMAN, Wurtsboro, N. Y.

One Mass of Sores

I have been afflicted with a sore limb, which the doctors called eczema. My limb from the knee to the foot was one mass of running sores. The doctors bandaged it every day for a week, and every time the bandage was removed a large scab would come off, and the blood pour down. I got one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box CUTICURA, and one cake CUTICURA SOAP, and they cured me. I told a lady who was similarly afflicted to use it, and it cured her also. I gratefully acknowledge that it was CUTICURA that cured me.

MRS. KATE BEARD, Orange Valley, N. J.

Unbearable Itching

I have been afflicted since last March with a skin disease the doctors called eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. C. A. FREDRICK, Broad Brook, Conn.

Fever Sore 8 Years

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well—sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name, which is H. H. Cason, merchant.

JOHN V. MINOR, Druggist, Gainesboro, Tenn.

Boy Bad with Eczema

My boy, aged nine years, has been troubled all his life with a very bad humor, which appeared all over his body in small, red blotches with a dry, white scab on them. Last year he was worse than ever, being covered with scabs from the top of his head to his feet and continually growing worse, although he had been treated by two physicians. As a last resort I determined to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES: they did all that I could wish. The humor rapidly disappeared, leaving the skin fair and smooth and performing a thorough cure.

WHY HE WAS REFUSED ADMISSION.

Reasons of the Surgical Association for Rejecting Dr. Halsted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—[Special.]—There was an incident in the closing hours of the recent convention of the American Surgical Association held in this city which the doctors are trying to keep quiet. It appears that when the name of Dr. W. S. Halsted of Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore was presented for admission to the association five black balls were deposited in the ballot-box, thus disqualifying him from membership among the limited 100 surgeons of the United States composing the association.

In the discussion which ensued at the secret session of the association it was explained that the action taken in Dr. Halsted's case was not intended in any sense as a reflection upon his skill in surgery or his attributes as a gentleman, but as a rebuke to Surgeon John S. Billings, the Chairman of the Council, for his attitude towards Surgeon-General John B. Hamilton of the Marine Hospital service. Friends of Dr. Hamilton declare that for the last four years his name had been presented for admission to the association, but that he had been denied the privilege of becoming a member because of the differences between Surgeon Billings and himself growing out of the abolition of the National Board of Health, of which the former had been the ruling spirit.

BOARD OF HEALTH DISCUSSES FORESTRY.

Resolutions Offered That Recommend the Planting of Trees.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 20.—The National Conference of State Boards of Health reassembled this morning. Dr. P. H. Bryce of Canada read an interesting paper on the preservation of our forests as a National sanitary measure. Resolutions were adopted recommending that a survey be made of the gathering ground of our great rivers, to preserve and replant, if necessary, these acres with protective forest trees, schools be established where the principles and practice of forest trees will be taught, towns and cities to form park associations for the planting of trees and obtaining of waste lands to be gradually reforested. Dr. Benjamin Lee of Pennsylvania offered a resolution that this conference respectfully urges upon the Sub-Committee on Forestry of the Committee on Public Domains of the Congress of the United States to pass such laws as shall check the reckless destruction of trees on public lands. Dr. Benjamin Lee offered a resolution that all State and local Boards of Health should keep all cases of leprosy existing in their respective districts under surveillance.

Only One Was of the James Gang.

JEFFERSON, Wis., May 20.—[Special.]—Sheriff Lyon returned late last night from Madison with requisitions for J. W. Officer, T. W. Berry, and George Scott, who are wanted in Missouri for the robbery of the Wright County treasury of $7,000 and the theft of $200 from a Douglas County merchant. This morning the prisoners left for the scene of their crimes. As to the report that these men are the last surviving members of the noted Jesse James gang it is stated on good authority that Officer was one of the original members of that outlaw organization, but that Scott and Berry were not.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURES IN KANSAS.

What Senator Ingalls's Inquiries Will Discover in One County.

ELDORADO, Kas., May 20.—[Special.]—Senator Ingalls is preparing a speech upon the Western farmer mortgage question, and to that end is obtaining data from various county officers in Kansas. The Clerk of the court of Butler County today received a circular letter from Senator Ingalls asking how many foreclosure sales had been made in this county, and the amount of claims during the last three years. During the time mentioned there have been 168 mortgage sales on farm lands, in which the amount is over $164,000, in Butler County, the largest county in Kansas.

Minnesota Homeops Meet.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 20.—[Special.]—The State Institute of Homeopathy began its annual meeting today. The President, Dr. J. E. Sawyer of St. Paul, in his address strongly urged decisive action to secure either an equal representation of homeopaths and regulars on the State Board of Examiners or a separate board to pass on the candidates of each school. The report of the Treasurer shows the financial condition to be good. A number of very interesting papers were read. The society will banquet at the West Hotel this evening.

Will Represent Eastern Stockholders.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 20.—[Special.]—Ex-State Senator Francis B. Cooley and Daniel R. Howe, both of whom represented Eastern stockholders at annual meetings of various Western railroads last year, have again arranged to go West on a similar mission. The Hartford Board of Trade is backing them, and has issued a call to stockholders in this section to send proxies to the gentlemen named.

BEATEN AT PHILADELPHIA.

Anson's Men Drop a Game to the Quaker City Club by a Score of 7 to 3.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 20.—[Special.]—Threatening weather had a depressing effect upon the reception tendered Anson and his juvenile supporting company by loyal Quakers this afternoon, but it didn't affect the old man a little bit. He was just as chipper and as full of fight as of old, and took the chaffing of the small but select crowd in good part, and returned the most of it with interest.

It rained hard until nearly noon, which rendered the ground soft and uncertain, and it was only by the most lavish use of sawdust and labor of a half-dozen employés that the field was put in any kind of condition. The Phillies were always famous as a mud-playing aggregation, and today they sustained that reputation. At no time after the third inning were the Chicagoans in it. They were like so many men of putty in the hands of young Mr. Gleason, who is pitching "out of sight" just now. Sullivan secured two singles and Cliff Carroll one, and that was the sum total of the hitting of Anson's men.

On the other hand, Sullivan was found safely at least once in every inning except the fourth.

Considering the condition of the ground the fielding of both teams was excellent. Cooney played all around the infield, and in the third inning he brought the crowd to its feet by a circus one-handed catch of Myers' line fly. Cliff Carroll played left as well as he did in his palmiest Providence days, and in the second he made a line throw to second which cut the Quakers out of at least one run.

Earle appeared to be the weak spot in the infield and managed to monopolize the error-making.

For the Phillies Myers played a stiff game at second, and Thompson endeared himself to the field-bleachers by pulling down with one hand Sullivan's well-meant two-bagger. The Phillies scored in the first inning. Hamilton opened with a single and stole second by grace of Earle's muff of Nagle's good throw, going up to third on Sullivan's balk. Burke was sent to first on balls and stole second. Myers was thrown out at first by Earle and Hamilton scored. Thompson was also thrown out by Earle. Clements went to first on balls and stole second, but was left with Burke, Mayer being thrown out by Burns.

Chicago went out in order in the first inning, but went to the front in the second. Anson and Andrews were sent to first on balls, and Earle struck out. Burns was retired by Myers on a rattling good assist and Anson and Andrews each advanced a base and both scored on Sullivan's hit to right, which should have been an easy out, but Thompson fell flat when within a few feet of the spot where the ball fell. Nagle was safe at first on Schriver's muff of Myers' throw and Cooney was given first on balls. Carroll left the bases full by popping up a little fly to Mayer.

The Phillies tied the score in the third on Earle's fumble of Thompson's hit and singles by Clements and Mayer. The visitors went to the front in their half of the fifth, when Cooney scored on Mayers' fumble, Carroll's base hit, a passed ball, and Anson's sacrifice. That ended Chicago's run-getting.

The Quakers took the lead in the second half of the fifth. Myers and Thompson were sent to first on balls, the former scoring on Mayer's two-bagger. Earle made a careless throw-in to Sullivan and Thompson scored, the ball getting by Nagle. Mayer scored on a single to left by Schriver, the latter taking second on the throw-in. Allen made a hit and started to steal second. Nagle threw to Earle and Schriver started for the plate, but he never touched it, Earle making a splendid throw home. Burke's double and Myer's single earned a run in the sixth, and Hamilton's two-bagger and Thompson's base hit earned another in the eighth. Attendance, 800. The score:

Arrested for Sunday Ball-Playing.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 20.—[Special.]—The ministers' conference today swore out warrants for the arrest of the batteries of the Port Huron and Grand Rapids base-ball clubs of the Michigan League for playing ball Sunday. The manager and directors of the league propose to fight it to the end.

Base-Ball Notes.

Schiebeck, a Detroit boy, is playing a great game at short for Toledo.

Sioux City offers Genin's release to the highest bidder. He is an outfielder.

Whistler of the Washingtons recently put out twenty men in a nine-inning game.

What has become of old Dan O'Leary. In these times of trouble he should be heard from pretty often.

It is said that Buck Ewing will sign Dunlap for his team and play him at short. Ewing can handle Dunny.

James J. Grogan, John J. Daily, and Dan E. McKercher have been appointed umpires in the Michigan State League.

Joyce of Brooklyn is doing well at bat. If he keeps up his gait he will stand well at the front of the Players' League.

Detroit seems to be a sure winner again in the race for the international pennant. The team is carrying everything before it.

Powers, the Californian, is regarded as the best catcher Baltimore ever had. They are comparing him with Comiskey down East.

Galveston, Tex., has a second baseman named John Ward. The Texas base-ball men seem to think him equal to his famous namesake.

Jerry Denny has put himself on record as saying that he is in base-ball for the money there is in it, and that he does not care who wins or loses.

"Hick" Carpenter's name is Warren W. He has been known so long by the name of "Hick" that people had forgotten his real name.

Manager Buffinton says that Shannon and not Farrar has been appointed Captain of the Philadelphia players' club. Shindle, it is said, was offered the office, but declined.

Every man who has played on the Boston Players' League grounds is positively "stuck" on the diamond, particularly the pitchers' and base paths. The soil used in their construction is made up of molder's clay, white bar sand, and loam. For running purposes they cannot be excelled.

The Omaha Republican sarcastically remarks: "President Speas of Kansas City says he intends to win the pennant even if it does come a little high. It is too bad that President Speas cannot have his own way about it, but unfortunately there are seven other clubs in the Western Association who will see that he does not."

One wonders if John B. Day would not like to have back some of the ball-players that in years gone by he released as "n. g." Weckbecker, the best backstop Louisville has, and Roach, Des Moines' crack pitcher, who will undoubtedly be in one of the major organizations next year, are among the number released by the New York magnate who have panned out well.

President Stern of Cincinnati expresses himself as confident of the league winning in the fight with the brotherhood. Still he thinks that large sums of money will be dropped on both sides. "The Players' League is not going to make any money," said he, "and the best the players can do will be to draw their bare salaries, if they can get that much. There won't be any profits to divide." "Is there any possibility of the league changing its schedule?" "Not to my knowledge. No meeting has been called for that purpose. I for one am well satisfied to fight the battle out on the lines that were laid down at the last meeting of the league."

Gallagher's running in from third base has become monotonous. The umpires are on it, and he agrees to a compromise and will go to Sterling. He is a good one at all points, and his tricks win games.

Won by the Braidwoods.

Sunday the Chicago Swifts visited Braidwood and suffered a bad defeat at the hands of the Braidwood Association Football Club. Two thousand spectators turned out to witness the game, which was a spirited one. The ball was knocked off by the Swifts at 3 o'clock, the wind being against them. For the first fifteen minutes they kept the ball down at the Braidwood goal, but the Black Diamond boys rallied and carried the ball into the Swifts' territory, where Briddick kicked a goal, which was soon followed by another. Three more came in quick succession, kicked by J. Walker, G. Cunningham, and D. Young, respectively.

When half time was called the score stood Braidwood, 5; Swifts, 0. Ends were changed, but five minutes after starting a corner kick fell to Braidwood. It was well placed by Cunningham and J. Walker shot it under the bar. Bates, the Swifts' goalkeeper, was kept busy, and but for his good play many more goals would have resulted. Fifteen minutes before time was called D. Young secured another goal for Braidwood and the game terminated in favor of the coal district by a score of 7 to 0.

TARIFF TALKS.

Rockford (Ill.) Gazette (Rep.): With an overflowing Treasury there is no possible excuse for any increase of tariff duties, and a general decrease is expected; in fact, the Republican party in pledged thereto.

Philadelphia Record: By last accounts there are in the United States about 65,000,000 human inhabitants and about 44,000,000 sheep. But in the estimate of the authors and advocates of the McKinley bill the sheep are much more worthy of consideration than the human beings.

Waseca (Minn.) Radical: Another excellent feature of the McKinley tariff bill is that human hair is put on the free list. This with free diamonds just fixes the farmer. With a big diamond and a small wad of human foreign hair he can sit up nights and grow fat enjoying solid comfort.

St. Paul Pioneer-Press: Really, to the Northwestern farmer it looks very much like a McKinley bill. . . . The fact, as asserted by high-protection organs, that Mr. Butterworth's bitter protest against the McKinley bill will not make the least difference in the vote suggests that the majority in Congress is too blinded by partisanship to think independently or to act otherwise than under the tingling inspiration of the party whip.

Minneapolis Journal (Rep.): If that McKinley bill ever gets through Congress it will require some fortitude on the part of the President to sign it if Elijah Halford has kept him only moderately posted upon the actual views of the Republican party on the measure throughout the country. . . . The increase of duties on dry goods and collateral lines effected by the McKinley bill is figured by some experts in those lines at $45,000,000 at the present rate of imports. The idea of increasing the duty on common and medium grades of carpet 35 to 40 per cent to compensate the carpet manufacturers for the increased duty on wool is a very peculiar kind of benefit.

RACING EAST AND WEST.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS AT GRAVESEND AND LOUISVILLE.

Castaway, Brookful, Glockner, Jake Miller, and Gen. Caldwell the Winners at Churchill Downs—The Brooklyn Program Marred by Bad Weather—A Decision in the Nelson-Alcroyn Case at Buffalo Which Sustains the National Trotting Association.

NEW YORK, May 20.—[Special.]—The rains descended and the floods came this morning, converting the Gravesend course into a sea of mud. The Brooklyn Jockey Club is unfortunate in the matter of weather. A brilliant program was marred by numerous scratchings. The field of nine in the Parkway Handicap was reduced to two, leaving the race a match between Castaway II., winner of the Brooklyn Handicap, and Eric, who ran third on that occasion. Castaway carried today 114 pounds, fourteen more than in the Brooklyn, while Eric carried 108, two pounds less than he had up last Thursday. This made a difference of sixteen pounds in Eric's favor, besides which he was ridden today by Hamilton, which was equivalent to an additional ten pounds advantage. The glamour of Castaway's victory in the Brooklyn Handicap bound to him a host of friends who maintained that he would beat Eric, so the betting was an even thing between them, the quotations varying from 9 to 10 to even money. Bunn rode Castaway. The two horses ran locked together like a team for seven furlongs, then Hamilton sat down to ride and under his vigorous driving Eric won by three-quarters of a length. Time, 1:52½.

That unreliable sprinter, Ilma B., was made a warm favorite in the first race over Blue Rock, Civil Service, and six other fast horses, but she failed to show any speed. Civil Service won cleverly, Blue Rock second, Chieftain third. Civil Service is now one of the most invincible mud horses in training. He is dangerous in the best company. Bergen, who rode Blue Rock, complained that Civil Service fouled him, but the judges dismissed the charge and placed the horses as they finished. Time, 1:03¼.

Sorrento, who has been running with the speed of a snail lately, won the second race, a handicap at a mile, with little difficulty. As much as 15 to 1 could be had on him. Prodigal, the favorite, did not try a yard. Senator Hearst's colors were seen in this race for the first time this season, his colt Philander finishing a close second after getting much the worst of a straggling start. Time, 1:48¾.

J. A. and A. H. Morris continue to trump all the 2-year old tricks. Their filly Correction played with the buds in the Clover stakes and won as she pleased by a length and a half. She was the favorite. Pierre Lorillard's filly Lima was second, Porter Ashe's Rometta third. Time, 1:06¾.

Woodcutter, the favorite in the fifth race, was all but left at the post, and his jockey, Covington, made little or no effort to get up with the leaders till it was too late to accomplish anything. Uncle William Daly turned out a sleeper in Evangeline, who won all the way. The ring laid 10 to 1 against her. Time, 1:07.

Kempland was backed nearly off the boards in the last race and would probably have won but for an accident. Near the head of the stretch, while running well within himself, he was knocked off his feet by Lotion and Ernest, who cannoned against him. The winner turned up in Golden Reel, a very consistent performer in heavy going. Eleve was second at a long price, Kempland and Lotion running a dead heat for third place. Time, 1:55.

POOR CARD AT LOUISVILLE.

Racing of an Inferior Nature on a Heavy Track.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 20.—[Special.]—Outside of the stake event the racing today was very tame, and even in the stake-race Glockner had a pretty easy thing of it at the finish. The track was heavy and holding, the weather delightful, and the attendance the lightest of the meeting. But then the card was a poor one, hardly worthy of New Orleans at its worst.

Maori, an assumed world-beater, is a dethroned queen, judging by her poor performance today, and Unit, the sister of Freeland, performed still worse. With only four starters in the first race Mary H. was an even-money favorite and carried a lot of money. Castaway was second choice and led nearly all the way, winning in a common canter by three lengths from Clamor, Mary H. fifty yards away.

Five started in the second race and Brookful was the hottest sort of a favorite. He made a runaway race of it and almost walked under the string, Semaphore being second.

In the Merchants' Handicap with seven starters Glockner with a very comfortable support was at two to one, Unite and Maori three to one each, Ja-ja five to one. The last named and Kate Malone led the procession for six furlongs, with Glockner and Hypocrite in the rear. After that Glockner gradually moved up, while Kate fell back beaten. Rounding the last turn Ja-ja had assumed a lead of two lengths with Glockner, and at that stage everything else was hopelessly beaten. Glockner gradually but surely improved his position, until half way down the homestretch he was on even terms with Ja-ja, and then drawing away he won quite handily by two lengths. Hypocrite was third four lengths away, the others strung out.

A race for selling platers followed, and Jake Miller at 12 to 1 led from the start to finish, winning just as he liked. Silver King, the favorite, beat Eli a neck for the place.

The last race brought out four 2-year olds, with Gen. Caldwell and Laura Agnes equal favorities at 6 to 5. The finish was entirely confined to the pair named, the General winning by a neck.

The high sounding Kentucky Oaks to be run tomorrow will be a tame affair, as the now almost invincible English Lady will have almost a virtual walk-over. The struggle, if any, will be for second money. Just before the fourth race all the jockeys were called to the judges' stand and lectured by Col. Clark. Rumor said there was a job on the tapis, but if there was it did not materialize. Summaries:

CATALINE'S LAST RACE IS RUN.

The Old Steeplechaser Breaks a Leg Going Over a Hurdle.

The crowd was small but enthusiastic at the West Side track yesterday. There was no stake event on the program, but the racing was good. Three favorites won and two of the events were taken by short horses. The betting was lively on each race.

In the last event, a mile over four hurdles, Winslow was selected to win, while Elphin was a strong second choice. Cataline was also well backed, but he will never run another race. Going over the third jump he fell with a crash and fractured his right fore leg. The jockey, Meaney, fell off on one side and escaped serious injury, but Updike, who rode Brac-a-ban, immediately behind Cataline, was thrown violently when his mount stumbled over the fallen horse and his collar-bone was broken. Cataline will have to be destroyed. C. W. Doherty, his owner, was greatly grieved over the accident, as the horse was one of the best hurdlers and steeplechasers in the West and when fit was almost invincible. The summaries:

SUSTAINS THE ASSOCIATION.

Decision by a Buffalo Judge in the Nelson-Alcroyn Case.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 20.—[Special.]—Judge Corlett today handed down a decision in the Nelson-Alcroyn trotting scandal case which sustains the National Trotting Association in the action it took last fall, suspending the horses and their owners until such time as they shall see fit to voluntarily dissolve the injunction restraining the Board of Control from taking action in the case. When the board sought to try the men who were charged with crookedness in the race they were enjoined. The congress itself then took the action outlined above and were at once commanded to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court. In his decision Judge Corlett says:

"It appears that the corporation has five judicial districts which include Canada and the United States, that tribunals exist which are a part of the machinery of the corporation to try and determine questions which may arise, impose penalties and inflict other punishments; that this court in the present case consisted of four members. It also appears that there is within the corporation a congress which represents not only the corporation but the numerous local organizations which are members.

"No question is made but that the injunction was obtained for the purpose of preventing the defendant from trying the charges of fraud. The action was brought for that purpose. The structure of the complaint, the form of the prayer for relief, the rules and by-laws—all of which are made a part of the complaint—clearly show the relief sought by the action. The numerous allegations averring want of power and jurisdiction in the tribunal to try and determine show that the pleader proceeded upon that assumption.

"Construing the injunction order and the resolution of the congress in the light of these suggestions it is clear that the parties charged are not guilty of contempt."

Special Prize Offered at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 20.—[Special.]—At the extra races Friday over the Jockey Club course a special price is offered for a sweepstakes, one and one-quarter miles, of a piece of plate known as the Western Gas Association cup and valued at $500. The entries will be announced tomorrow. Senator Hearst will have one or more horses of his stable in the race and one of the noted Australian flyers at the jockey club's stables will also probably start.

Notes of the Turf.

The English Derby now seems to be between Surefoot and Sainfoin.

The New York Jockey Club will name a stake the Santa Anita in honor of "Lucky" Baldwin's stud.

Proctor Knott is declared to be as sound as ever and ready for a race. His old rival Spokane is still under the weather.

Palisade, who won at Lexington last week at a mile in 1:42¼, was last at the start and was timed from wire to wire in 1:41¼.

French Park has joined the array of "cripples" in the first-class lot, and will not see the post this year, if ever again. Beatify, Gaillard, and the Hanover Stable's Spendthrift-Torchlight colt are also laid up.

Isaac Murphy, the "Colored Archer" among jockeys, has begun the season well. He has had three mounts and won two of them on Riley in the Derby and Clark stake. He is first jock for the Haggin Stable and will soon begin work in the East.

Pilgrim, the colt that ran Prince Fonso to a head in the Chicago Derby Monday, is not in the American Derby, a fact which his owner, G. W. Poole, doubtless regrets now. The colt is in the Oakwood and Great Western Handicaps at 98 pounds, and is also entered in the Drexel Stakes, Dearborn and Wheeler Handicaps.

General Sporting Notes.

Muldoon repeats his offer published in THE TRIBUNE two weeks ago to back Smith against any one, barring Jackson, Sullivan, and McAuliffe.

Kilrain weighed 219 pounds Monday. His term of imprisonment expires next Friday.

Jake Schaefer and Frank Ives are at San Francisco. They give an exhibition May 29.

Jim Dunkley, the wrestler, will leave today for a short visit in Edinburg, Scotland.

Ike Weir has challenged Billy Murphy for a fight for $2,500 a side and the 123-pound championship.

"Parson" Davies thinks well of Smith. He says he can whip any of the second-class men.

Both Smith and Jackson showed marks of Monday's encounter yesterday. Both of Smith's eyes were in mourning.

Things are coming pretty hard for "Spider" Weir and Tommy Warren, the little fakers. Both are broke.

Ike Weir says he will do all in his power to prevent Billy Murphy from taking the featherweight belt to Australia.

Thorpe, the jockey who was injured at St. Louis, will recover. Jess Armstrong, the colt that fell with him, is irretrievably broken down.

The first National colored bicycle tournament ever given in the world will be held at Brotherhood Park, St. Louis, Mo., Sunday, June 8. Entries will be open to all colored bicyclists.

The wrestling match between Ed Hicks, the Stock-Yards wonder, and Jack Fleming's unknown has been declared off, the latter having broken his right wrist in training. Forfeit money was paid.

Robespierre, the colt in the Chicago Stables that started out so brilliantly in Memphis and Nashville, will arrive at the West Side track tomorrow and will be seen in the Speculation handicap Decoration-Day.

It is said that Flyaway, the best filly in West & Co.'s stable, is broken down and her retirement is probably permanent. After a short spin in a preparatory gallop at Louisville she pulled up a hopeless cripple.

A special from Greenville, Ill., says: "Representatives from all parts of the county met in Judge Lindly's office yesterday and completed arrangements for a grand wolf hunt to take place on Horace McNeill's farm, three miles south of this city, Friday, May 23, which will be the biggest sporting event in the county's annals. Not less than 500 men will take part in it, and besides the two wolves known to haunt the farm, it is expected to beat up a half-dozen or more foxes."

That Tired Feeling

Prevails with its most enervating and discouraging effect in spring and early summer, when the days grow warmer and the toning effect of the cold air is gone. Hood's Sarsaparilla speedily overcomes "that tired feeling," whether caused by change of climate, season or life, by overwork or illness, and imparts that feeling of strength and self-confidence which is so comforting and satisfying. It also cures sick headache, biliousness, indigestion and dyspepsia.

Nervous Headache.

"Early last spring I was very much run down, and had nervous headaches, felt tired and languid. I was very much benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla and recommend it to my friends." MRS. J. M. TAYLOR, 1119 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, O.

Completely Run Down.

"I was completely run down, and was for nearly four years under medical treatment, being given up to die by physicians. They prescribed iron and other medicines, but I received no benefit and they grew worse. My mother urged me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and at last I consented. I cannot say I have ever taken anything which has done me so much good as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which restored me to health and vigor. I have been taking it about [illegible] months and [illegible] all day with very little fatigue. I highly recommend it." NELIA NOBLE, 904 South Adams st., Peoria, Ill.

BORSCH—OPTICIAN [illegible] 102 E. WASHINGTON-ST

Prominent Business-Man, head of a Large Chicago house, said to us yesterday: I want to "get a NEW SPRING OVERCOAT. Do you" "know the one I bought of you SEVEN YEARS" "AGO is still a good coat, but I want a change," &c., &c.

Think of it, friends? Couldn't wear it out! Seven years of hard service and still a good coat! That's the kind of Clothing we sell, but we must be very candid with you and not get you all to expecting seven years' service from every garment we sell. We make no such rash promises. What we do say is this (especially of such clothing as bears ROGERS, PEET & CO.'S name): It is thoroughly well made, the things are serviceable, the shapes are correct, and we guarantee ALL REASONABLE satisfaction. If you buy Clothing for yourself or your boys because it is good and the prices are reasonable, you will do MUCH BETTER than to buy any one's goods just because they are cheap and sightly.

WHO WILL PURCHASE IT?

SALT LAKE CONJECTURES OVER THE MORMONS' PUBLIC PROPERTY.

Speculation as to How the Ground and Buildings Should Be Disposed Of—An Argument in Favor of the Government Buying It—Railroad Surveys in Siam—Progress That Has Been Made—Approaching Election in Japan.

Fred Trimmer, a member of the Salt Lake City Chamber of Commerce, is at the Palmer House. Speaking of the Supreme Court's decision on the Mormon question he said: "That decision will cause a great deal of excitement in Utah, for it throws on the market thousands of dollars' worth of property, and the question arises: How can it be disposed of? This property was confiscated by the United States Government three years ago when the Edmunds bill was passed. It consists of buildings and land in the heart of Salt Lake City and includes the tithing house, where the taxes were paid; the Amelia Palace, built by Brigham Young for his favorite wife; and an elegant residence, now occupied by Wilford Woodruff, President of the Mormon Church. The temple, being a place of worship, was not included in the act of confiscation.

"There is talk of putting this property under the hammer, but that would mean a chance for the Mormons. A great mistake will be made if it is given to the highest bidder, for the Mormons would bid it in at any price, so that their prestige with the ignorant classes might be retained. The poorer classes seem to be the only supporters of the Mormons now.

"In a short time the Government will have to buy a site for a post-office and Federal building. This Mormon property is centrally located and suitable for Government purposes. It is suggested that Uncle Sam purchase it. It would be a cheerful thing for the Gentiles to see a Government building on the site the Mormons intended to use for some of their abominable purposes.

"Regarding the Mormon Disfranchisement bill now before Congress opinion is divided. New settlers in Utah find the better class of Mormons in the towns to be enterprising and prosperous citizens, capable of keeping abreast of the times. Some of this class of Mormons are doing their best to develop the Territory, and for this reason it is argued that their political freedom should be respected."

D. A. Forrest, an English tourist, told some facts about Siam railroads at the Grand Pacific last evening. "As in all countries of the Far East," said he, "the question of railways is the most important one at present in Siam. While there not long ago I was told that a survey was being made by English contractors for a main line to Chiengmai and various branches from this trunk line. The total distance is about nine hundred miles. The line is to be located before March 1 next. The average cost per mile of the survey is not to exceed $500. The engineers had already presented their report of the survey of the first section. It is forty-five miles long, and runs from Bangkok to Ayuthia. This survey cost only $245 a mile.

"This survey is approved of by the Government, though it will not build the line. English contractors are scrambling for this work, but they don't seem to be successful, for, while the Siamese Government does not want to build the line at present, it does not want it constructed by foreign capital. A small contract has been let to a Siamese company, and either this company or the Government will carry on the work and tap the great Northeast. By this means a vast amount of trade now difficult of transportation can be obtained."

Speaking of the coming election in Japan at the Richelieu last evening, B. J. Barrows, who has lived in Tokio a number of years, said: "Parliament will be chosen in July. Peers and Representatives will constitute the body. There are to be 300 Representatives elected by ballot. There will be 252 Peers, divided into four classes: Those who sit by hereditary right, including members of the Imperial family; one-fifth of the Counts, Viscounts, and Barons of the Empire, to be chosen by their order; imperial life appointees, selected from those who have rendered great services to the State and from the learned men of the nation; and one man selected from each of the forty-five provinces, to be elected by the largest taxpayers of each province.

"Although the conditions are somewhat complicated all classes, except the Socialists, favor the election. The qualifications of the voter are that he shall be 25 years old, pay $15 national direct tax yearly, and have lived three years in the province where he votes. The members of both Houses receive an annual salary of $800, except those holding seats by hereditary right, who are not allowed a salary. In no country on the globe is the franchise so high, and the results should be nearly perfect. In this matter Japan is wisely benefiting from the experiences of older countries."

ST. PAUL ROAD WILL REACH SUPERIOR.

Contract Let for a New Railroad—General Milwaukee News.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 20.—[Special.]—Nineteen miles of new road from Necedah to Dexterville, the contract for which was let today, will connect the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul with the Wisconsin, Pittsville and Superior railroad purchased some days ago by the St. Paul company of George Hiles. The connected lines will, in part, form the St. Paul company's proposed extension to Lake Superior, which is the most important work undertaken by the St. Paul since the completion of the Kansas City line. The counties through which the Lake Superior extension is to pass, according to the articles of incorporation, indicate that Superior will be the Northern terminus. It is reported that the St. Paul company will shortly let the contract for building from Chippewa Falls to Weyerhauser, on the Sault Ste. Marie and Atlantic, with the Necedah road, and make it part of the Lake Superior line.

President Somers of the Common Council, who is being urged by his friends as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Milwaukee district next fall, will deliver an address on the school question at the Catholic mass-meeting to be held Tuesday evening as an adjunct to the State Convention of Catholic Societies. Besides Ald. Somers the speakers for the Tuesday evening meeting are as follows: H. J. Spaunhorst of St. Louis, "The Affairs of the Society"; the Rev. Joseph Wiedmann of La Crosse, "The Attitude of the Church Toward Societies in the Middle Ages and at the Present Time"; Theodore Kersten of Chilton, "The German Catholic as an American Citizen"; and Rev. G. D. Heldman of Chicago, "The Children."

Gov. Hoard has three vacancies to fill on the Board of Regents of the State University, owing to the deaths of Hiram Smith and George H. Paul and the removal of J. V. Quarles from the First District to Milwaukee. To succeed Mr. Paul the names of Col. John L. Mitchell and John Johnston are mentioned. Charles R. Beach of Whitewater is mentioned as likely to succeed Mr. Quarles, and Messrs. Meade and Blackstock of Sheboygan are in the race for the place held by Mr. Smith.

R. C. Spencer is preparing a circular letter of his charges against Superintendent Whitehead of the Humane Society, which he intends, he says, to send to every member of the society. The charges include immorality, cruelty, and smaller offenses, such as selling pools at horse races. Mr. Spencer is dissatisfied with the action of the society directors in reference to his charges and courts a fuller investigation.

Cornelius Knuit, an aged farmer living at New Coeln, stepped off a St. Paul train this morning and was killed. Crossing Lincoln avenue the conductor called out the name of the next station. Supposing that the train was slowing up the old man stepped off, struck his head against some hard object, and was almost instantly killed. He was 70 years of age and unmarried.

The arrangements for the Pythian conclave to be held in Milwaukee in July will begin in earnest tomorrow, when permanent headquarters will be opened, with W. C. Williams and a corps of assistants in charge. Tomorrow evening Gen. Carnahan, who is the head of the Uniformed Rank of the world, will be in Milwaukee, when three new regiments will be instituted and a brigade organized.

The term of Maj. David C. Fulton as United States Marshal for the Western District of Wisconsin expired today, but the appointment of his successor has not been announced. Rock Flint and Gen. Ginty are candidates for the position. Both have strong influence behind them, and some sort of a compromise may have to be made.

A committee of the Excelsior Lodge of Masons met the remains of ex-Postmaster Paul at the National Avenue Station of the St. Paul road at 6 o'clock this evening and escorted them to the late residence of the deceased on Hanover street.

SENATOR STANFORD SEEKS MEDICAL AID.

He Is Threatened with Locomotor Ataxia and Is Going to Europe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 20.—[Special.]—It is an open secret among Southern Pacific officials that the real reason for Senator Stanford's coming visit to Europe is not to secure rest, as is given out, but to consult leading European specialists in regard to the disease which threatens to make him helpless in a few months. He is a powerful man, standing six feet and weighing 300 pounds, yet his large hands shake as though he had the palsy, and especially when he is excited or tired. This is the only direct symptom that he shows of the dreaded disease, locomotor ataxia, with which he is threatened. This species of paralysis is nervousness, but is very deadly. It is to avoid such a fate that Stanford will soon sail for Europe and the best medical advice that money can buy will be sought.

ECONOMY.

There are very few words in the dictionary so misused as this, whose definition is "A frugal and judicious use of money." Many people believe it to mean the spending of as little money as possible, in order to get something that will in some way or other answer their needs, and especially is this so when they buy clothing.

They see a garment that LOOKS WELL and costs but little money; they take it home and congratulate themselves upon being so economical and getting such a bargain. In thirty days their so-called economical garment looks shabby, and in sixty it is nearly worn out.

HAD THEY USED TRUE ECONOMY they would have paid a third more and obtained something that would have lasted three or four times as long and looked well for a year or more. We have a store full of economical garments, especially Economical Garments for Children.

They are well made and trimmed, very durable, and faultlessly cut, but owing to these very facts cannot be sold in competition with trash.

As an Instance of What We Mean

We should like to have you examine Lot 7223, which is a pleated two-garment suit (jacket and pants), made from a grayish plaid cassimere, ages 4 to 14; price, $8.50.

We can sell you durable goods for less money, but they are not so sightly, nor is the material so fine.

As it is now a little late in the season you can buy a SPRING OVERCOAT from us VERY CHEAP. Men's and boys' sizes.

Have You Seen Our New Line of Ladies' Waists,

In the Newport, Vassar, and Congress styles? Sizes up to 36 inches. Materials striped and plaid flannels. Prices, $2.50 and $2.75. Same styles in stripe and plaid silks, $4.50.

EAST-BOUND RATES CUT.

THE LAKE SHORE FORCES A REDUCTION ON PROVISIONS AND OATS.

Inauguration of a Freight War to the Seaboard—Lake and Rail Schedules to Be Met by the All-Rail Lines—The Canadian Pacific's Competition—The St. Louis and San Francisco Absorbed by the Santa Fe—The Latter Given Full Control of the Atlantic and Pacific.

About a week ago the Lake Shore road reduced the rate on oats from Chicago to New York to 22 cents (a cut of 3 cents) because some of its competitors by persistently lowering the regular tariff had managed to secure the bulk of the business. At the same time the line gave notice that unless the rate-stabbing was stopped it would make still greater reductions. Shortly afterwards the company discovered that not only the rate on oats were being cut, but that on provisions as well. Consequently it requested the Central Traffic Association to put down the latter tariff from 30 cents to 25 cents.

Chairman Blanchard was ordered to ask the vote of the members of the association on the proposition, but no steps having been taken in this direction and the rate cutting becoming worse from day to day the Lake Shore yesterday gave official notice that it would put in effect May 26 a rate of 20 cents on oats and 25 cents on provisions and kindred articles.

A meeting of the Chicago committee was at once called to consider the action. The conclusion was reached that the only thing to be done was to meet the Lake Shore's rates. Accordingly Chairman Shaw issued the following notice:

Effective Monday, May 26: The all-rail rates, Chicago to New York, will be 30 cents per 100 pounds on bulk meats, 25 cents on live hogs and provisions, and 20 cents on oats and oil cake, usual differences to apply to other seaboard cities. The rates to the Western termini of the Trunk Line Association will be 12½, 15, and 17½ on the different bases of 20, 25, and 30 cents respectively, the regular scale basis to apply to interior points east of the Western termini, but no reductions will be made west thereof, except where the former tariff rates to interior points are higher than the above reduced rates to said termini. The articles entitled as commodities to the 30-cent basis are only bulk meats, as defined by the official classification. The articles entitled to the 25-cent basis are "meats, cured, in packages," when in car-loads, as enumerated in the classification as fifth class, and also the following articles when in car-loads:

Beef extract, in cans, boxed; blood, liquid, in packages; broths and soups, in cans, boxed; glucose and glucose sirup; grease, lard, stearine, tallow, pigs' feet, pickled; lard, tallow, and oleomargerine oils; calf, goat, sheep, beef, horse, and hog skins or hides, green, in bundles.

The new commodity rates will not apply to articles loaded in refrigerator cars, on which the former class rates will be maintained.

The opinion prevails that harder cuts in east-bound rates will soon be made. Wheat and flour still remain at 25 cents while other grain rates are 20 cents. Neither wheat nor flour, especially the latter, can stand such a rate, and it will have to come down to 20 cents. The active competition of the lake and rail lines compels the Central Traffic Association roads to make low rates if they mean to do any business during navigation season.

The opening by the Canadian Pacific of a through route from New England and Canada to Chicago has also had much to do with the drop in east-bound rates. The Canadian Pacific commenced to take through freight from Chicago yesterday, and while it is not known that it is making lower rates than the other east-bound lines, yet the opinion prevails that it will not hesitate to secretly apply the knife if a good opportunity is offered. Anyway it is certain to secure enough business to seriously affect the revenues of the other east-bound lines, especially the Chicago and Grand Trunk.

In this connection it may be stated that the Chicago and Grand Trunk is making strenuous efforts to prevent the Canadian Pacific from using the terminals of the Western Indiana at Chicago. The Wabash, whose tracks the Canadian Pacific uses between Detroit and Chicago, is one of the five roads owning the Western Indiana. The Chicago and Grand Trunk is also one of the owners of that line, and it claims that the former has no right to allow one of its competitors to use those terminals without the unanimous consent of the lines owning the Western Indiana.

A NEW PURCHASE BY THE SANTA FE.

It Secures Full Control of the St. Louis and San Francisco.

Advices have been received from New York to the effect that negotiations were concluded in that city yesterday whereby the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé secures full control of the St. Louis and San Francisco railway company. This deal adds 1,400 miles of road to the Santa Fé system and not only gives it a direct outlet to St. Louis, but places it in absolute control of the Atlantic and Pacific railway from Albuquerque to Mojave, though this line has been owned jointly by the Santa Fé and the St. Louis and San Francisco. The Atlantic and Pacific was of no use to the St. Louis and San Francisco, as it has no connection with it and scarcely pays expenses.

To the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé the Atlantic and Pacific is a necessity, as it affords it an outlet to the Pacific coast. Gould has had an interest in the St. Louis and San Francisco for some years, and at one time it was thought he would secure absolute control and amalgamate it with Missouri Pacific. But as the latter's lines already cover about the same territory as the other the purchase would have compelled him to construct some 800 miles of road through a barren country to make connection. He evidently came to the conclusion that the game was not worth the powder, and therefore sold his interest in the road to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, which is backed by Kidder, Peabody & Co. and the Barings, and will therefore find no difficulty in securing the means for paying for the new purchase.

EQUALIZATION OF THROUGH RATES.

Joint Tariffs Can Be Issued Only by the Joint Rate Committee.

At a recent meeting of the joint conference committee of the Central Traffic, Western Freight, and Chicago and Ohio River Associations the following recommendations, which have since been confirmed by the various associations, were unanimously adopted:

As to traffic in both directions between points in the territory of the Central Traffic Association and points west of Chicago and the gateway junctions with Western lines, it is recommended that no tariff of class or commodity rates be put in effect until approved by the Joint Rate Committee and issued by its authority. That delays in the issuance of rates may be avoided the Joint Rate Committee is empowered to promptly equalize through rates via the different junctions within the territory covered by the agreement. In this connection the Joint Rate Committee is to formulate such rules as it may deem desirable. Any line feeling that equalization is necessary on any specific class or commodity is to communicate with the Joint Rate Committee, which shall take such action as may be necessary and then issue circulars for the information of the members of the associations.

It was also resolved that whenever matters arise with respect to traffic to and from territory north of the present boundary line within the jurisdiction of the Joint Rate Committee, and which involve departure from the local standard rates to one or both associations, the matters be submitted for the consideration of the Joint Rate Committee and treated under the existing joint rate agreement rules.

The Joint Rate Committee—Chairmen Blanchard, Midgley, and Faithorn—give notice that the foregoing will become effective at once. Hereafter no tariffs shall be issued governing interchanged traffic in the territory indicated unless it has been approved by the Joint Rate Committee. Communications appertaining thereto should be addressed to the Secretary, Paul P. Rainer, in order that the same may receive prompt attention.

Would Not Change His Decision.

Judge Gresham was applied to yesterday for a modification of an order confirming the sale of the St. Louis and Chicago railway company to enable the road to be transferred to the North and South railroad company of Illinois. The application was contested and many allegations were made in the course of a heated dispute.

Judge Gresham said after full arguments that he saw no good reason why the property of the St. Louis and Chicago railroad should not be turned over to the new North and South railroad. It seemed to be regularly and properly organized and the transfer could not affect Hallen's interests if, as he claimed, they were in the majority, for they could control the management. The parties were advised that the amount in dispute not being a large one they should try and agree in ten days upon some compromise. If they did not do so he would order a delivery to the new North and South railroad. The property in controversy runs from Litchfield to Springfield, Ill., and from Litchfield to Mount Olive, Ill.

The St. Paul Road Will Cut May 23.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 20—[Special.]—The St. Paul road has given in. It has been fairly firm in its refusal to cut Chicago rates below $5 for first class and $3 for second class, being desirous of protecting its local revenues to the fullest extent; but the grand scramble on the part of the public for $3 tickets led the management to believe that the better policy would be to meet the Burlington's competition. Assistant General Passenger Agent Dixon therefore announces that May 23 it will be in line with the others. The only road not in the cut is the Minneapolis and St. Louis, whose policy is dictated, so far as Chicago business is concerned, by the Rock Island.

President Cable on the Field.

NEW YORK, May 20.—[Special.]—President Cable left for Chicago tonight. Prior to taking his departure from the Windsor Hotel he said to a reporter: "I expect to be back again in two or three weeks. I am satisfied that the conditions are mending and that the earnings of the Western roads will continue to show large gross gains and the net will appear to better advantage presently, due to the fact that Western railroad men are beginning to realize the responsibility that is reposed in them. My wires from the West are of a character to lead me to believe that the difficulty now existing on certain classes of business will be quickly removed."

Railroad Improvements at Alton, Ill.

ALTON, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—W. B. Parsons, civil engineer, and C. E. Kimball, representatives of the New York syndicate which has taken the securities of the St. Louis, Alton, and Springfield railroad, better known as the Bluff line, arrived here today for the purpose of examining the property. They have been examining the terminal facilities of the Merchants' bridge, the proposed line from Venice to Alton, and making estimates of cost of betterments, including the extension from Bates to Springfield. Manager Fisher says improvements to the amount of $2,000,000 will be made.

Decide to Bond the Towns.

MADISON, Wis., May 20.—[Special.]—Special elections were held in the Cities of Fort Atkinson, Geneva Lake, Jefferson, and Whitewater today to vote on the question of issuing bonds in aid of the Chicago, Lake Geneva and Pacific railroad, said bonds to be exchanged for an equal amount, par value, of the common capital stock of the company. The first three cities named voted to extend aid to the amount of $20,000 each and Whitewater $30,000 by majorities ranging from 200 to 700.

Tennessee and Coosa Road Purchased.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 20.—[Special.]—The Board of Directors of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway company has authorized the President to call a meeting of the stockholders to ratify the purchase of the Tennessee and Coosa railroad, also to authorize the extension of the Jasper Branch from Dunlap to Pikeville. The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway today purchased the Tennessee and Coosa railroad for $250,000.

Notes.

The lake and rail rates from Buffalo to St. Paul via Chicago and Milwaukee have been reduced to the same basis as those via Duluth and other Lake Superior points.

C. A. Tripp has been appointed General Western Freight and Passenger Agent of the Missouri Pacific's lines, with office at Denver, Colo. P. J. Flynn resigned.

The Northwestern reduced its passenger rates yesterday to about the same figures as are made by its competitors. The Rock Island is now the only road which adheres to the old rates. The fare by the Northwestern between Omaha and St. Paul locally is $5, though a $3 rate is allowed for basing purposes. The $5 rate was made to protect the local intermediate business. The Milwaukee and St. Paul reduced the rate to St. Paul and Minneapolis to $3 first class. It has thus far charged $5 first class and $3 second class.

General Passenger Agent Ford of the Pennsylvania company, referring to his late circular inviting applications for the position made vacant by the dismissal of Traveling Passenger Agent Crawson for violation of orders in accepting commissions, announces that there were twenty-seven applications. The choice fell on F. M. Bushong, at present ticket agent at Steubenville, O. Mr. Bushong's appointment as Traveling Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania company's lines takes effect June 1. His headquarters will be at Detroit. D. L. Smith, Traveling Passenger Agent, with present headquarters at Detroit, is transferred to the territory formerly covered by Mr. Crawson.

KOHLSAAT'S GIFT TO THE CITY OF GALENA

The Offer of a Statue of Grant Accepted by the Board of Aldermen.

GALENA, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago, who has decided to present to the City of Galena, his former home, a bronze statue of Gen. Grant, arrived here this morning, and through his friend, J. W. Scott, also of Chicago, who acted as spokesman for the occasion, made a formal offer of his memorial gift to the Board of Aldermen, in special session assembled this evening, and asked that a suitable site be provided for it at once. The statue was gratefully accepted and a resolution of thanks to the generous donor was unanimously adopted by the City Council.

The model, which was executed by Gelert, the sculptor, was examined by a large number of the old friends and neighbors of Gen. Grant today, and is pronounced by all who have seen it a most strikingly lifelike representation. The General is represented as being in a standing position, dressed in a military suit, the model having been executed from a picture of him drawn in 1865, at the close of the war. The left hand is placed inside the vest and the right carelessly thrust in the pantaloons pocket.

The Chicago party, who also visited this city: with Mr. Kohlsaat included that gentleman's wife, his brother, Judge Kohlsaat, and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott, all former Galenians but the two Mesdames Kohlsaat.

It is expected that the unveiling of the statue will take place one year hence, April 27, his birthday, and Mrs. Grant, if alive and well, will be here, and it is proposed to make the occasion one of National importance.

DAVID MURRAY'S DISAPPEARANCE.

The Friends of the English Novelist Hunting Him in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 20.—[Special.]—The friends of David Christie Murray, the English novelist, are inquiring for him on the Pacific slope, especially in California. He is the author of "Val Strange," "Rainbow Gold," "Joseph's Coat," and other well-known works of fiction. About one year ago he went from England out to Australia, and suddenly disappeared from Melbourne. This happened in November, and he has not yet been heard from. In Melbourne he was much fêted by the best society of the place. His sudden disappearance created a sensation, and his English friends were greatly disturbed by it. They have made repeated efforts to find him.

In December a passenger named Murray was booked on an Australian steamer for San Francisco. This led to inquiry for the missing man in this quarter, a local detective agency being employed in the search.

Murray was remarkably popular in English literary circles. Most of his work was done in the Belgian Ardennes, where he lived five years. He frequented the Savage Club in London. He was 40 years old, had a pleasant face, and though bred in Staffordshire, had a touch of the Scotch accent. He served as a correspondent in the last Russo-Turkish war.

Young, but Wise.

Returning from their wedding trip,
Said Fondle to his wife,
"What duties of our partnership
Will you conduct, my life?"

Her loving eyes on him she bent
And whispered softly, "Dear,
You take the business management
And I will be cashier."

RIGHTS OF THE STATES.

DISCUSSED IN THE SENATE IN THE DEBATE ON THE WILSON BILL.

Senator Vest Opposes the Measure on the Ground That Congress Cannot Delegate Its Power of Controlling Inter-State Commerce to Any State—Senator Edmunds Thinks the Supreme Court Will Change Its Views on the "Original Package" Question.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—In the Senate today Mr. Stanford introduced a bill for loans on lands, and said that he would hereafter address the Senate on the subject. It provides for the establishment of a land-loan bureau in the Treasury Department.

The Senate then proceeded to consider the bill reported from the Judiciary Committee subjecting imported liquors to the provisions of the laws of the several States. Mr. Wilson of Iowa, who had introduced the bill in the first instance and had afterwards reported it back, addressed the Senate in explanation and advocacy of it, stating that it was made necessary by the recent decision of the Supreme Court on that subject. It was a response to the suggestion contained in that decision that Congress could permit the exercise of the restraining power of a State; and it was for the purpose of giving that permission that the bill had been introduced and reported. The effect of it would be to leave each State to determine for itself what its policy should be in regard to the traffic in intoxicating liquors. Under that decision of the Supreme Court the State of Iowa could not prevent the citizens of other States or the subjects of Great Britain, France, or Germany from sending intoxicating liquors into Iowa, and having them sold there in the original packages by agents. At the present time original package saloons were being organized in his State. The package might be a pint or a half pint of whisky or a keg or a bottle of beer. It was to put a stop to such practice and to recognize in every State the power to regulate its own internal police that the bill was reported.

MR. VEST OPPOSES THE BILL.

Mr. Vest said that, as a member of the Judiciary Committee he had not been able to agree with the majority in reporting the bill, because it would sweep away the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States over inter-State commerce. What had the Supreme Court decided? It had decided emphatically by a majority of its Justices that alcoholic stimulants were an article of inter-State commerce and that the power to regulate commerce among the States and with foreign nations was an exclusive power vested in Congress by the Constitution. The intimation that Congress might delegate to a State that power was contained in a mere obiter dictum of that decision. He (Mr. Vest) contended that it could not be done. The Supreme Court had decided that the power of Congress over inter-State commerce was an exclusive power and could not be delegated. If it could be delegated in regard to one article of merchandise (alcohol) it could be delegated as to any other article—wheat, corn, rice, oleomargarine, etc. Was the Senate going to make that new departure? Was it, on a mere dictum of the Supreme Court, going to tear down the barriers of the Constitution? On this point Mr. Vest sent to the Clerk's desk and had read a report of the Judiciary Committee in the last Congress laying down the principle for which he contended.

THE MINORITY REPORT.

Mr. Ingalls and Mr. Edmunds called for the reading of the minority report (and it was read), dissenting from the views of the majority, and signed by Messrs. Wilson of Iowa, Ingalls, Edmunds, and Hoar. This minority report had been accompanied by a bill to provide that the payment of any impost or excise tax should not exempt the importer of the article from liability to the laws of a State.

Mr. Vest resumed his argument against the pending bill. The real question, he said, was whether Congress could delegate a power vested in it by the Constitution to any State or to any number of States. He believed that it could not. To do so would be to destroy the inter-State clause of the Constitution and all the purposes for which it was enacted. So far from having any uniformity, there would be in that case diversity and hostility. Missouri would shut out one article of inter-State commerce, Kansas another, Iowa another, and South Carolina another, and so on, until there would be chaos from one end of the Union to the other.

He would now, he said, state what was the overwhelming consideration with him. If this bill were passed it would open up opportunities for a successive series of such bills, just as the emergencies or opinions of different States might call for that sort of legislation. The Senate was now asked to enter the domain of inter-State commerce, vested exclusively in Congress. He asked Senators to pause before they threw that question into the arena of Congressional debate.

Mr. McPherson asked Mr. Vest whether the right to import an article implied the right to sell it.

Mr. Vest replied in the affirmative, and quoted from the decision of Mr. Justice Matthews of the Supreme Court in the case of Ward against Maryland to that effect.

MR. HOAR'S ARGUMENT.

Mr. Hoar argued in favor of the bill. If the bill were not within the legislative power of Congress then there was no more miserable nation on the face of the earth than the United States. He supposed that there did not exist a community anywhere where the danger of permitting the unrestricted sale of intoxicating liquor was not recognized and guarded against by public authority. Unless what was proposed in this bill (or something equivalent) could be done it would be the law in the United States for all future time (unless the Constitution were amended in that respect) that any person living in another State or in a foreign country could send intoxicating liquors into any State and dispose of it there through his agents, and that it should not be competent for any State authority to prohibit it.

CURIOUS STATE OF AFFAIRS.

Mr. Edmunds remarked upon it as a very curious and interesting circumstance that a condition of things had been reached when, according to the debate and according to the judgment of the Supreme Court, the States had no power to deal with the subject, and Congress had no power to deal with it.

The result was that there was in every man in any State an inherent, individual, personal right to carry into another State what that State might consider injurious to its safety, there to sell it; and that Congress had no power to stop it, and that the States could not stop it unless the Congress gave them that power. It was only necessary to state such a proposition to show that somewhere, either in the Supreme Court or in the Senate, there was a fault in the logic of somebody. He did not feel over-persuaded or put in a box by what the Supreme Court had said. It might change its opinion next year and say that the rule should be the other way. He did not feel embarrassed by the fact that the Supreme Court had taken the longest step ever taken within a hundred years in the Republic towards the centralization of power—somewhere, either in the Supreme Court or in Congress. He did not believe in the centralization of power. He believed in its segregation and separation in every respect.

After further discussion the bill went over without action; and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of resolutions offered by Mr. Cameron in respect to the memory of the late Representative, William D. Kelley of Pennsylvania. Remarks in eulogy of the character and public services of Mr. Kelley were made by Senators Cameron, Morrill, Reagan, Sherman, Hampton, Hawley, and Daniel.

At the close of the eulogies the Senate, as a further mark of respect to the memory of Mr. Kelley, adjourned.

GENERAL WASHINGTON NEWS.

Proposition to Prohibit Lotteries by an Amendment to the Constitution.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—Senator Blair today introduced a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing that neither the United States, nor any State, shall pass any law authorizing the establishment or maintenance of any lottery or the distribution of prizes by chance. Sec. 2 of the resolution provides that Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

WILL DISCUSS THE TARIFF.

Congressmen Crisp of Georgia and Butterworth of Ohio have accepted invitations to attend and address the Georgia Chautauqua Assembly at Atlanta next July on the tariff question. A year ago Messrs. McKinley and Carlisle accepted invitations to discuss the tariff before the assembly, but Mr. Carlisle afterwards withdrew his acceptance.

KEMMLER'S CASE BROUGHT UP.

The Supreme Court today heard argument upon the application for a writ of error in the case of Kemmler, the New York murderer who is under sentence of death by electricity. At the close of the argument the court adjourned until Friday, when its decision will probably be handed down.

BEHRING SEA FISHERIES.

The question of the Behring Sea fisheries was considered at today's Cabinet meeting, and it was decided, so it is understood, to adhere to the policy of last season, which is practically the same as the position taken on this question by the last and previous Administrations.

PRESIDENTIAL BEES ARE BUZZING.

A Democratic View of Senator Shelby M. Cullom's Boom.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 18.—[Philadelphia Record (Dem.)]—Speaker Reed is proud of his resemblance to Shakspeare, Chairman McKinley of his resemblance to Napoleon, Senator Hoar of his resemblance to Horace Greeley, and Senator Morrill of his resemblance to Charles Sumner, but none of them think of running for President on his face. This unique distinction is reserved for Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, whose resemblance to Abraham Lincoln is so striking as to be universally recognized. This resemblance furnishes the only apparent reason for his candidacy for the Presidency, which he is about to announce to the country in a carefully prepared speech on the "issues of the day," "the duty of the hour," or some other comprehensive collocation of subjects which will give him a chance to tell how entirely agreeable his views are to those of the majority of his fellow-citizens.

Cullom's Presidential boom, laughed at by everybody but Cullom when it was launched by his own hands in 1888, has come to be treated with serious consideration in 1890. It is not so much that Cullom takes everything so seriously that, as Sydney Smith said, a joke in his hands is no laughing matter, as it is that since 1888 Benjamin Harrison of Indiana has shown that a man of Cullom's caliber can be nominated and elected, and that he can carry on the Government very respectfully. No argument except the doubtful one of a "doubtful State" used for the promotion of Harrison's candidacy by Col. William Wade Dudley, his chief boomer, in the spring of 1888, but can be used with equal propriety by Cullom for the promotion of his own candidacy in the spring of 1890.

And Cullom has some advantages over Harrison. He looks a good deal more like Abraham Lincoln than Harrison does like William Henry Harrison, for example. Then, too, in a comparison of poverty, which in these days of many millionaires is justly a note of distinction, Cullom would be far ahead of Harrison. Harrison was for years one of the leading lawyers of Indiana, and had a large professional income. So far as is known by his friends, Cullom has nothing outside of his salary except what he gets by writing Republican articles for the magazines. A friend of his told me the other day that if it was not for the fact that Uncle Sam furnished Cullom with a clerk and with official postage he would not be able to carry on his voluminous correspondence, and that as it was he sometimes had to borrow postage stamps from his richer colleagues. There is certainly no sort of doubt that Cullom lives very plainly.

This is as apparent as that he works very hard. Not only does he wear plain clothes and eat simple lunches (most of his millionaire colleagues do, too), but he gets about town in the street-cars or on foot, and he lives in the most unpretentious of houses. His office is a curious little den holding two comfortably, whose only ornament is a fine medallion of Lincoln's head, which would be taken by the casual observer for a bust of Cullom. Sitting facing this Cullom grows more and more like it every day. The physical resemblance of Cullom to Lincoln extends to his body, which has all that alert and agile angularity which sticks out in all faithful statues and pictures of Lincoln. His voice, too, is like Lincoln's, and so are his gestures.

But the resemblance goes no further, as readers of his forthcoming speech will observe. Still, it will not do to say for that reason Cullom will never be President. Cullom is a man of surprising success. He has climbed up to his present position on the ladder nobody knows just how, and that is the sort of man who is very apt to climb higher. In the great strife of 1892 between Harrison, Alger, Allison, Morton, McKinley, and Reed, Cullom may be the dark horse—the traditional winner in Republican National Conventions. I ought to add at the close of this advance notice, for which I shall be amply repaid with an advance copy of President Cullom's first message, that he has a charming wife and two lovely daughters, both most happily married.

MARIA WENDLE FOUND AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Her Betrayer, Lee Gwinn, Has Eluded Arrest—Civil Suits Instituted.

OAKLAND, Ill., May 20.—[Special.]—Maria Wendle, the missing girl, was found at a lying-in hospital at Indianapolis last night at 11 o'clock, where she had been taken by Lee Gwinn, her betrayer, either to be confined or treated otherwise—which of the two the girl refuses to state. As soon as the girl was located a telegram was sent back here ordering the arrest of Gwinn, but when the officers went to make the arrest they found that he had fled. The girl was brought back to this city today in care of her aunt, Mrs. Estey of Indianapolis. She will become a mother soon. She has filed a complaint against Gwinn for seduction, and a civil suit will be brought against him for breach of promise in the sum of $10,000. Another grave charge is being withheld, and the end is not yet. There are three persons of great wealth and prominence connected with the case, but their names will be withheld until Gwinn is captured. The girl states that she went to Newman the 8th, as stated in former dispatches, and effected her egress from the house through the window. Lee Gwinn accompanied her to Newman. While searching the house for Gwinn his father drew a knife on the officers, and it was only by a great effort that he was disarmed.

CANNOT MAKE UP THE SHORTAGE.

Failure to Raise the Amount Stolen by Ex-Treasurer Noland.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 20.—Ex-Gov. Morehouse arrived here this morning and notified Gov. Francis that he cannot make up the deficit in the State Treasury occasioned by the defalcation of State Treasurer Noland, and asked the Governor to have suit brought against Noland's bondsmen. It is believed that the grand jury now in session here took up the Treasury deficit matter this morning, and there is nothing, it is said, in the way of speedily finding an indictment against Noland. Should the jury, however, undertake to hunt up the gamblers who fleeced Noland, as directed by Judge Edwards in his charge to them yesterday, the investigation will be prolonged. The grand jury will also investigate the boodle members of the Legislature and the corrupt lobbyists, and it is believed that they will unearth the corrupt methods used in connection with the Beef-Inspection bill while it was pending in the last Legislature.

Building Permits.

The Building Department issued the following permits yesterday:

C. Winnett, to erect two-story flats, One Hundred and Sixteenth and Howard streets, to cost $2,300.

Chicago Cricket Club, to erect two-story clubhouse, Seventy-first street, near Seipp avenue, to cost $5,000.

S. Cline, to erect cottage, Bismarck street and Washtenaw avenue, to cost $2,000.

B. F. Chase, to erect five two-story flats, Nos. 3819 to 3827 Vernon avenue, to cost $25,000.

Simon Schmerzshild, to erect two-story flats, No. 3515 Stanton street, to cost $3,000.

Edwin Wright, to erect addition, No. 74 Astor street, to cost $3,000.

SCORED FROM THE BENCH.

JUDGE TULEY TAKES ATTORNEYS SUTHERLAND AND ROBY TO TASK.

He Decides Against the Lawyers in Two Noted Cases, in Each of Which They Were in Litigation with Clients—The Gas Trust Litigation—Delay to the Clybourn Avenue Cable Line Threatened—Legal Notes—The Record—The Call.

Judge Tuley in deciding the well-known suit of Selah Reeve against Lawyer Thomas J. Sutherland yesterday held that Sutherland while acting as Reeve's attorney procured the assignment to himself of the former's $150,000 claim upon the Great Western Telegraph company by fraud and imposed upon the court in having this assignment confirmed. Sutherland is allowed a lien on half the claim he purchased from persons to whom Reeve assigned it in trust, but the title to the claim is decided to be in Reeve and Sutherland is ordered to account to him before a Master.

Lawyer Roby was also given a legal castigation by Judge Tuley. The suit of the Colehours against Roby involves the Town of Colehour. The court said:

"The gross charges of fraud as to Roby having stolen the declaration of trust, forged the deed from W. H. Colehour, and offered to betray his client, Gen. Clark, were evidently maliciously made with intent to injure him professionally. Solicitors, however, must be made to know that when drawn into professional and confidential relations with parties, whether by retainer or business connections, they cannot acquire an adverse interest in the property or subject matter of the property even though no actual fraud be intended."

It was held, contrary to Roby's denial, that he was the legal adviser of the Colehours, and therefore could not buy up judgments and take a deed of the property for his personal use. His claim to being the owner of all the property absolutely was denied. He was held to be entitled to only a one-fourth part, and the deed as far as C. W. Colehour is concerned is set aside.

The Gas Trust Litigation.

F. M. Charlton's motion for a receiver for the Chicago Gas Trust company and an injunction to restrain it from dealing in the stocks of gas companies, was taken up by Judge Collins yesterday. The motion was opposed by Goudy & Green. The day was consumed in reading the pleadings and the testimony of Theodore B. Wells, C. K. G. Billings, and George A. Yuille, officers of the trust, before Master Windes. Arguments will be made today.

A Threatened Delay to the Cable Line.

The United States Construction company, a New Jersey corporation engaged in constructing the Clybourn avenue cable line, secured an injunction from Judge Jamieson restraining the Western Stone company from removing 15,000 yards of granite paving stone belonging to the plaintiff from lots on the river near Sixteenth street, rented by the plaintiffs in July, 1886. The Western Stone company acquired title to the property, and claims that the plaintiffs' lease expired May 1. The plaintiffs were ordered to move the blocks, and, declining to do so, were told they would be moved to Lemont. The plaintiffs say they are willing to pay good rent for the property, have no place else to store the stone, and that its removal to Lemont would delay the cable line work five weeks.

Legal Notes.

Elizabeth H. Colcord sued Harry M. Colcord, an artist, for divorce for desertion.

In the United States Circuit Court E. B. White & Co. of Maryland began a suit to recover $10,000 from Gregg, Garvey & Co., on an account in grain deals.

Amy May Rose asks the Superior Court to divorce her from Wallace Ormand Rose, who was sent to the penitentiary for five years for burglary and one year for assault with a deadly weapon.

Judge Gresham gave judgment for $1,000 in favor of Charles Herrick against the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company for injuries received by Herrick, who was a switchman, while coupling cars. The judgment was satisfied.

For the second time a jury decided that Sanitary District Trustee John A. King must pay $75 for a "write-up" given him by Frank E. Stanley, publisher of a West Side paper, the Banner, during the drainage campaign. King made a motion for a third trial.

Before Judge Baker judgment by default for $3,500 was entered against William M. Craig in favor of Josiah Cratty. This was on a note originally made in favor of the Fort Dearborn National Bank. Over $100,000 in judgments have been entered up against Craig.

Judge Blodgett discharged from jail Charles Taylor, charged with assaulting Letter Carrier John J. Monat April 11. William Huddy and William A. Browning, variety performers, charged with attacking a colored letter carrier May 2. The Federal grand jury failed to indict the men.

Benjamin J. Falk, the New York photographer, applied to the United States Circuit Court for an injunction restraining the Shobert & Carqueville Lithographing company from infringing on his copyright on a profile view of Lillian Russell. The lithographing company had prepared a large colored copy to be used as a billposter.

Judge Altgeld gave a decision yesterday against Lawson A. Gilbert in his suit against John H. Coons for commissions on the sale of 433 acres in Jefferson. Judgment had been secured before Justice A. C. Senne of Desplaines and the case came up on appeal. Coons had made an exclusive contract in writing with Gilbert to sell through him. Later he informed him that he had found a purchaser, John Nagle. A new arrangement was entered into by which Coons was to be released from his first contract and allowed to sell to Nagle, provided he paid Gilbert half commission. Judge Altgeld refused to let the later contract stand.

The old suit of B. B. and R. Knight of Providence, R. I., against the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railway company is on trial before Judge Anthony. The case was originally tried in the United States Circuit Court in February, 1884, but the finding was recently reversed by the United States Supreme Court. In December, 1879, G. T. Potter, a cotton planter near Texarkana, Ark., sent among other cotton 371 bales, valued at $31,600, for shipment to Providence and Woonsocket. Potter received bills of lading which finally came into the plaintiffs' hands. When the cotton arrived at its destination it was found to be an inferior grade to that shipped by Potter, the difference in value being about $20,000, which sum is claimed in the present suit.

What Does She Mean?

There is considerable inquiry in the newspapers as to what Mrs. Clymer, President of the New York Sorosis, meant in her opening address to the women's convention by the words: "The woman of the nineteenth century has set her face toward the lost Garden of Eden, and is not going to stop until she gets there." The rather limited accurate reports concerning the garden, says the Indianapolis Journal, lead one to conclude that the society woman of today would find it a dull place, and that the main burden she would escape by returning thither would result in the ruin of the fashion emporiums.

W. W. KIMBALL CO.
We invite a careful inspection of our large stock of HALLET & DAVIS, EMERSON, and NEW SCALE KIMBALL PIANOS, which we are prepared to show in a variety of cases, of rosewood, mahogany, French walnut, ebony, maple, satin walnut, etc. Among the bargains we offer for the present week are a number of second-hand upright pianos which have been used but a short time, and are practically as good as new.
On account of the number of people now occupying flats and apartment houses we have received in exchange for upright pianos a large number of squares, which we have put in excellent condition, and on account of the scarcity of room their owners have been obliged to sacrifice them. To persons having room for a square piano we can offer exceptional bargains. We have several of this class suitable for beginners from $25 to $75. Also second-hand uprights from $105 to $175. Second-hand organs from $15 to $50.
Instruments sold on easy payments if desired. Old pianos taken in exchange. We call particular attention to our repairing department. Having two large factories and competent men, we are prepared to make estimates free of charge for all kinds of repairing. Instruments tuned and new pianos for rent.

FINANCIAL.

Clearings at the principal cities of the United States yesterday and a week ago were:

	May 20.	May 13.
New York	$189,550,985	$193,256,283
Boston	18,648,658	19,524,243
Chicago	14,232,000	14,103,000
Philadelphia	13,618,694	12,494,594
St. Louis	3,850,042	4,529,091
New Orleans	1,500,686	1,703,776

New York exchange was quoted as follows yesterday: Chicago, 25@40c premium; Boston, 10@12½c discount; St. Louis, 60c premium.

The bankers insist that there are no indications of cheaper money at present, and the general opinion which they advance as to the future is that the great activity in all kinds of commercial enterprises is likely to keep money so fully employed that there is little chance of much lower rates at any time this year. On the other hand, large borrowers claim to see positive indications of accumulating surpluses at some of the banks which will, they think, surely bring down the rate. Banks are beginning to send in the old-time inquiry, these borrowers say, asking if they can't use a little more money. There is no doubt but the most active brokers are getting funds at 5 per cent, and some of such loans are coming in a regular way from the banks. If the brokers are right in their prediction of cheaper money the fulfillment of the prediction will do much to enliven the local stock market. The prices of some of the leading stocks are so high now compared to their present dividend-paying ability that it is heavy lugging to carry them when there is no advance in quotations. The margin between the income received and the expense of carrying a large block of stocks is considerable in the case of some of the securities. New York exchange was 40c premium before clearing and 25c after clearing, with little doing at any time. Sterling is still weak. Actual quotations yesterday were 483 for sixty day bills and 485 for demand, though some of the banks quoted ¼ above these rates.

It was another dull day at the Chicago Stock Exchange. There is no disguising the fact that the public is not in the market just now. The public wishes to buy stocks, but it hopes by holding off that it will be able to buy them at a lower range than they are quoted at now. Strawboard bobbed into activity yesterday, 900 shares being sold and the price advancing ⅞, to 116⅝. The entire public has a strictly confidential tip to buy Strawboard for a big and sudden rise. Just what the advance is to be based on does not appear. Holders, however, seem to have become much better satisfied to hang to their stock as a good investment than they have been before. The earnings are said to be decidedly satisfactory. West Side stock held closely to 118 all day. Arc Light went up to 114½, the highest point it has reached. Bonds were a little more active, $155,000 Gaslight 5s being sold. Some of the brokers are talking bullish about the gas bonds, but they show no special strength yet. Yesterday's sales follow:

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 20.—[Special.]—The stock market of this morning was disposed to be about as gloomy as the weather outside. The tendency to reaction continued, and in the majority of stocks there were material concessions. Noteworthy declines up to noon were: Lackawanna 1⅛, Lead Trusts ½, Louisville and Nashville ⅞, Mexican Central ½, Missouri Pacific ⅞, New England 1⅛, Northern Pacific common ¾, preferred ½, Oregon Transcontinental 1⅛, Pacific Mail ½, Reading 1, Rock Island ⅝, Richmond Terminal ⅝, St. Paul common ¾, preferred 1, Wabash preferred ⅜. On the other hand, Atchison advanced 1⅛ points, Colorado Coal ⅝, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis 1⅛, Sugar Trusts 2⅛, Texas Pacific ⅝. Cleveland, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis, Atchison, Reading, and Texas Pacific were centers of activity and monopolized a large scale of the forenoon's business.

The early afternoon market was dull and heavy for the majority of stocks, but Sugar Trusts showed great buoyancy and advanced upwards of two points above the noon figures. The tone of the later afternoon market was much stronger. Atchison and Richmond Terminal developing noteworthy strength. The rest of the market was stronger, but not at all buoyant. Sugar Trusts continued to lead.

Money on call close, ranging from 6@10 per cent, last loan 8, closed offered at 8. Prime mercantile paper, 5@7. Sterling exchange quiet and weak at 483¼ for 60-day bills, and 485¼ for demand.

The total sales of stocks today were 505,289 shares, including: Atchison, 16,405; Canada Southern, 3,511; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, 18,200; Erie, 3,410; Louisville and Nashville, 3,910; Missouri Pacific, 5,875; Northern Pacific, 7,365; Northern Pacific preferred, 5,157; Oregon Transcontinental, 28,710; Reading, 24,200; St. Paul, 13,100; Texas Pacific, 22,305; Union Pacific, 7,410; Western Union, 3,185; Richmond and West Point, 60,100.

MARKETS.

The leading produce markets were less active, some of them being really dull as compared with the quick trading of the recent past, and there was an early tendency to weakness, which afterwards vanished, because it was found the markets had better support than the scalpers had counted on. A little fine weather was accepted by them as reason for a severe decline in prices all round, but those who sold on this theory generally concluded it was wise to cover later at a loss.

It is now reported that a large part of the grain in Kansas and Missouri, which it was fondly hoped would be wheat, will be simply chess. This news comes from St. Louis, which city contributed a great deal of bull news yesterday, and its "Art Club" is understood to have done much of the buying that caused the later strength in wheat here. Also New York was affected by that news and responded with an advance of nearly 3c per bu on cash wheat. The article is getting scarce on the seaboard and for that reason is more sensitive to bull influences than are the futures, as there is more time for a reaction in the latter before they expire by the statute of limitations.

Nebraska and Kansas report higher temperatures with genial showers and the probability that corn will move more freely as a consequence of the better prospect for the next crop. A farmer in Edgar County, this State, says a great deal of the wheat in his vicinity is killed off beyond the possibility of revival. He has one eighty acres seeded to wheat which is practically bare ground, and others are equally as badly off.

Shrewd observers of the situation think there must be a big mistake in the reported increase of wheat on ocean passage. If the figures be correct they show a total of visible and on passage equal to 52,565,000 bu, or 14,250,000 bu more than a year ago.

A member of the board notes that our receipts of wheat are nearly three times as large as a year ago, and that the local receipts of No. 2 have on each of two or three days recently exceeded those for the whole of last March. Also our local stock of No. 2 is some 800,000 bu greater than a year ago. He thinks all this points to the conclusion that the market has been bulled for all it is worth, as the advance has brought out larger supplies from first hands than had been counted on. But another says the movement from first hands is actually smaller, and holds that the apparent increase is due to shipments from one set of warehouses to another, mostly from country to city.

The gossips had it that the advance in May wheat in New York was chiefly due to Hutchinson, and the advance here for July mostly due to Ryan of St. Louis. This arrangement looks something like a battle of cross purposes. But they say Hutchinson is prophesying that wheat in this market will sell up to $1.25 before long. The market here would seem to be already high, since charters have been made to bring 40,000 bu here from Milwaukee.

The Daily Trade Bulletin of this city gives the following graphic description of the way in which a bucket-shop fails (to let its customers make anything): "We commence suit against ourselves, we attach ourselves, and we confess judgment against ourselves for the benefit of ourselves."

The receipts of wheat in Liverpool during the last three days reported were 216,000 bu, of which 88,000 bu are credited to American ports.

The exports of hog product from four Atlantic ports last week aggregated 16,194,000 lbs, against 13,993,000 lbs for the corresponding week last year.

MARKETS ON 'CHANGE.

Flour was dull with no quoted change in prices, but the market was firm. It would be more active if holders were willing to meet the limited orders sent to shipping firms.

Wheat was much less active. It opened weak on the fact of fine weather here and in the West, with New York and Duluth both lower, and an increase of 2,592,000 bu reported for the quantity on ocean passage. Poole, Dunham, and Hutchinson were moderate buyers and there was otherwise a good deal of purchasing orders to commission-men. St. Louis had buying orders here at the outset, but they were mostly limited below the market. Towards noon these limits were raised and New York reported a sharp advance in cash wheat, on which Hutchinson led a buying pressure, which soon changed the tone to one of real strength, though it did not lead to such a rise as has been recently witnessed following an equal stimulus. The bad crop news from Missouri and Kansas was cited as the chief reason for strength here and at the East. July opened ½c lower, at 92¾c, sold at 92½c, advanced to 94⅝c, and closed at 94½c bid, with this month at 95c and August at 93c bid. September sold at 91@92⅝c and December was in much better demand at 92¼@93¼c. No. 2 in store sold at 93@93⅛c for both spring and red winter. Free on board sales by sample were at 74@80c for No. 4 red winter, 79@90c for No. 3 red winter, 85@87c for No. 3 white winter, 93c for No. 2 red winter, 68@79c for No. 4 spring, 79@91c for No. 3 spring, and 93c for No. 2. Total cash sales about 76 cars. July wheat sold on the curb at 94½@94⅞c, closing at 94⅞c.

Corn was weakened a little early in the day by reports of fine weather and the fact of large receipts, the arrivals far exceeding expectations. But the effect was rather seen in a smaller demand than in an increase of offerings, and the market readily changed tone towards noon when encouraged by strength in wheat. The nearer futures were mostly sustained early in the day by a good demand for September. Armour, Congdon, and Hutchinson sold for July. The larger cash offerings induced a decline of ½c in samples, and ¼c in store lots, but the latter closed stronger. July sold ¼c lower, to 33¾c, advanced to 34¼c, and closed at the outside asked, with May at 33½c bid, and August at 34⅞c asked. September ranged at 34¾@35⅛c. In store and to go there sold at 33¾@34c for No. 2 yellow, 33¼@33½c for No. 3 do, 33⅛@33¾ for No. 2, and 32⅞@33c for No. 3. Free on board sales by sample were at 32c for No. 4, 33¼@33½c for No. 3, 34⅝c for No. 3 yellow, 35½c for No. 3 white, and 34⅝c for No. 2 yellow. Total cash sales about 325 cars and 110,000 bu.

Oats were more active and higher; the opening prices were a trifle under Monday's close, but the market soon began to develop strength, and May gradually advanced ⅞c, June 1¼c, and July ⅞c, and the close was at near the highest point of the day. The receipts were heavy, but not quite so large as expected, and the estimate for today was for only 308 cars. There seemed to be little disposition to sell, and, with a better shipping demand, higher prices in the sample market, a stronger tone in wheat and corn, and a large amount of vessel room engaged for the shipment of oats, strong prices prevailed almost from the start. May sold from 27@28c. June from 25⅞@27c, and July from 25⅜@26⅝c. August and September firm, and both sold up to 24¼c. Car lots of No. 2 in store sold at 27¼@27⅞c, No. 2 white at 29⅛@29⅝c, and No. 3 white at 28@28¾c. No. 2 white for May sold at 29⅛@29⅝c. Free on board sales by sample were at 28⅛@28⅞c for No. 3, 28⅛@29⅛c for No. 3 white, and 29⅛@29⅞c for No. 2 white. Total cash sales about 351 cars and 125,000 bu.

Rye was quiet and nominally unchanged. Holders were asking former prices, but there was hardly any demand. A few cars of cash No. 2 in store sold at 52c, 5,000 bu May in settlement at 52c, and a sale of 40,000 bu was exported at 52½c. Nothing doing in June, which was nominally 52½c. July was inactive. No. 2 sold by sample free on board at 52⅝@53½c, and No. 3 at 42@50½c, according to quality. Total cash sales about 12 cars. Barley was again in light supply, and though there were few buyers the demand was sufficient to absorb the offerings, and prices were steady and firm. No. 4 quotable at 30@42c, according to quality, No. 3 Iowa at 36@43c for ordinary to choice, and No. 3 Northwestern at 40@46c for common to good, and choice at 48@52c. Total cash sales about 14 cars.

Millstuffs were in only moderate request, supply ample, and prices weak. Bran sold at $10.00@10.50, and middlings at $11.00.

Provisions were tame within a narrow range. Hogs were firmer here because of small receipts, but those at other points in the West were called "enormous," and on this the feeling in product opened easier, some of the packers selling ribs freely. Allerton sold 500,000 lbs, while Ryan bought 1,000,000, and Hutchinson took a few. Fowler was buying a little lard. The market for pork looked weak till Geoch bought 500 brls, and then it turned firmer, but with only a light trade. July opened 7½c higher, at $12.35, and advanced to $12.40 at the close, with August at 15c premium and this month at 20c discount. Lard sold 2½c lower, at $6.30 for July, and closed at $6.32½, with May at $6.20 and September at $6.50. August sold at $6.42½. Ribs sold 2½c higher, at $5.40@5.42½ for July, closing at the range, with August at 7½c premium and May at about $5.30. Cash sales include 600 tcs lard at $6.17½@6.20, 125,000 lbs green picnic hams at 5⅛c, 75 tcs S. P. hams, av 16 lbs, at 9c, 12,500 lbs do loose at 8⅞c, 25,000 lbs do at $8.65, 12,500 lbs do, av 20 lbs, at 8c loose, 75 tcs, av 14 lbs, at 9¼c, 50,000 lbs city tallow at 5c, and 75 tcs brown grease at 3⅞c.

Flaxseed was more active and higher; buyers advanced their bids some and made a number of purchases. Cash No. 1 was nominally $1.47, and 1,000 bu May sold at that figure. New for August sold at $1.33 and September in small lots at $1.32@1.32½. October was higher, with sales of round lots at $1.32@1.33, closing firm. Timothy seed was exceedingly dull and easier. Contract prime was nominally $1.30 for cash or May. Country prime quotable at $1.25@1.26 and choice at $1.33@1.35. Common to fair seed quotable at $1.05@1.20. New for September easier, with the sales restricted to one car at $1.43, closing at that bid. Clover-seed was also dull, but without material change. Contract prime quotable at $3.50, choice seed at $3.60, and ordinary to good at $2.60@3.30. New for October was nominally $4.07½ and November was offered at $4.05.

The street markets were moderately active, with the supply ample for all demands. Butter continues weak, with the supply increasing and the demand sluggish. Cheese was selling slow and at steady prices. Groceries show little change, with the trade fair. Poultry was in large supply, with but little demand, and the feeling was weak. Eggs continue firm, with the demand equal to the supply. Strawberries continue in good request at steady prices.

Kansas City received 20,000 hogs yesterday. Nov. 15, 1887, they received 21,765, the largest receipts on record in one day. Yesterday's receipts were remarkably large and something unheard of before at this season of the year. Receipts at Chicago were only 19,000, or 1,000 less than at Kansas City.

Over 700 car-loads of live stock arrived at Kansas City yesterday—the largest on record for one day.

Chicago received 2,700 Texas cattle yesterday, the largest run of the season. "Grass" Texans averaging 1,346 lbs sold at $4.25, the highest for the season for grassers.

Eastman bought three loads of 1,457@1,516-lb steers yesterday at $5.10 and two loads averaging 1,493 lbs at $5.15.

Exporters were almost entirely out of the cattle market yesterday owing to the demoralized condition of the market abroad. Eastman and Hathaway were about the only buyers.

Yesterday's receipts at Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, and St. Louis aggregated 56,000 hogs, 25,400 cattle, and 6,000 sheep, against 35,800 hogs, 17,400 cattle, and 11,100 sheep one week ago, and 28,500 hogs, 15,200 cattle, and 5,800 sheep the corresponding day last year.

Today's (Wednesday) receipts are estimated at 26,000 hogs, 17,000 cattle, and 7,000 sheep, against 28,529 hogs, 15,432 cattle, and 8,914 sheep one week ago, and 18,758 hogs, 14,302 cattle, and 3,700 sheep the corresponding day last year.

Swift bought one lot of 116 steers, averaging 1,363 lbs, at $4.90. Some 1,106-pound steers sold at $4.45 and 1,361-lb Colorados at $4.10.

Total shipments of live cattle from United States and Canada for the second week of the present month aggregated 16,118 head. Montreal forwarded 4,253.

Over 500 distillery-fed cattle averaging 1,117@1,344 lbs sold to dressed-beef men yesterday at $4.12½@4.65, largely at $4.65. N. Morris sold 414, averaging 1,275@1,325 lbs, at $4.55@4.53. Swift bought them.

A hog salesman said: "I guess we will have to give up the idea of heavy receipts of hogs in May and June. Our arrivals for two or three weeks past have been below all expectations, while receipts in the West, especially at Kansas City, are unusually heavy. It certainly looks as though hogs immediately tributary to this market were short."

During the first seventeen commercial days of the present month receipts of hogs at Kansas City have averaged nearly 10,000 per day, or a total of 162,400. Allowing that receipts average 8,000 per day the balance of the month their receipts will foot up over 242,000, the largest May receipts recorded for Kansas City.

CATTLE—Native beef cattle opened 5@10c lower yesterday, but before noon the general market was 15c lower and at the close some sales were made 20@25c below Monday's prices. Kansas City reported 9,000 receipts and prices 5@20c lower. Omaha also ruled 10c lower and advices from the East were unfavorable. The demoralized condition of the foreign markets kept exporters out of the market here, and the fact that shipments are 4,000 behind last week shows that shippers were indifferent buyers. Fresh receipts were much larger than expectations, but arrivals included 2,700 Texas—the largest run of the year. The market closed dull and weak, with some cattle unsold. Beef steers sold at $3.65@5.15, bulk at 4.15@4.60. Texas cattle sold at about former prices. Some choice "grassers" sold at the highest price of the season—$4.25. Grassers averaging 740 to 1,067 lbs sold at $2.50@3.25, and "fed" steers averaging 896@1,040 lbs at $3.35@3.50. Texas cows and bulls sold at $1.75@3.25. Native butcher stock sold at former quotations. Stock cattle sold actively at former prices. Quotations are as follows:

Extra beeves	$5.15@5.35
Poor to good steers	3.70@4.55
Choice to fancy cows and heifers	3.40@3.85
Poor to choice cows	2.25@3.20
Bulls and stags	2.50@4.25
Stockers and feeders	2.40@4.10
Texas steers	2.65@4.30

HOGS—This branch of the live-stock trade opened firm, and sales were made at 5@10c decline. Our receipts were below expectations, but Kansas City received an extraordinary run of hogs, and arrivals at the "Big Four" markets were twice as large as one year ago. Prices at Kansas City dropped 10c. Most of the desirable hogs sold here at advanced prices, but the general market closed weak, with about 5,000 left in the pens. Heavy sold as high as $4.30, and 160-lb singeing pigs and 235-lb mixed as high as $4.25. Very few hogs sold below $4.10, and the bulk went at $4.15@4.25.

SHEEP—Receipts were very light yesterday. The feeling was stronger, and best grades sold a shade higher. Lambs averaging 59@76 lbs sold at $6.30@7.10. Native sheep sold at $4.00@6.25. Texas shorn sheep averaging 62 lbs sold at $4.00, and wooled Texans averaging 82 lbs at $5.40.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., May 20.—WHEAT—Receipts of wheat were 113 cars, with 29 cars shipped out. Local millers bought very sparingly today. Elevator companies were good buyers of No. 1 Northern at 1c under the ruling price of the July future. The offerings were comparatively small. No. 1 hard was very dull and difficult to sell at much if any premium over No. 1 Northern. Low grades were moving very well, but the figures were small. Unjust Tribute Exacted by the Sugar Trust.

BURLINGTON, Ia., May 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your issue of the 17th it was shown very clearly, I think, by quotations from Mr. Gear's speech on the sugar section of the McKinley bill that the Ways and Means Committee had granted all if not more than the Sugar Trust asked in the changes that were made in that bill after its first publication. It will be remembered that the original bill put a duty of 35 per cent on raw sugar and 40 per cent on refined. The Sugar Trust, through the Thurber circular and otherwise, asked that this 5 per cent difference of duty between the two articles be advanced to 15 per cent by making the duty on refined sugar 50 instead of 40 per cent. The committee, as Mr. Gear took pains to show, substantially complied with this request by putting raw sugar on the free list and changing the ad valorem duty of 40 per cent on refined to a specific duty of 40 cents on each 100 pounds. He declared that "the world is full of sugar that is 90 per cent saccharine test, and this sugar would be worth $2.81 per hundred pounds free of duty in bond in New York. The committee took that as a basis and run it out at 40 cents per hundred. Now, as every school boy understands, 15 per cent on $2.81 is just 42 cents." And then Mr. Gear, in behalf of the Ways and Means Committee, bravely told the House and the country that this arrangement would "destroy, root and branch, the greatest 'combine' known to our people—a 'combine' which was 'conceived in sin and born in iniquity'; a 'combine' which may be called the American 'devilfish,'" meaning, of course, the Sugar Trust. After the smoke of the battle cleared away it must have been disappointing to the Ways and Means Committee to find that the Sugar Trust still lived, and that its certificates continued to advance rapidly, going up 14 points and more within five days after these annihilating words were spoken.

A little further examination of the facts and figures furnished by Mr. Gear will show why. The freight from abroad, he says, is 30 cents a hundred, so the sugar worth $2.81 in New York would be worth $2.51 at the German port of shipment. At the same German port white granulated sugar is worth, he continues, $3.10 to $3.20 per hundred pounds. Call it $3.15. This would make the cost of refining in Germany 64 cents per hundred. The Thurber circular said that the Sugar Trust could "live" and do something handsome for the wholesale grocers besides if they could be granted a differential of 15 per cent. Let us see if Mr. Gear's figures do not show something better than that.

The importer has his refined sugar "free on board" in a German port at $3.15. To this he must add 30 cents for freight and 40 cents for duty under the present McKinley bill, making his sugar cost him in New York $3.85 per hundred. How will it be with the trust? Its raw sugar will cost in New York $2.81. The refining will cost 64 cents plus 15 per cent; i. e., 73.6 cents; call it 74. Then $2.81 plus 74 is $3.55; the $3.85, the importer's cost, less $3.55; the refiner's cost leaves 30 cents on every 100 pounds as the refiner's advantage or profit over his competitor. The average annual importation of sugar for the last six years has been 2,782,235,475 pounds. Probably 2,500,000,000 pounds of this have been refined in this country. The Sugar Trust does at least 70 per cent of this work, i. e., 1,750,000,000 pounds. Its profit, at 30 cents a hundred, would be $5,250,000, enabling this "devil-fish" to pay 10 per cent annually on its $50,000,000 of watered stock and still retain a neat balance in its treasury.

Does not this showing explain to some extent at least the real reason for the rapid appreciation of Sugar Trust certificates? Republican Congressmen ought to understand that it is not sufficient answer to this to say that sugar will be cheaper, much cheaper, perhaps, under the McKinley bill than it is now; nor to say that this bill is more favorable to the consumer and less favorable to the trust than the Mills bill was. The fact remains and the complaint is that the McKinley bill will still leave this odious, wicked, and oppressive trust in control of the market, in full tide of prosperity and armed with full power under the law to exact an unjust tribute from every family in the land that uses a pound of refined sugar. Cannot Republican Representatives and Senators see that this will not do?

REPUBLICAN.
